Flags Fly At Full Staff Despite J. Edgar Hoover's Death

by WANDALYN RICE

Flags at many local high schools were not flying at half-staff yesterday in honor of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover because of school district policies designed several years ago to thwart student activists.

Schools in High School Dist. 214 were ordered to fly their flags at full-staff because the district's administration could not confirm a presidential or governor's order to lower them.

In High School Dist. 211, three schools flew their flags at half-staff all day, and one flew its at half-staff for part of the day. Supt. Richard Kolze also said he could not confirm a government order to lower the flags.

Supt. Edward Gilbert of Dist. 214 said he and other administrators checked both Tuesday and yesterday with county and state education offices for direction.

"We have a policy that we lower the flags only if we get a presidential or governor's order to do so," he said.

GILBERT ADDED the district developed the policy in the wake of student requests to lower the flags during protest demonstrations. Since Hoover's death, he said, principals have asked him if they should lower the flag.

The flag was lowered Tuesday at Rolling Meadows High School at the request of the Rolling Meadows Police Department, said Gilbert. He later ordered the flag raised. Rolling Meadows police said they also called the school yesterday to ask that the flag be lowered but were told it could not be.

In Dist. 211, three of the four high schools flew their flags at half staff all day, but the flag at Conant High was raised after being lowered in the morning. Officials at Conant said the flag was raised "while we waited for clarification from our district office."

But Kolze said yesterday afternoon he had sent no directives to the district schools and he was unable to get direction from the Cook County Superintendent's office.

Kolze said the Dist. 211 board has no formal policy on when flags should be lowered, but added, "We've just always had the policy of waiting for some sort of official word so we know what to do."

IN MAY, 1970, students at Arlington High School in Arlington Heights voted to lower the flag to half-staff in honor of four students killed by National Guardsmen at Kent State. At that time some faculty members and a member of the local American Legion post raised the flag after it was lowered.

At the same time, a group of students at John Hersey High School in Arlington Heights tried to lower their flag for the Kent students. However, the administration blocked their efforts.

When Dist. 214 developed its policy of waiting for official notice before lowering the flag, Gilbert said, it also decided that the board of education could order the flags lowered on its own initiative at a formal board meeting.

"The superintendent of schools is not authorized to lower the flag," he said.

"The flag is a very tender thing," he added. "We developed this policy because otherwise we could be lowering it for all sorts of reasons."

Condominium Bill Ready For Vote Next Week

by NANCY COWGER

A state condominium truth in selling bill, proposed by Hoffman Estates officials, was released Tuesday from the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee, minus an amendment which would have made it virtually ineffective.

Action is to be taken on the bill in the House next week, said Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect, who sponsored the bill. It then will be introduced in the Senate where opposition is anticipated. Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, will probably introduce the bill in the senate, Regner said.

Officers in the homeowners association of Barrington Square, Hoffman Estates, may be called to testify in support of the bill when it reaches the Senate, said Regner. He is expecting strong opposition from the Home Builders Association of Illinois, which offered an amendment in the House committee that would have killed any effectiveness of the proposed law.

Robin Berglund and Jay O'Toole, both on the executive board of the Barrington Square Homeowners Association, this week offered to testify in favor of the bill before either house of the General Assembly.

THE OFFER WAS made because some members of the association claimed facts were misrepresented to them when they purchased their condominium homes from Kaufman and Broad Homes, Inc., developers of the complex, Berglund said. He emphasized the developers took great pains to ensure against such problems, but that irresponsible salesmen "out to make a buck" in commissions deliberately misrepresented give the developers leverage for better control of their employe's sales tactics, said Berglund.

Regner yesterday said he "may ask the people to testify if we need them," and added "yes" when asked if he expected he would. The builders organization probably will renew its opposition in the Senate, Regner said.

The bill originated with Hoffman Estates Plan Commission Chairman Richard Regan, who has said he received numerous complaints from condominium purchasers over misrepresented or misunderstood facts. He worked with Regner in the bill's drafting.

As first proposed, the bill basically would require full disclosure by the seller, prior to sale, of all information concerning expenses, responsibilities and privileges connected with condominium ownership. The home builders amendment would have added a clause allowing a seller to list areas in which he would not make disclosures, exempting himself from provisions of the bill.

DRESS REHEARSALS to put the finishing touches on Schaumburg High School's production of "Hello Dolly" are under way. The musical will be performed at 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the school, 1110 Schaumburg Rd., Schaumburg. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Future Of Post Office Rests With Board

If final village permission is given, a new and larger postal station building for Hoffman Estates will be part of a $3 million expansion project at Hoffman Plaza, Roselle and Higgins roads.

And, if everything goes well, the project should get under way in about two months, said I. Kupferberg, managing partner of Hoffman Plaza.

Hoffman Plaza already is semi-developed and zoned business. The expansion phase of the plaza, including 160,000 square feet of building space, still needs site plan approval from the village. A final site plan will be submitted to the Hoffman Estates Plan Commission within "three to four weeks," Kupferberg said.

As presently planned the new postal station probably would be constructed in the south central section of Hoffman Plaza facing Higgins Road, he explained.

HOFFMAN PLAZA generally is bounded on the north by Golf Road, on the west by Roselle Road and on the south by Higgins Road. The current postal station is located centrally in the plaza.

"Current conversation is that the new postal station will be 50 per cent larger than the old one," Kupferberg said.

Construction of the new postal building is to begin during the "latter part of this year" and will be completed in 1973, the developer added.

"It (the postal station) has been approved in Washington," he explained.

Already occupied by about 45,000 square feet of commercial buildings, Hoffman Plaza definitely will get a new Jewel-Osco supermarket and a Denny's Restaurant, Kupferberg said.

Negotiations also are under way with a major tenant, who, if arrangements are confirmed, will occupy a 66,000-square-foot building that will face Roselle Road, Kupferberg explained. Other smaller shops, some of an electrical and fabric nature, will occupy the plaza, he added.

Lyons To Address ROOST

Robert Lyons, chairman of Conant High School's social science department, will be the featured speaker at Friday's meeting of the Republican Organization of Schaumburg Township (ROOST).

Lyons, a member of the Conant faculty since 1965, will discuss the current attitude of young people toward government and politics.

He is also expected to touch on aspects of a social science survey course taught to Conant seniors.

A member of the Schaumburg Township Public Library Board, Lyons also serves as a director of the North Suburban Library System and is area chairman of precinct captains for ROOST and a member of its board of directors.

A resident of Hoffman Estates, Lyons earned a bachelor's degree in American History and Political Science and a master's degree in the Social History of America at Northern Illinois University.

The meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. at Campanelli School, Springinsguth Road, Schaumburg.

Kindergarten Signup Set For May 17

Registration for the 1972-73 kindergarten classes in Schaumburg Township Elementary School District 54 will be held May 17.

Parents may register their children at any neighborhood school on that day. Children with last names beginning with letters A-L may register from 9 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.; those with last names beginning M-Z are to register from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m.

Parents of children entering school for the first time must bring the child's birth certificate at the time of registration. Hospital certificates will not be acceptable, according to school district officials.

Children entering kindergarten are required to have a physical examination, including dental exam, prior to the beginning of school Sept. 6.

Lindstrom: Kissinger Held Meet With Soviets

REV. PAUL LINDSTROM

The Rev. Paul Lindstrom, chairman of the Remember the Pueblo Committee, said the committee has learned that presidential adviser Henry Kissinger held two secret meetings in Mexico City with Soviet officials and representatives of Fidel Castro.

Lindstrom said the meetings were held during the past eight months and the latest was in March. Topics of discussion, he said, included continuation of construction of a submarine base in Cienfuegos in Cuba and a recent sizable buildup of Russian missiles and other military hardware in the Sierra de Los Organos area of Cuba.

LINDSTROM SAID Kissinger was informed by Soviet and Cuban officials at the meetings that if President Nixon moves to block construction of a Soviet submarine base in Cuba, Russia will counter with new military and diplomatic pressures against West Berlin and stalemating of the strategic arms limitation talks.

The first Mexico City meeting, late in 1971 was attended by a Russian named Yuly M. Vorontsov, Lindstrom said he was told by unidentified sources in the State Department.

Lindstrom said he learned of the meetings concerning Cuba several weeks ago but held off making a public announcement until after a White House announcement concerning the SALT talks.

He also said an understanding reached on strategic arms limitations came after "numerous concessions" by the United States to limit both offensive and defensive weapons and "no substantial concessions" by the Soviets.

Let's 'Open Doors': Deet

by NANCY COWGER

The schools have failed to prepare the minds of young white children to live in brotherhood in a multi-racial society, according to Tom Deet, a Hanover Park resident and a member of the Open Door Society (ODS).

He urged a campaign for more exposure of multi-racial ideas in school systems.

Deet spoke at a meeting of Community Life Program, a Schaumburg Township volunteer organization formed this year to provide emergency assistance for families needing aid in areas ranging from medical help to budget management counseling.

But Deet's remarks generally were addressed at the "Northwest suburbs' racist society." The criticisms he expressed of the suburbs as a region he applied to the local area as well. And the actions he urged on local residents were part of a general campaign he said would be mounted to deal with school systems and other institutions.

"We're going to be moving into the area of educational systems," Deet said. ODS has met with high level state education office personnel, and "we'll be setting up meetings with curriculum directors everywhere.

"WE BELIEVE essentially that school systems have failed in the responsibility of preparing minds of young white children to exist in brotherhood and dignity in a multi-racial society," Deet said. "We will move in an institutional way into school systems at the state and local level.

"I came here hoping for some action," Deet listed steps he wished individuals take, beginning with calling and writing letters to school board members in Dist. 54 supporting introduction of material dealing with such areas as the history and academic contributions of minority persons.

"Voice your concerns to school board members. Write letters to them. Start right here in your own school system helping your teachers to help your children grow up with freer attitudes toward other races," said Deet. He also suggested the residents talk with Catholic school officials.

DEET SAID he came to report what was happening and enlist local aid, and referred to a recent cross burning incident after a white family with an 11-month-old adopted daughter bought a home in Hanover Park.

"I could offer analysis, criticism — tell you you're a bunch of racists and the Northwest suburbs are a racist society. I would like to come back and tell how ODS views the Northwest suburbs. Because of the nature, the very constitution of the Northwest suburbs, we are a society very isolated from minority races. Our white suburbs must begin right now to educate ourselves as to how we'll act when we are integrated," Deet said.

A number of township residents took issue with Deet's words, among them Township Supervisor Vernon Laubenstein.

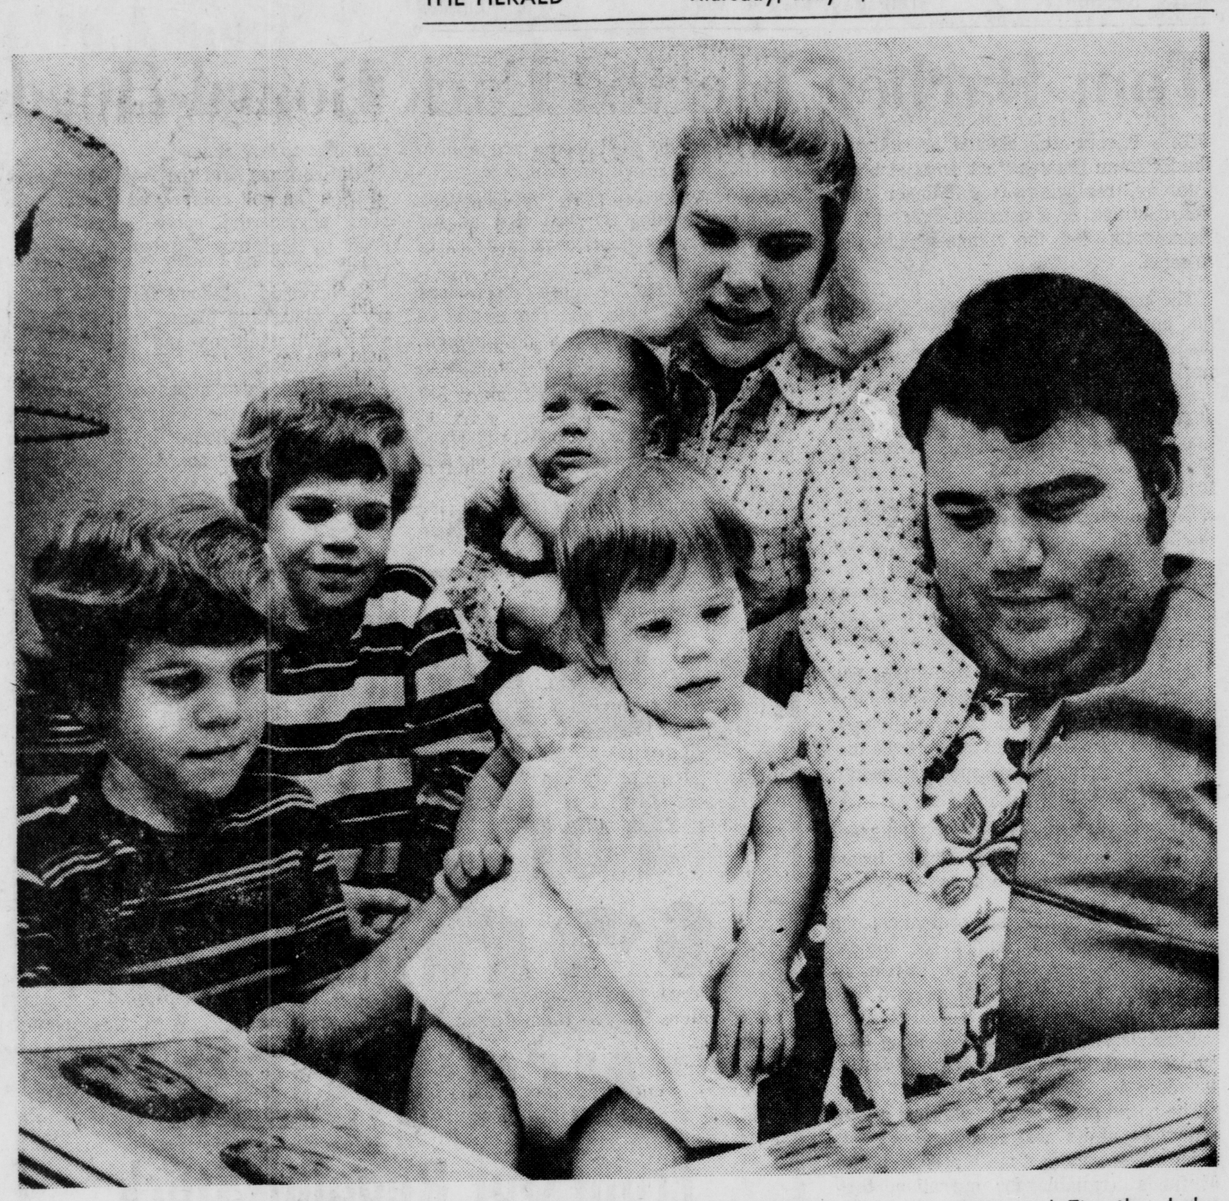
Laubenstein asked if the Hanover Park incident was "a scene to create an incident," suggesting representatives of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference entered the situation "so quickly."

LAUBENSTEIN CITED incidents of friendship between township blacks and whites.

"This is what's really happening, sir. I'm not apologizing and I don't think we ought to develop a guilt complex for things that don't exist. There are bigots, but let's not create an artificial climate of concern or racism," Laubenstein said.

Deet responded that black Schaumburg youngsters have been chased home from school by other children calling them derogatory names and said a black Hoffman Estates family had a bomb thrown on its front lawn. However, he said, "there are an awful lot of people here with goodwill."

But there are only about 15 black families in the township, said Deet, and for the most part, the community is "racially ignorant and had no contacts with blacks."



ARE APARTMENT dwellers discriminated against? Brian and Karen Murphy, renters at Hilldale Village in Hoffman Estates, think so and are willing to tell why. The couple, shown with twin sons Sean and Timothy, baby Christopher and daughter Kimberly, say they have been "turned off" locally.

Health Board, CEC Fusion Off

Fusion of the Clean Environment Committee (CEC) with Schaumburg's board of health has been tabled indefinitely, Trustee Peter Justen said Tuesday.

"It would appear that too much work confronts CEC in the immediate future for consideration of any other alternative," said Justen, who also outlined a list of future projects for the group.

He formally assumed chairmanship of CEC this week and will serve as its liaison with the village board.

Integration of the environmental unit with the board of health was proposed in March by Trustee Jack Larsen, former CEC chairman. Larsen vacated that post last month to serve as village finance chairman.

Larsen's idea involved enlarging the board of health to include four additional members presumably to be selected from CEC. He said the move would strengthen the environmental group and give it official status plus funding power as an advisory arm of the village government.

PRESENTLY, CEC s a quasi-official group composed of interested citizens who serve on a voluntary basis. The board of health, however, is appointed by Mayor Robert O. Atcher with consent of trustees.

This week Justen told CEC members that the merger proposal is not being totally abandoned, but said it is "being set aside for the time being" to permit CEC to continue its work.

A list of items suggested by Justen for future CEC agendas includes discussions of land restoration, quarries (live or dead) within village limits, possible legislation requiring trees in shopping plazas and other commercial areas and other projects for beautification of business sections.

Project Help Needs Your Help In Clean-Up Drive

"If you haven't received a confirming call from us, come on out anyway — we're not turning anyone away," Trustee Jack Larson, Schaumburg's Project Help leader, stressed this week.

Larson and his counterpart from Hoffman Estates, Trustee Diane Jensen, are chief coordinators of Project Help, a joint environmental improvement and beautification program which begins Saturday.

"With the number of volunteers who have signed up for the program now topping 600, we cannot ensure that each will receive a personal call — but that doesn't mean we don't want everyone interested in working," Mrs. Jensen noted.

Roadway clean-up in both towns, phase one of the three week program, will get under way Saturday when work crews assemble at 9:30 a.m. at Golf-Rose Shopping Center.

Workers are asked to come attired in heavy work gloves and protective boots plus any other clothing, including slacks or ankle length pants or jeans, weather dictates.

Volunteers should bring sack lunches and returnable canned soft drinks packaged in an easy to carry manner.

WORK CREWS will be managed by Denis Ledgerwood and Al Larson, of Schaumburg. They will direct Jaycee "strawbosses" from both towns, who will move out to work areas in each village.

Transportation to work posts will be primarily by Schaumburg Public Works department vehicles, Schaumburg Park District bus or on foot.

Volunteers needing rides to assembly points may arrange for free transportation 24 hours in advance by calling Schaumburg Village Cab Co., 529-8200.

Sitting service for preschoolers may be arranged at no cost by telephoning 394-2300, Ext. 256.

The roadway clean-up is being directed in Schaumburg by Mrs. Terri Glynn, a member of the village Clean Environment Committee (CEC).

Hoffman Estates activities are being conducted under the supervision of Mrs. Virginia Hocker, of the Environmental Concerns Committee.

In case of bad weather call Mrs. Glynn, 529-8668, or Mrs. Hocker, 529-4837, early Saturday morning.

ADDITIONAL instructions may be obtained by calling Schaumburg village offices, 894-4500, or Hoffman Estates Village Hall, 529-9176.

Crews of Project Help workers will plant trees and shrubs in both villages on May 13; creekbed areas will be policed May 20.

New volunteers from Girl Scout Troop 182 are Linda Archambault, Becky Baltas, Rene Burton, Jo Ann Hefferly, Sharon and Audrey Longhurst, Maureen Long, Charolette Wilcox, Lisa Greig, Marryann Nomellini, Yvonne Serigos, Linda Braden, Mary Demma and Mary Pay Lilly. Others are Debbie Valentino and Bill and Chris Cowin.

Lyle Johnson To Spearhead Bid For Park Referendum OK

A 14-year resident of Hoffman Estates who has headed several successful committees to support local bond issue referendums was selected Tuesday to lead a concerned citizens group seeking the approval of a $1.1 million Hoffman Estates Park District referendum on June 10.

Lyle Johnson, past president of High School District 211 board of trustees, was appointed unanimously by the park board.

Johnson, described by the board as a man known for being short on talk and getting results, has headed drives for two successful high school district referendums and helped push through a $500,000 bond vote for the Hoffman Estates Fire Protection District in recent years.

He will now be in charge meeting with many citizens groups and explaining the park district plans.

Johnson said Tuesday that in the past few weeks he has met with many recreational and athletic leaders in the community to discuss the needs of the area.

"I have seen that we are short of facilities in the area and I hope we can convince the people for the need to approve this plan," Johnson said.

The park district is seeking voter approval for $460,000 to build an indoor swimming pool at Hoffman Estates High School and $675,000 for a massive neighborhood park improvement package.

Johnson said he was very familiar with all parts of the referendum. He said the area needs to increase recreational opportunities for both young people and adults in the community.

"I hope we can unite the people of Hoffman Estates for this just cause," he said.

The 49 year-old Johnson is married and the father of four children.

He has been involved with many civic, religious and recreational organizations in the community during the 14 years he has resided in Hoffman Estates.

Johnson has been credited with developing the park/school agreements between the schools and park districts in the area for use of facilities.

Board member Fred Weaver said Johnson has given the park district much invaluable advice on the development of the district master plan for development and the upcoming referendum.

Johnson hopes to be in contact with as many groups as possible in the near future to discuss the referendum. He lives at 289 Illinois Blvd., Hoffman Estates and his phone number is 894-6648.

Apartment Dwellers' Lament:

'How Can We Get Involved Here?'

by BOB ANDERSEN

The Brian Murphys of Hoffman Estates are frustrated.

"We want to get involved, but how do we do it?" asks Mrs. Karen Murphy.

The mother of four children has another on the way. She and her husband, Brian, are townhouse apartment dwellers in Hilldale Village.

And the place where they reside, both say, goes right to the core of their frustration.

"I think apartment dwellers are second-class citizens," Karen declares.

Brian agrees. "I think we're discriminated against," he says, with almost as much passion as his wife.

The Murphys say they have been "turned off" by the community of Hoffman Estates.

The couple admit their stay here is temporary because Brian is in an insurance trainee program. He will be transferred in two to three years, but nonetheless they want to be part of a community.

The Murphys came to Hoffman Estates in August from Dayton, Ohio where Brian served as secretary of the local Jaycee chapter and Susan, in the midst of monitoring four preschoolers, was active in local church, school and women's organizations.

KAREN IS particularly critical of four local women's clubs and organizations she telephoned inquiring about membership. After explaining her situation, she added that she was reticent about attending her first meeting alone. "I would prefer to go with somebody for the first meeting," she said.

"They told me they would find somebody who lived near me and call back," she says. Well, Karen says, "they" never called back.

She also complained that though the Hoffman Estates Park District has activities she would be interested in such as a preschool program for her sons, she is never aware of them until they are nearly or completely finished. "The park district sends information out with the water bills," she explains. "So since apartment people don't receive water bills, they also don't get the information." Another form of discrimination against apartment families, Karen says.

HOWEVER, BRIAN adds, "I received my notice to buy a village (auto) sticker within 20 days of moving here."

Other specific complaints which Brian and Karen feel may tie into the fact they are apartment dwellers are leveled at:

—The local Welcome Wagon program which, Karen says, is slow and abrupt. She said it took Welcome Wagon two months to visit her even though she requested the visit by telephone. By rights, Karen contends, Welcome Wagon should be johnny-on-the-spot immediately when a new family moves into a community.

—A few local homeowners who, both say, have subtly inferred that apartment dwellers are a burden tax-wise to the community. "That is a bunch of baloney," Karen declares. "Look at our rent," said Karen, pointing out that a portion of the Murphy's $315-a-month rent goes to local taxing bodies in the form of real estate taxes.

—School Dist. 54. Karen's twin boys were scheduled to attend Armstrong School, 155 N. Kingdale Rd., Hoffman Estates, next year. Now, she points out, the boys will be attending the new John Muir School at Barrington Square with children from the Moonlake, Hilldale Village, Village-In-The-Park and the Barrington Square complexes.

IS THIS A deliberate policy to segregate apartment children from the children of homeowners, she wonders. Noting the new Muir School will be utilizing some new teaching techniques, Karen would prefer her children attend Armstrong which has a more traditional approach to teaching.

The Murphys realize they are painting a negative picture. Karen admits some of their frustration hinges on the fact the cost of living has been a lot higher here. "Now I am spending about $300 more a month" than in Dayton, she says.

The two emphasize they have made friends here and not everything has been dismal and depressing. Karen has joined, for instance, a local Twin's Club which gives her a social outlet.

Given their feelings, would the Murphys purchase a home in Hoffman Estates if the threat of job transferral didn't exist?

The couple wouldn't give a clear yes or no answer to the question. Brian, however, said the cost of housing here is "atrocious."

"I can't see any justification for it being so high," he added.

3 Groups Deny Discrimination Charge

Three area groups have denied they practice discrimination against apartment dwellers.

The groups, the Hoffman Estates Park District, Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54 and the local Welcome Wagon, all criticized by Brian and Karen Murphy, deny they practice discrimination.

A representative for Welcome Wagon, however, did admit this week the service does not go into apartment developments unless there is a "specific request" for a visit.

"There are so many people coming into the area, we can't keep up," said Barbara Burns of Hoffman Estates, a Welcome Wagon hostess. Mrs. Burns said the service is kept busy with ownership units including condominiums and townhouses.

Karen Murphy, a new renter at Hilldale Village, complained that it took Welcome Wagon "two months" to visit her. Mrs. Murphy cited the event as an example of discrimination against apartment dwellers in Hoffman Estates.

MRS. BURNS expressed surprise at Mrs. Murphy's complaint.

"We have to get to people within 30 days or we don't get paid by our sponsor," she said. The local effort is financed by Welcome Wagon International. The service extends hospitality to new residents as well as giving them information about Hoffman Estates.

The Hoffman Estates Park District was criticized because it disperses much of its information via the water company's bill-mailing list. Mrs. Murphy noted most apartment dwellers don't pay water bills thus they miss out on this information about park programs and upcoming activities.

Al Binder, park director, said the district mails two comprehensive brochures semi-annually to residents using the water company's mailing list. He added he "wasn't aware" apartment families weren't receiving the brochures.

"We want every family in Hoffman Estates to get copies of the brochure," he said. He said he would make an effort to contact all the apartment complex managers in Hoffman Estates and see if arrangements can be made to make the brochures available to apartment renters. The brochures are available in large numbers at the district office, he added.

MRS. MURPHY, noting children from four Hoffman Estates apartment complexes will be attending the new John Muir School in Barrington Square, expressed suspicion that this means there is a school policy to segregate apartment children from those of single-family homeowners.

"There is no policy," Dist. 54 Supt. Wayne Schaible said. "We're not concerned one bit with what type of dwelling units children live in."

He said, geographic proximity dictates what school a child goes to.

"We operate on the neighborhood school concept," he said. Children from the four complexes — Moon Lake, Barrington Square, Village-in-the-Park and Hilldale Village — will go to Muir because they are located near it, he said.

Marilyn Pluta, president of the Hoffman-Schaumburg Newcomers Club, invited the Murphys to join.

"We don't discriminate against apartment dwellers . . . not at all," Mrs. Pluta emphasized.

SHE DID ADMIT, however, to a weakness in the club's attempts to contact newcomers here. The club also uses the water company's mailing list.

"We have certain girls who call people from time to time and invite them to join," she said. The calls are made to people on the water company's list.

Made aware of the fact most apartment residents aren't on the list, Mrs. Pluta said the club "could contact various apartment managers and give them brochures to pass out." She said she would propose the project at the club's next board meeting.

Comprised of 280 newcomers here, the club meets the third Thursday of each month from September to May. It sponsors various social functions during the summer.

The meetings are held at the Villa Olivia Country Club in Bartlett.

Tom Barber Elected Park Board Head

Tom Barber was elected president of the Hoffman Estates Park District board Tuesday, replacing Fred Weaver, who will continue as a commissioner and as representative to the village's plan commission.

The park district board also approved its appropriations ordinance and discussed increasingly troublesome flooding problems at Highpoint Park.

Barber said he accepted the president's position because Weaver asked that someone else have a turn at the job. Weaver has served as president since 1970.

Emphasizing the need for recreational facilities for children of the area, Barber said he hopes all members of the community and the board will unite in the common cause of bringing the best recreational opportunities to the area.

Barber said he realizes the village has many different geographical areas and that it is hard to make everyone happy. He urged all residents to support the district's upcoming bond issue referendum for park development.

Other board officers will be John Meyer, vice president; Claude Crase, treasurer, and Weaver, secretary.

IN ITS appropriations ordinance, the board approved a budget of almost $500,000 for operation of the district in the coming fiscal year. Weaver said that this sum will not be the actual amount the district will have for operation, but by law such an ordinance must be approved.

The board probably will approve a levy ordinance at its next meeting later this month. The levy is a more precise figure of funds available for operation, they said.

Discussion of the flooding problem in the Highpoint Park area also was discussed by the board. The board has considered increasing the size of drain tile for the retention lake there in hopes of eliminating the problem.

It was decided to renew discussions with village officials and representative of the Multicon Corp., a development firm that owns property to the west of the park, in hopes of finding a solution to the problem.

SOME PARK officials have suggested that construction of Multicon's golf course, in connection with the Hilldale Village development, has changed the drainage of the area causing the retention lake to overflow.

Multicon has said the retention capacities on the golf course and the lake exceed engineering specifications developed by Hoffman Estates village officials.

Barber said, "I don't think we should try to place any blame, but we should work with Multicon and the village to find a solution."

The board also approved a purchase agreement with the Centex Corp. for the purchase of a house in the Winston Knolls area. The board will buy the house at builders' cost. It will be used as a residence for park district director Al Binder.

Just Politics

by Bob Lahey

Some workers supporting the reelection of President Nixon are pleased and somewhat surprised to detect what they believe to be latent Republican sentiment among organized labor outside of Cook County.

They are finding local labor leaders as well as rank-and-file members Downstate who are receptive to the idea that Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has been friendly to labor. And they are reported slightly leery of Ogilvie's Democratic opponent, Daniel Walker, because of his background as a corporate attorney.

In addition, one Nixon campaign worker has reported that he has encountered no labor leaders outside the Chicago area who are not personally for Nixon. These men do not broadcast their sentiments because of the generally Democratic orientation of most unions.

BUT QUIET support among union workers is probably the best that a Republican governor or President can expect. If enough of them are leaning toward the Republicans, the organization work on which the Democrats depend will suffer.

This is borne out by the defeat of Paul

Richard M. Nixon

Simon in the Democratic primary election. Simon's Downstate strategy leaned heavily on support and performance by labor in the industrial centers of Rockford, Peoria and East St. Louis, where union chiefs gave him glowing forecasts.

All three of those key areas were captured by Walker. Whether the poor performance of the labor unions on primary day was due to overconfidence, or to a basic satisfaction with the Republican incumbent is impossible to say.

But whichever, one Downstate labor leader declared, "Paul Simon lost because we didn't do the job for him."

It is an axiom in Illinois politics that a Republican cannot be elected governor without strong support of rural Downstate. The same is probably true of Dan Walker and Downstate labor.

POLLS BY "Prairie Farmer" magazine last fall showed Ogilvie losing among rural voters to Simon, but winning handily over Walker. Walker will need more than lukewarm support among union workers to overcome the rural vote.

Nationally, while strong sentiment for the defeat of Richard Nixon is reported among labor leaders, there is little sentiment for the election of any particular Democrat.

Labor appears unsympathetic to Sen. George McGovern and disenchanted with Sen. Hubert Humphrey. Many workers and union officials believe that the only candidate who could generate real enthusiasm among their ranks is Sen. Edward Kennedy.

That belief apparently is not shared by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

A Chicago union official reported after a recent visit to Washington that Meany is sitting on a request from the Democrats for a $20 million contribution.

Meany, however, has put out the word that he wants no contributions to any political campaign until after the conventions.

The reason is that Meany at the moment sees little hope for any Democrat winning the presidential race — including Kennedy.

He would be willing, according to reports, to shell out $40 million for a potential winner. But he is not anxious to pour $20 million into a losing campaign.

Wheeling Democrats Hold Annual Dinner Dance Friday

Wheeling Township Democrats hope to see all members of the state ticket at their annual dinner dance, which will be held tomorrow night in the Jimmy Durante Room at the Arlington Park Towers Hotel.

Democratic committeeman James L. McCabe said the guest list will definitely include Daniel Walker, candidate for governor; State Auditor Michael Howlett, candidate for secretary of state; Congressman Roman Pucinski, candidate for the U.S. Senate; and Thomas Lyons, candidate for attorney general.

Also expected is a large lineup of candidates for the state legislature in districts including parts of Wheeling Township.

Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m., and dinner at 8 p.m.

Legislative candidates who will attend include, from the 1st District, Ann Matasar, senate candidate, and Rep. Harold Katz and Donald L. Norman, House candidates; from the 3rd District, Rep. Eugenia Chapman and John Kelley, House; and 4th District, Thomas Flynn, Senate; and Representatives Aaron Jaffe and Aaron Brill, candidates for reelection to the House.

Pollution Board Steps Aside

Drop Atom Plant Control

The Illinois Pollution Control Board (IPCB) decided yesterday to vacate its regulation of nuclear power plants in the state, as those operated by Commonwealth Edison Co.

This follows a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision involving the Northern States Power Co. and the Minnesota state pollution control authority. The high court handed down a decision favoring the utility, ruling the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) alone can control nuclear power operations.

This frees Edison from certain controls previously imposed by the IPCB. According to an Edison spokesman on Wednesday, the state board still oversees the thermal standards (emission of heated water from condensers for example).

The utility succeeded last week in gaining IPCB permission to operate the new Quad Cities twin nuclear generating stations near Cordova, Ill., even though discharges in the Mississippi River will exceed the state thermal emission standards. Edison also gained the approval of the Iowa state pollution control authority in order to operate at limited capacity through Aug. 15. By that date, a heated water pipe exacted in a recent agreement with Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott, should be completed.

The diffuser pipe will be phased out when a closed cooling system is completed at a later date. Although Edison Pres. Thomas G. Ayers warned last week of "less than adequate generating reserve" as the company approaches the peak load summer months, an Edison spokesman said this week that partial operation of the Quad Cities units is expected to enable the utility to meet the heavy power demands.

EDISON HAS AEC approval to operate the giant Quad Cities units at 20 per cent capacity, or 360 megawatts of power. However, the utility is seeking a variance from the AEC to operate at 25 per cent capacity for additional power and at 100 per cent capacity for testing purposes.

Meanwhile, Commonwealth Edison Co., cited as one of the worst polluters in a recently-released national electric industry survey, is dismissing charges of thermal and air pollution as just so much hot air.

The Council on Economic Priorities, author of the disturbing report, was attacked by an Edison spokesman for publishing "misleading, and distorting" information. Its findings were released in mid-April on a total over a dozen electric utilities. The power companies operate 129 power plants across the country.

COMMONWEALTH Edison could claim the dubious distinction of being ranked Polluter Number Three in the report. Coming in ahead of the local utility in terms of pollution were the American Electric Power Co., and the Southern Co. Edison's soot emissions, sulphurous gas emissions and nitrogen oxide emissions were singled out in the Council on Economic Priorities report.

The council criticized the advertising and sales promotion expenditures of the 15 large utilities, claiming this totaled six times the amount the utilities shell out for pollution control research. Their figures were based on information culled from the Federal Power Commission (FPC), AEC, and the regulatory commissions and the utilities.

"We think it was a pretty amateurish report," said an Edison spokesman. "To a great extent it was based on obsolete figures. It was in many cases misleading and distorting. For example we are particularly incriminated on the basis that we have many plants in downtown Chicago or neighboring areas," he said. "We have only three plants in Chicago. Although these plants burn coal, it is the lowest sulphur content available." The Chicago plants represent only one-tenth the Edison generating capacity, he said.

EDISON WAS also faulted in the council report for "taking a hard line" on cooling facilities. The utility spokesman said Edison installed a cooling system at its station near Springfield in 1967 and later at other locations.

The failure of electric power companies to support innovative research programs and to install the most effective pollution control equipment was sharply criticized in the Council on Economic Priorities report. According to the Edison spokesman, there is some doubt on the effectiveness of the more recent systems. He cited the costly sulphur removal systems installed at many power generating stations. "We are putting in two of the best systems of this type available," he said. "Yet these are not doing the job in many areas where they are used. Do you want utilities to force utilities to put in equipment not fully proven out? Surely this is going to raise the cost of service unnecessarily."

Higher costs are almost a sure thing for the consumer, according to Edison's chairman of the finance committee, Gordon R. Corey. This echoed a recent warning from the Federal Power Commission that electric bills could triple by 1980. Unless the American public is willing to do without some electrical appliances or face severe power shortages, this price will have to be paid, the commission said.

Q—SOME PEOPLE that I have talked to, tell me there can be a long delay in being reimbursed for medical expenses under Medicare. How can a person help to prevent delays in being reimbursed?

A—There are six major areas where needed information is omitted at time of filing a claim. Be sure that this information is furnished.

1) Diagnosis. This should be furnished for any service provided whether it is surgery, an office visit or an order for an item of durable medical equipment.

2). Dates of Service. Each date that service was provided should be indicated.

3) Itemization of all charges. The date of each service, description of each service and charge for each service should be indicated.

4). Itemization of Specific Charges. For example, a charge for an office visit during which a complete blood count was taken and an injection given should include the charge for the complete blood count and the charge for and type of injection as well as the charge for the office visit.

5) Health Insurance Claim Number. The complete number including the letter after it as it appears on the patient's Health Insurance Card must be shown.

6) Physician Identification. This is to include the first name, last name, middle initial, address and telephone number of the physician.

Lost A Credit Card?

Recent changes in the law further restrict a person's legal liability for the unauthorized use of a credit card, according to the Illinois State Bar Association.

The State Bar Group said changes in the federal Truth-in-Lending law and in state law have this effect:

1) A person has no liability for charges due to fraudulent use of his credit card which takes place after the date on which he notifies the issuing company that his credit card has been lost or stolen.

2) A person has no liability whatever for the unauthorized charges resulting from the use of a lost or stolen credit card which has no signature panel or other means of identifying the user of the card.

According to the bar association, a person may be held liable for up to $50 worth of fraudulent charges provided 1) the credit card has a signature panel or other means of identifying the user; 2) the charges take place prior to notice to the issuing company that the card has been lost or stolen and; 3) the issuer of the card provides the individual with an "address notification requiring no postage to be paid" by which the issuer may be notified of the loss, theft or possible unauthorized use of the card.

Illinois law provides a person may be responsible for up to $25 worth of unauthorized charges using a credit card which has no signature panel. However, federal law provides there is no liability for such unauthorized charges and in the absence of official state exemption from this provision, it would apply in Illinois.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

The final session of the Camelot mixed pairs had just started. Lancelot sat South at table one with Elaine the Fair in the North. La Belle Isolde was West with the great Tristram in the East. The peerless knight quickly reached four hearts after Elaine's single raise and Isolde opened the jack of clubs.

Lancelot called for the three from dummy and it was up to Tristram to play. Tristram studied and studied. Finally he turned to Lancelot and said, "Methinks thou has a subtle reason for thy play of a low club. Haven't thee!"

Then Tristram rose with his ace and returned the queen of spades. La Belle Isolde collected two spades and trump to set the peerless one trick.

If Tristram had ducked the first club he would never have gained the lead. Eventually Lancelot would have discarded one of dummy's spades on his fourth diamond and made his contract.

Like other meetings between the two greatest knights of the round table this turned out to be a no-decision contest. At the other tables the jack of clubs was always covered. East would play his ace automatically and declarer would be down that same one trick.

Stamp Notes

by Bernadine M. Rechner

The Canada Post Office will issue an 8 cent stamp on May 17 commemorating the 300th anniversary of the appointment of Frontenac as governor of New France.

The stamp was designed by Laurent Marquart of Montreal who also created the Papineau and Hearne stamps issued last year. Marquart's design shows the statue of Frontenac in Quebec City with a sketch of Fort Saint-Louis, Quebec, residence of the Governors of New France, in the background.

Frontenac came to New France in 1672 as governor and stayed until 1682 when he was recalled. He was reappointed in October 1689 and retained the post until his death, in Quebec City, Nov. 28, 1698.

Louis de Buade, comte de Frontenac et de Palluau, was the son of an old, noble family. Married to Anne de la Grange-Trianon, he, like many nobleman of his era, lived very extravagantly and was greatly in debt. Impoverishment led him to accept the appointment to represent Louis XIV in New France. His wife remained at court where her influence served her husband's interests.

FRONTENAC FAVORED territorial expansion to increase the lucrative fur trade and in 1673 he founded Fort Frontenac on the shore of Lake Ontario where the city of Kingston now stands.

When appointed to the post for the second time, Frontenac was instructed to pay more attention to his military obligations and, in 1690 he repelled an attack on Quebec City by a force from the British colonies. In 1696, Frontenac undertook a ckmpaign against the Iroquois whose attacks seriously endangered the colony. This campaign resulted in the Peace Treaty of 1701.

A bold, dynamic personality, Frontenac is best remembered as the architect of French development in North America and defender of New France against the Iroquois nation and the British colonists to the south.

Twenty-six million Frontenac stamps will be printed by the British American Bank Note Company of Ottawa. Collectors desiring first day cancellations should send their requests to "First Day Cover Service, Canada Post Office, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A OB5" to arrive not later than May 17. There is a 5 cent service charge for each cover. However, if the value of the stamps to be affixed is 16 cents or more, the service fee will not apply providing regular mail service is given to such covers.

MINT STAMPS may be ordered at face value through the Philatelic Service, Canada Post Office, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A OB5.

An 8 cent stamp honoring osteopathic medicine — a healing art that originated in America — will be issued by the U.S. Postal Service later this year.

The pioneer was Dr. Andre Taylor Still, a Civil War physician who became dissatisfied with the medical methods of the day and, from his studies of anatomy, derived the principles of osteopathic medicine.

The stamp joins a series relating to health partners, including those in honor of pharmacy, slated for release Nov. 10, 1972, and earlier issues for doctors, dental health and hospitals.

Collecting Coins

by Mort Reed

In recapping the many commemorative medals programs begun within the last five years, it came as no great surprise to find there is a medallic art explosion occurring in the numismatic industry second to no other period in its history. And appranently with the endless supply of early and contemporary Americana, any well-planned, well-executed subject matter geared to that market cannot fail.

What did come as a surprise was the fact that the size of a producer has absolutely nothing to do with the quality of the end product or the success or failure of a commemorative series. Some of the most attractive and highly valued pieces were struck by the small, almost obscure, private mint.

A good example of this is the Tombstone Commemorative Series issued by the Tombstone Commemorative Committee and struck by the Lombardo Mint of Sherbrooke, Quebec, Canada.

TOMBSTONE, ARIZ., "the town too tough to die," is a registered U.S. National Monument of no small historic importance. It is reflected on almost every page of American history and while it offered little in the way of industrial opportunity, it does have the distinction of being either the beginning or the end for many exciting chapters in western development.

As a prelude to the celebration of its 100th anniversary, the commerative committee decided toissue one medal a year for 10 years as a countdown to the gala event in 1978. Each year the issue was to consist of no more than 5,000 pieces in nickel-silver plate; 1,000 pieces in .999 fine silver but only 100 sets containing one numbered proof piece in silver and one numbered proof piece in nickel-silver.

The first medal struck depicts a sourdough with his pack mule heading off into the hills in search of fortune. Arched above is the name, Tombstone, Arizona, with "90th Year" in an exergue below. A tombstone inscribed with the founding date 1878 and "Tombstone Commemorative 90th Year," occupies the reverse along with the statement that Tombstone is a registered U. S. Monument.

Today the silver specimen is valued at well over $175 per copy and it is doubtful whether or not one could be acquired at that price. I know of one nonproof copy owner who would refuse such an offer.

A SECOND MEDAL was issued in 1969, another in 1970 and the fourth has been released for 1971. According to the chairman of the Tombstone Commemorative Committee, each of the earlier issues have climbed steadily in value since the first issue in 1968.

The latest release marks the events of the famous shootout at the O. K. Corral between Wyatt, Virgil and Morgan Earp, along with "Doc" Holliday and the erstwhile McLowery brothers, Tom and Frank, Ike and Billy Clanton and Billy "The Kid" Claiborn on Oct. 26, 1881.

The Tombstone, Commemorative Committee through its chairman, J. Guthrie, offers these medals on a first-come, first-served basis and readers may write him at P.O. Box 545, Tombstone, Ariz. 85638.

The "Trudeau Dinner Medal," the second hi-value commemorative discovered in our survey of the commemorative medal issues will be illustrated in an early column. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Do-It-Yourself

Build Spring Window Box

Certain houses benefit by the addition of a window box or two filled with flowers. If yours is one of them, getting a box ready now before warm weather arrives is an easy project.

Window boxes can be hung at front or side windows or garage windows. They can also be used to decorate the sides of steps leading to a front or side door.

Patterns are available from mail order companies and at most lumberyards. Since any pattern would have to be adjusted for your window size anyway, you might just design your own.

Window boxes should be about eight inches deep, about six inches wide at the bottom and a little wider at the top.

USE WOOD THAT will withstand weather (redwood and cypress are best). Oak and pine can be used if suitably finished. Prevent rotting by treating with a wood preservative.

Use preservatives carefully. Some cannot be painted over since they will bleed through. These will require sealing with aluminum paint or shellac. Some preservatives impart their own color to the finish. Read labels carefully and check with the dealer.

A good natural finish involves several applications or boiled linseed oil. Allow it to soak in for several hours before wiping off. Repeat several times, allowing a day in between.

Spar varnish is a good but more expensive finish for wood used outdoors. Of course, you may simply want to paint the box to match the house or the trim.

When you put the box together, combine nails and glue for sturdy construction. Better yet are wood screws.

You can add to the permanence of the box by lining it with sheet metal. This also allows you to plant right in the box.

YOU MAY FIND it more practical to fill the box with potted plants. Not only is this easier and less messy, it also allows for a variety of blooms throughout the season.

Provide drain holes in the bottom of the box — one in each corner and another in the middle. Set the pots in peat moss inside the box.

You can add decorative touches by applying precut molding strips and painting them a different color.

A window box needs plenty of support. If you want to fasten the box to the wall with screws, recess the bottom of the box so that it is an inch higher than the back and sides. Drill holes at top and bottom for screws.

If you use angle irons, build the bottom flush with the sides. If the bottom is recessed, cut the lower edge wherever you put an angle iron so that it can go up against the bottom of the box. Use two-inch or larger angle irons.

Wants More For Education

Bakalis Hits School Budget

by BETSY BROOKER

A News Analysis

Once again Superintendent of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis has let out a cry for more state aid to public schools. But this time he has asked for a lower hike.

Bakalis' latest proposal calls for $1.178 billion in school aid, a drop of $29 million from his original request. He said the difference lies in a compromise he made with the School Problems Commission on funding for the teachers' pension fund.

Bakalis' proposal is directed at Gov. Richard Ogilvie who has asked the legislature for only $1.052 billion in education funds. Present state aid totals $938 million.

Ogilvie received sharp criticism from Bakalis for not living up to the priority he set for education in his State of the State address a few months ago. Ogilvie's budget, says Bakalis, "represents the smallest percentage increase in the last 30 years."

In defense, Ogilvie points to riding costs and says he can't meet Bakalis' proposal without slighting other areas. The governor's School Problems Commission backs his budget proposal: The advisory commission, composed of legislators and school officials, recently declared the $90 million hike "adequate."

BUT BAKALIS declares it is "inadequate," saying his figure is needed to keep schools open throughout 1973.

"The personal property tax exemption on one car and a household of furniture has hurt school districts," Bakalis said.

"We're also in the midst of a taxpayers' revolt. Not only have the number of school referenda decreased sharply in the past four years," Bakalis said, "but the percentage of successful referenda has gone down, too."

Bakalis said higher teacher wages and climbing costs of real estate and building materials have also put schools in a financial squeeze.

Bakalis therefore proposed that the state spend $216 million more next year than it did in 1972 for elementary and high school education. He said it could be financed in part by earmarking the $30 million never spent on the ill-fated parochiaid plan for schools.

Further, Bakalis said, $40.5 million from growth in the common school and general revenue funds and $55.5 million from other parts of the budget could be used.

Dr. Michael Bakalis

THE BATTLE FOR funds is essentially a political struggle to win the favor of education-concerned taxpayers.

Ogilvie has smarted on several occasions from the charges of Democratic gubernatorial candidates Dan Walker and Paul Simon. Both men have criticized Ogilvie for spending too much money on highways and not enough on schools.

Ogilvie tried to boost the faith of the taxpayers in his State of the State message by putting education as a No. 1 budget priority. He again tried to demonstrate his concern for education in the formation of the School Problems Commission.

But lest the taxpayers become appeased by Ogilvie's efforts, Bakalis has brought the issue to the forefront again.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article on angina and nitroglycerin tablets. I have had angina about 2½ years, but in the last year have not had an angina attack. When I lift or work too fast I get short of breath, but do not have the pains I used to. After reading your article I discarded my nitroglycerin tablets. Should I have kept them?

Dear Reader — No. You might as well have thrown them away because if they really were a year old they were no good anyway. Nitroglycerin tablets do not last a long time and should be kept fresh if they are going to be used at all. Anyone who has had any anginal attacks for six months or a year shouldn't be taking nitroglycerin tablets even if they start having chest pains suddenly. The thing to do in that instance is to call your doctor. The reason a lot more people don't have an adverse reaction to nitroglycerin tablets used for chest pain that is really a severe heart attack, not angina, is because they have kept the tablets so long that they aren't any good.

I presume you are referring to my comment that an individual should not take nitroglycerin tablets at the onset of a heart attack. They are quite all right for treatment of recurring angina and have been used successfully that way for years, but they can be harmful to a person who has chest pain.

Dear Dr. Lamb — We know that the thyroid gland produces hormones necessary for life. Would a woman without this hormone die without medicine to restore her thyroid? Does thyroid deficiency affect body function and mental ability? Is it inherited later in life by children born to a woman with thyroid deficiency.

Dear Reader — Yes, the thyroid hormone is essential to life. The fact that one is hypothyroid or has a low thyroid function, however, doesn't mean that no hormone is produced. In longstanding cases of markedly decreased thyroid function some patients can even develop coma. And such severe thyroid depression can lead to "myxedema madness," which means loss of mental capacity due to extremely low thyroid function. Less severe cases are not fatal.

There is no evidence that low thyroid function is inherited. Even is a woman is diagnosed as having low thyroid function after her children are born it is doubtful that she would have had seriously low thyroid function during a successful pregnancy. Women with relatively low thyroid function have difficulty getting pregnant and difficulty in maintaining their pregnancy. If a normal child is born it is a reasonably good indication the mother has normal function of the thyroid.

If Brahms first puts you to sleep—don't worry. SONY thought of everything with the HP-148 stereo system. For instance: there's an 8-track stereo cartridge player with automatic or manual track selection and track indicator lights. There's an FM stereo/FM/AM tuner with illuminated slide rule dial, vernier tuning and stereo indicator light and a solid-state amplifier with separate bass, treble and balance controls. There's two full range speakers with separate woofers and tweeters. And there's the BSR 4-speed micro-minichanger that shuts the entire system off when the last record's played. So if a Brahms Lullaby works on you—pleasant dreams.

'The Eyes Have Had It,' Optometrist Tells Industry

by LEA TONKIN

The eyes have had it, says area optometrist Dr. Harold Seldin.

Hard-pressed by the demands of high-speed production, the mass media, tension, your eyes are in need of assistance, he warns. Coming to the rescue of your tired and bleary eyes is the doctor's engineered approach to vision problems.

The doctor comes on strong as he walks into the office and announces, "You have terrible lighting in here." His sprightly checked suit, long sideburns and wire rimmed glasses add to the illusion. Although he's bold on the outside, this doctor is cautious and concerned on the inside. He's worried that eye pollution and strain will have a limiting effect on your abilities.

Dr. Seldin has devoted much of his professional career to the treatment of the visually handicapped. With experience as a consultant to a manufacturer of visual aids, teaching at the Illinois College of Optometry and a practice in Morton Grove, he is now eyeing the field of industrial consulting in this area. Dr. Seldin recently opened a Rolling Meadows office at 40 Arbor Dr.

"WE'RE LEARNING to measure a person as a human being — his ability to function," says Dr. Seldin. "When we're working with vision, in an industrial application, we give them equipment which will enable them to read or write or do assembly work without limitation."

The doctor sees the commonly used telescopes and microscopes as limiting devices, since they allow only monocular vision. Three-dimensional vision and therefore better judgment is gained through the use of binocular vision, he advises.

"When we're talking about people with normal vision, the problem is often one of working with such small parts or components that it is impossible to work an eight-hour shift without eye strain," says Dr. Seldin. The man checking a read-out instrument in terms of pattern or numbers, the woman working on small assemblies or the worker who routinely monitors a rotating, multi-colored, automated production equipment are often in need of visual assists, he contends.

"In this enormous and crippling job of making products smaller, man's entire concentration has been on the scientific glamour of making invisible things visible," says the doctor. "The idea of a scientifically engineered macro eye assist has been totally ignored much to the detriment of quality control, assembly and inspection as well as injury to man's eyes."

Attention focused on micro areas for the development of standards in microscopes and other devices must be shifted to the neglected area of macro areas, according to Dr. Seldin. He explains that the macro area, or the visible environment, comprises most of a typical worker's effort and that the microscopic elements of an assembly generally end up in a visible application.

Dr. Seldin seeks the establishment of standards for the macro area. "Until now whatever was catalogued by the microscope maker, desk lamp maker, specialty house or hardware chain was bought, even though it was a kitchen light or desk lamp with common built-in magnifier, or other hit-or-miss devices," he said.

ANOTHER CRIPPLER in job performance, in addition to miniaturization, is poor illumination. Improper levels of illumination in office and production areas cut down on productivity and the quality of work turned out, Dr. Seldin says. "Lighting most generally used is fluorescent," he said. "The bulb's peak illumination is at 40 per cent of the life of the bulb. When the bulb is not changed until it reaches the end of its life, the illumination declines. This causes eye strain."

Shuffling desks and work benches around to achieve a more efficient floor plan can lead to sluggish employe performance if the lighting system is not adjusted accordingly, the doctor says. The problem becomes more acute as a worker advances in age.

"For example, 200 foot candles of illumination is the minimum amount needed at 20 years of age," he said. "However we know that a person at 40 years of age needs twice the amount of illumination and at 50 years he needs five times the illumination as compared to a 20-year-old."

In his industrial consulting work, Dr. Seldin often "prescribes" macro visual assists in areas where overhead lighting is not sufficient. Back at the workbench, the assembly worker may make use of a viewer large enough to allow binocular vision (using both eyes) and the use of both hands in the assembly. Dr. Seldin advises the use of rugged, professionally designed industrial assists.

"THE ILLUMINATION device should be small enough to be accommodated on a work bench and emit an intensity high enough to raise the foot candles well above the norms set down by the Illumination Engineering Society," said Dr. Seldin. An effective cooling device and the provision of a color contrast is also advisable, he said.

BEEN SQUINTING at the morning paper to read your horoscope for the day? Dr. Harold Seldin comes to the escue with a visual assist.

He's 'Bent For Expedience'

A Close-Up Look At George Wallace

(Second of a Series.)
by IRA BERKOW

WITH WALLACE CAMPAIGN — On a snowy morning, Alabama Gov. George Wallace entered the cabin of the two-engine charter plane. The plane was taking him on yet another lengthy jaunt in his combative presidential campaign.

Gov. Wallace unbuttoned his black cashmere coat, which covered a black suit. Wallace, short, bushy-browed, wrapped in black, might have been sinister except that the coat sleeves were baggy and he looked dwarfish.

He sat down in the front left aisle seat, his darkhaired wife Cornelia beside him at the window seat. A reporter sat across the aisle.

Gov. Wallace stuck a dark cigar with a yellow holder into his mouth. "I'll talk to you in a minute," said Wallace good-naturedly, to the reporter, "but first I gotta make sure the weather's good. If it's bad, I'll have to be instructin' the crew. Not that I'm afraid of flyin', but I don't like flyin' in bad weather."

THE PLANE WAS UP. The small plane's vibrations were strong and unsettling. Wallace, puffing on the cigar, leaned across his wife and looked out the window.

"Lookee there — sun," he said.

Cornelia peered out the window. "I don't see nothing but damn fog," she said, and sat back.

"Naw, there's sun. I'm sure of it."

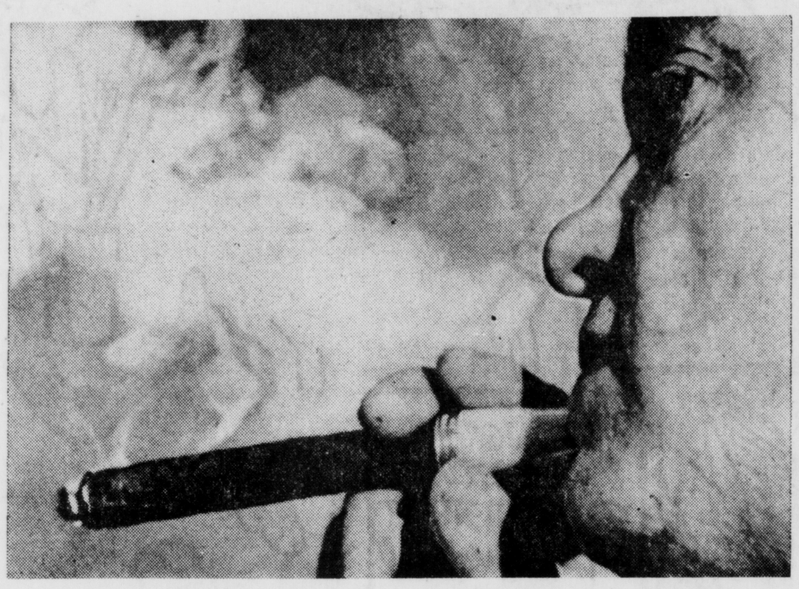
She emitted a soft cough.

"Smoke, bother you, honey?" he asked. "I'll put the cigar out."

"No, it's all right," she said cordially. Then she took out a map and began marking off skiing locations. She planned to take her children on their first ski holiday. (Coincidentally, that night, he will make a speech condemning some politicians for taking the taxper's money and going off skiing in Switzerland.)

His campaign has been going well and Gov. Wallace is in good spirits. His mouth, which seems naturally curved in a snarl, is now broken in a smile. He turns to the reporter and is in a reminiscent mood.

"ALL THESE PEOPLE on welfare," he says, "they gotta get out and work. I don't mean the lame and the halt and the blind and the deaf (his tone lowers at this litany, as it does when he comes to this part in his speeches) but the loafers and chiselers. I worked my way out of poverty, a lot of us have.



Wallace . . . bent for expedience

"I grew up on a farm down in Clio, Alabama. We didn't have no outdoor plumbing and I had to draw water. I worked 12 hours for 50 cents a day pickin' cotton. I went to college and drove a truck six hours a day for a dollar.

"I remember when I was in the University of Alabama Law School and I had to defend this ole guy. He had put 19 sticks of dynamite under his wife's bed, tied the dynamite to a 50-foot fuse. The fuse burned one foot a minute. Then he went to some honky tonk nearby and met his girlfriend and danced to the 'Wabash Cannonball,' I reckon. His wife was blown clear through the roof.

"There was a lot of emotion in the case, because the people there'bouts knew he had give his wife the syphilis, too. It looked like he was gonna get the 'lectric chair.

"I wanted to get him off for life. I only had one thing goin' for me, his little 12-year-old boy. He cried a lot. So I put him right up front for the jurors to see. I'd go up to him and whisper in his ear, 'You know, Sonny, they wantin' to 'lectrocute your daddy.' Oooohhh." Wallace imitated the crying child, then he laughed. "The jury was cryin', too." He laughed again.

"I TOLD THE JURY, give the man life just for his little boy over there, so he can see his daddy in prison. Do somethin' for the boy. It took the jury 30 minutes to give a verdict of life."

The story shows both Wallace's bent toward expedience ("He won't mention race until he has to," said one Alabama newspaperman) and also his knowledge of touching the heart of "the average man." Perhaps because he, too, can be touched. As governor, he dreaded signing the death certificate of condemned murderers ("We tellin' a fella he's got to die!" Wallace has moaned).

As a circuit court judge, he disliked sentencing poor farmers who made moonshine for their own consumption. "It wasn't hurtin' no one," says Wallace. "Gully-jumpers, we called 'em. They'd drink the stuff out of fruit jars. I remember one black man he got caught by the federal agents. I gave the fella a defense. 'Say that you was just huntin' up your cow and you come up to this house and you was just wantin' to sniff around some.' "

Wallace laughed, brushed some ashes from his dark suit jacket and leaned toward the window, looking for a reassuring sun that was somewhere, he was certain, in that damn fog.

Area Family Hunts Terrier

The Bernard Schroeders of Schaumburg are highly distraught.

A week ago, they were entrusted with the care of a nine-year-old female named Susie. Last Sunday she ran away and was last seen heading in the direction of Roselle. She hasn't been seen or heard from since.

Susie is a Welsh Terrier belonging to another Schaumburg family who are close friends of the Schroeders. Susie's masters just left on a European vacation and the Schroeders agreed to dog-sit Susie until the European vacation ended.

Bernard Schroeder said Susie arrived at his home on April 28. She escaped from a back door, left momentarily ajar, last Sunday.

AFTER A CHASE, including pursuit by a group of neighborhood youths with 10-speed bikes and Mrs. Schroeder in the family car, Susie disappeared, legging her way toward Roselle.

In the past weeks, the Schroders have searched Susie's home neighborhood, placed ads in newspapers and notified the police in an attempt to find the pet.

The vacationing family will return May 27. The Schroeders would like to return Susie or at least tell the family what happehed to her.

The dog is beige with brown spots. She has an identification necklace with her master's name on it.

Anyone with information about Susie's whereabouts may call the Schroeders at 894-2176. A reward is being offered.

Clerk's Goof: Correct It

The Arlington Heights Park District is being told by the Cook County Clerk's office that because of a simple, human error the park district will have to survive the year with $66,000 less than it was supposed to have received.

That type of "pat answer" is impossible to accept and indicates all too clearly the lack of concern on the part of many county offices for the problems of suburbanites.

The $66,000 shortage occurred, according to officials in the clerk's office, when a new and inexperienced office worker applied an erroneously low tax rate for the park district.

Except for the fact we would hope new and inexperienced workers would receive closer supervision than that, we can accept the explanation that errors are going to be made.

We cannot accept, however, the suggestion the clerk's office has made in regard to remedying the situation.

Walter Prybylo, tax extension supervisor for County Clerk Edward Barrett, says the solution is a simple one. "Issue tax anticipation warrants for the $66,000 and make up the deficiency with an extra levy next year," he offered.

Unfortunately, tax anticipation warrants cost money in the form of the interest paid when the warrants are retired. That money eventually would have to be paid by the residents of the park district.

Prybylo also discounts the possibility of issuing supplemental tax bills, suggesting the clerk's office may not have the legal power to do so and that the cost would be prohibitive.

Certainly the clerk has the authority, and indeed the responsibility, to issue correct tax bills. And if the clerk's office could compute and mail tax bills for ten townships in less than a week, recomputing the tax bills for a single park district cannot be overly difficult.

We wonder if the clerk's office would be so smug if the mistake had caused a severe shortage of funds for the Chicago School District? Or if the Cook County Board was faced with a 7 per cent shortage instead of a suburban park district?

The clerk's office contends mistakes similar to the one involving the local park district are not uncommon and they are always resolved through the issuance of tax anticipation warrants.

While we can accept the frequency of human error, we feel it is unconscionable that no system of verification or remedy has been established to deal with the problem effectively and fairly.

Perhaps the clerk's office simply could give the various taxing bodies 72 hours notice of the rate before issuing tax bills. Then human errors could be detected and corrected before it is too late.

In the meantime we can see no reason why the taxpayers in the Arlington Heights Park District should have to bear the financial burden caused by a careless mistake in the county clerk's office.

Oops! Well – That's Life!

Bob Lahey's Column

How To Win (And Lose) A Fight

Two examples of the Democratic process occurred in recent days before Illinois legislative bodies, and it is hoped that there might be a lesson in them for people who would like to influence their government.

In Springfield, when the state Senate convened to consider a law which would bar local licensing of professions, a crowd of supporters of the bill — estimated as high as 3,000 — converged on the statehouse in an orderly display of their concern.

In Chicago this week, a group of perhaps 50 members of the Citizens Action Program gathered at a hearing of the Agriculture and Conservation Committee, and in short order precipitated a shouting match with the committee chairman which ended in a mini-walkout.

In Springfield, the Senate passed the bill favored by the visitors as Republicans gathered the handful of Democratic votes they needed to put it over. It had been blocked previously by Senate Democrats.

In Chicago, the CAP members apparently succeeded in turning a skeptical attitude by some of the committee members into one of antagonism toward the bill they were there to promote.

The CAP members have refined their noisy confrontations with officials in clashes with the Democratic powerhouses of the Chicago administration.

Whether the technique achieves anything other than the attention of the television cameras is open to question. But it is strongly suspected that it achieved nothing with the Senate committee, four of whom are from Downstate and two of whom are Republicans.

The CAP people were not wholly to blame for the melee.

The committee chairman, Sen. John Knuppel, D-Petersburg, apparently likes to conduct hearings with a stern dignity. It comes across as arrogance.

To a citizenry increasingly cynical over the concern of elected officials with their wishes, arrogance in those officials becomes increasingly intolerable.

But the testimony of Paul Booth, co-chairman of CAP, in support of the Lake Michigan Bill of Rights, was clearly intended to bait the committee members.

Booth began with a tirade over the "cramped quarters" of the hearing room, which did not permit all the CAP delegation to get in. Knuppel cut that off.

Booth continued, however, to toss in references to "closed meetings," "local politicians" who do their banking in Switzerland and "the crooked assessor's office."

While not germane to his testimony, Booth's references were clearly to Chicago politics and might have been ignored by the committee without precipitating the fall of the Republic.

But Knuppel, a Downstate Democrat, and Sen. Robert Michler, a Downstate Republican, saw in his gratuitous remarks the rape of their virtue and quickly rose to the bait.

The ensuing hollering contest became the cue for the practiced chorus of catcalls and insults from the CAP rank and file.

It ended with two of the CAP members, Dennis Sweeney and Father Leonard Dubi, being thrown, or walking, out of the hearing. Out with them went Knuppel's stern dignity. He ended on his feet, hollering for Sweeney to "Shut your big fat mouth and get out of here."

During it all, the television cameras ground away, and Father Dubi got his 30 seconds of air time on at least one network news program that night. Perhaps that is all that CAP was out to achieve.

It is doubtful that for it they will be thanked by Rep. Robert Mann, the sponsor of the bill which the committee is considering. During the sideshow he sat with a pained expression and at the first opportunity took Booth by the arm to whisper something in his ear. It undoubtedly amounted to, "Cool it. Please."

The hearings continued for nearly four hours after the CAP performance, and produced voluminous testimony for and against Mann's bill. But shortly after Sweeney and Dubi left, the TV crews got their hats and went with them.

By the time the Father Dubi Show went on the air, Knuppel and Michler were probably on their way back to Petersburg and Oswego, respectively.

Knuppel brought his committee from Springfield to Chicago at the demand — CAP doesn't request — of Chicago proponents of the Lake Michigan Bill of Rights. Another hearing is scheduled May 15, but it would be hard to blame Knuppel if he didn't come back.

Art Fairs Anger Her

I am really burned In fact, I am so burned that I feel it is my duty to write a blistering editorial concerning two "Art Fairs" in which I was recently a participant. What they both had in common was that they were both poorly organized. The first one to be mentioned was sponsored by the Arlington Heights Jaycees Wives on April 22 and 23 at Frontier Park. When a group plans an affair such as this, what looks good on paper doesn't always turn out to be a reality. Our booths were marked off, alright, however, a sardine can couldn't have been more uncomfortable. There were two separate rooms set aside — one extremely small and another in a gymnasium. At $10 a crack, it was obvious that the Jaycees were more concerned with "getting the money" than providing a fair chance for the participants to display their crafts.

After taking over an hour to get our booths set up (due to the fact we all had to squeeze through a small hallway and practically stand in line to get our boxes into the gym), we were then asked to all move our cars out of the parking lot so that the customers could park there. What customers? There certainly didn't seem to be a rush of people ready to storm the front doors at anytime during the two day sale. Either the publicity was lacking or else the people in Arlington Heights are tired of going to shows where every other booth has the same craft. A juried show would have alleviated this problem. I would have rather had my entry blank turned down rather than have to sit all crunched in and stare at the person displaying across from me for two days because there were so few people who even made it as far as the gym to see what was being sold there.

I overheard that this is the Jaycee Wives first and last arts and crafts show. I can see why!

The Roselle arts and crafts show was Saturday, April 29 and was another good example of poor planning. It was held at Parkside School in conjunction with a fun fair for at least 2,000 little kids — or so it seemed. What artist likes unsupervised children running by his display, pawing at his fragile crafts with clumsy fingers? Another poor showing of adults showed that most parents probably gave their child a dollar, told him to have a "fun" afternoon and drove off — to return to pick him up when the fair was over. A fun fair and a crafts sale together spells disaster for the unknowing participant who was under the impression when she paid her $7 that an arts and crafts fair was just that.

Granted these shows are for good causes and are sponsored by groups who mean well, but why don't these ladies get in touch with groups who have run one before and know how to "pull off" a successful show not only for the participants but for themselves as well? Any artists who were in the two shows I mentioned would be glad to have given free pointers, I'm sure!

Another Side Of Cross Burning

Guess the Prof. and his wife pulled a "Look Who's Coming to Dinner" bit — surprising all his neighbors in Hanover Pk. . .

Mr. J. Marks
Park Ridge

I have read in your Herald that, some reformers from the "big city" intend to come to the N.W. suburbs and humanize the inhabitants. Do they mean that they intend to teach how to burn buildings . . . destroy property . . . molest law abiding people . . . and demonstrate how to perform all the acts of criminality, debauchery and savagery . . . If this is what they call humanity, then I think they should stay in the big city, and perform these perverted acts on their own friends and relatives.

Bowing To A Boeing

The darn things are really just too big to get off the ground. But they have, in more ways than one.

Since the first Boeing 747 took off on a commercial flight on Jan. 21, 1970, the jumbo jets have piled up a perfect safety record while carrying more than 19 million passengers more than 270 million miles.

Actuarial experts predicted three 747 crashes within the first 18 months of operation. But only one has been lost, and that was blown up at Cairo airport by Palestinian terrorists.

Lloyds of London has lowered insurance rates on the plane by approximately 15 per cent.

In other money terms, total sales of the 747 have amounted to $3.6 billion, of which — by the end of 1972 —$1.3 billion will have been in export sales to other countries.

Building the aircraft has provided jobs for about 16,000 persons. Some 150 747s are routinely servicing 75 cities and have brought more than $90 million in commissions to travel agents. Surveys show that both pleasure and business travelers prefer the 747 over other planes and will wait to get a seat on it.

A flying Edsel the 747 ain't.

Etiquette Ain't Dead

Etiquette is dead, you say? Young people don't know the meaning of the word manners?

Be advised that in the second major revision since it was published in 1952, Amy Vanderbilt has found it necessary to add 120,000 words to her standard book on etiquette.

That's worth 200 printed pages, bringing the total to 960.

The butler, footman and ladies' maid are dead. Taking their place are sections on such things as how to behave in a sauna, the wearing of sunglasses, locker room speech (acceptable in the drawing room now) and the etiquette of snowmobiling.

As the old French saying doesn't have it, the more things change, the less they remain the same.

Beedy-Eyed Judges

Sometimes it seems as if nobody has any sense of civic responsibility anymore. Then along comes an item like this:

When Camelback Ski Area near Tannersville, Pa., announced a swimsuit-on-skis beauty contest this winter, twice as many volunteer judges signed up for the competition as did contestants.

Police Critic Blasted

Alf Olsen, re: your letter of April 24, concerning the shooting incident involving the Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove Police Depts.

May I bring to light a few facts omitted from your letter, and possibly from your copy of the paper when you read the story. 1. A law is a law, no matter how trivial you or I may think it is; if you don't like it, write your legislators. Don't take it out on the local cop. They don't make them, they only enforce them. 2. The officers involved fired on the truck and driver only after the same had attempted to run down an officer at a roadblock. I'm sure that if you or I persist in running from policemen pursuing us and try to run roadblocks, it won't be merely to avoid a citation for no license plate light. This may have led the involved officers to believe something was amiss and rather than risking some citizen's life who would probably bum rap him anyway, they chose to endanger their own in a high speed chase. In case you're wondering also, you don't have to show proof of age to be stopped, so if that "child" had killed someone eluding the officers, would they be any less dead because he was only 16?

These men deserve our support, fella. And I bet they get yours the next time some "16-year-old child" should run you off the road, steal your car or otherwise infringe on your rights.

Support your local police all the time, not only when they find your lost dog or help a kid in trouble; they have enough problems without people like you.

All Prices Jumping

The article in the April 24 Herald, "Spending More and Enjoying It less," has prompted this letter to the editor.

The article would have been much more thought provoking if instead of quoting prices on "loss leaders" and sale items, which is what makes up the weekly grocery ads; the author had done some research and gave everyday prices for comparison, not sale prices.

Two years ago we started buying meat by the half. All sale items are bought by the case of in large quantities, still in a short time of two years my weekly grocery bill has climbed to the point that I spend as much as I did when purchasing meat weekly. (Our family has not enlarged, but of course they are older.)

This points out that prices overall have climbed considerably, not just in meat, which was seven of the ten items you compared.

Let us hope that future articles in this series show some thought and a truer picture of the situation.

Word-A-Day

Business Today

by LeROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — A movement to move commuters in high-speed hovercrafts on waterways is gaining the interest of traffic engineers.

A Pawcatuck, Conn., firm, Transportation Technology Inc., is seeking to introduce a new kind of English hovercraft that looks like a catamaran into the United States.

John Kennedy, executive vice president of the firm, said a Portuguese firm has been operating two of the craft and has just ordered a third to ferry commuters to Lisbon over a five-mile water route that saves 100 miles of land travel. In all, 14 of the craft have been sold for commercial ferry use in England, Portugal, Italy and the Far East.

FORD, BACON & Davis Inc., a New York engineering firm, has raised the prospect of using hovercraft or hydrofoils as one way of solving what it called the "approaching ultimate traffic jam" in urban areas.

The company has a contract from the New Jersey Department of Transportation to do a feasibility study of three water routes into New York as a backup service or an alternate to bus and train service.

Kennedy said the English craft his company wants to introduce in the United States does not rise on stilts out of the water like a hydrofoil, nor does it resemble the conventional suacer shaped hovercraft with a flexible skirt. It rides close to the surface of the water and is powered conventionally by propellers driven by ordinary marine diesel engines with shafts angling out of the twin fiberglass hulls.

"This craft can cope with waves as high as 12 feet and the accompanying winds, which a conventional hovercraft with flexible skirt could not brave," Kennedy said.. But the craft is not amphibious like the conventional military hovercraft.

KENNEDY'S COMPANY is getting ready to manufacture the craft in the United States because present U.S. law forbids importation of hulls for commercial coastal or inland common carrier service.

In England, the craft have been tested in nighr use on the Thames River and elsewhere, and the British Department of Trade and Industry has found them safe for night traffic despite the high speed.

Kennedy said some large operators of fishing party boats are also interested in his catamaran hovercraft. "They figure the high speed will let them take two runs to the fishing grounds daily instead of one," he explained.

Truck Display Under Way At Tom Todd Chevy

Promotion of new and used trucks is under way at Tom Todd Chevrolet, 700 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

A caravan of truck transports carried 1972 Chevrolet trucks, pickups, vans and wagons and recreational vehicles to the site. More than 60 new vehicles are on display at the dealership through May 13.

An "Old West" theme will be emphasized during this promotion. Vehicles will be housed in special corrals. A chuck wagon will be set up for refreshments during the event, and free cowboy hats will be given away. Western-style entertainment will be featured during the weekend.

Pickup trucks of the 1½-ton variety, popular for camping use, will be featured. Hard-to-find models also are displayed, including the four-wheel drive Cheveolet Blazer and the El Camino model.

During this promotion the dealership will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., seven days a week. Additional information is available from Bill Bechtle, Tom Todd sales manager.

Stockholders Meet

The annual meeting of stockholders for the Universal Oil Products Co. will be held Tuesday in Chicago. The session will start at 11 a.m. in the Prudential Building assembly hall.

The election of four directors of the company for three-year terms is slated for the session. Other business may be called before the session meeting.

Kit, Repair Guide Make It Easy

'Beetle' Owners: Now You Can Handle Own Repairs

A do-it-yourself tool kit for Volkswagen owners is now available at VW dealers. It includes 21 quality hand tools for minor repairs on all Volkswagen models.

Also in stock is an Owner's Maintenance and Repair Guide for 1972 Beetles and Super Beetles, written in non-technical language for the home mechanic.

The tool kit (suggested retail $49.95) is custom-made and has the same equipment used by VW technicians. It contains sockets, wrenches, extensions, screwdrivers, pliers, wire gauges, feeler blade and ratchet.

Another kit feature: a tube of waterless hand cleaner and cloth for those emergency repairs on the road.

The compact pouch, easily kept in the glove compartment or under a seat, has individual holders for each tool.

"We found that many Beetle owners did their own repairs — or attempted to," a VW spokesman said. "But often they didn't know what tools to select. The kit solves that."

THE OWNER'S Maintenance and Repair Guide is a 137-page paperback book with step-by-step instructions and illustrations. Only those items in the tool kit are required to do any of the repairs noted in the guide.

Many of the instructions are given in three or four steps. For example, to remove an oil strainer: "(1) Using the 10mm offset box wrench, remove six cap nuts holding oil strainer cover plate. Discard the six copper washers under the nuts. (2) Remove cover plate and oil strainer. (3) Remove and discard paper gaskets. Make sure all traces of gaskets are removed from strainer. (4) Wash strainer in suitable solvent."

Equally important, the guide tells how to reinstall the new strainer.

Even the most novice mechanic gets consideration, as evidenced by the page on how to change a flat tire. A special chapter is included on Beetle beauty care, with tips on cleaning leatherette, touching-up paint and similar maintenance.

Net sales were $154,935,000, up 20 per cent from $128,808,000 for the first quarter of 1971. Net earnings were $7,448,000, up 41 per cent from $5,273,000 for the same three month period a year ago.

Net earnings per share were 22 cents, up 38 per cent from 16 cents for the comparable period a year ago.

Arnar-Stone Laboratories in Mount Prospect is a subsidiary of the corporation.

Blue Cross

Illinois Blue Cross set records in benefits paid to members, total income and in its Medicare operations during 1971.

In an annual report to subscribers, Blue Cross said it provided its members with $299,235,000 in benefits last year, an increase of approximately $48 million over the previous year. He said there were 944,131 claims paid in 1971, compared with 833,569 in 1970.

Total income received by the company in 1971 was $319,106,000, compared with $261,426,000 in 1970. Blue Cross said it ended 1971 with a cash surplus of about $3 million, reversing the pattern of operating losses that marked the previous three years.

Blue Cross attributed the improvement in operations during 1971 to new or improved cost containment programs.

Northwest Industries

Net earnings of Northwest Industries Inc., the first quarter of 1972 were substantially higher than in the comparable year-earlier period and established a first quarter record.

First quarter earnings rose to $9,713,000 from $7,482,000 in the first quarter of 1971. After provision for preferred dividends, 1972 first quarter earnings per outstanding common share increased to 60 cents, compared with 31 cents in the 1971 first quarter.

Assuming dilution, earnings per outstanding common share were 49 cents in the first quarter. There was no dilution in the year-earlier period because of the level of earnings.

The firm said the sale by its Subsidiary, Chicago and North Western Ry. Co., of its transportation assets to a railway employe-owned company, approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, is expected to be consummated by the end of the second quarter.

Seven-Up Co.

The Seven-Up Co. had net earnings of $2,536,985, or 23 cents a share, for the first quarter of 1972.

The figures were increases over $2,171,673, or 19.5 cents a share, for the same quarter last year. Sales increased from $23,335,174 to $25,478,711.

The Lighter Side

Let's Honor Forgotten Man–The Also Ran

by DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Picture, if you will, a young Spiro Agnew recumbent upon the hearth, gazing abstractedly into the fireplace and dreaming that some day he will grow up to be vice president.

Quick, now, what is wrong with that picture?

The fallacy, you undoubtedly have perceived, is in the magnitude of the fantasy. Cloudland USA simply is not zoned for such low level air castles.

You may be certain that the gingerbread dreams of a sweet kid from Towson, Md., would never have cast him in a No. 2 role, such as the vice presidency.

If Agnew was given to youthful reveries, he quite likely dreamed of growing up to be the chief executive of Baltimore County.

All of which is a pity.

FOR AS LONG as the Great American Dream arbitrarily excludes runners-up, deputies, understudies and other types of subalterns, our country will continue to be plagued with massive outbreaks of misplaced ambition.

It is good that one government institution, the National Portrait Gallery, has finally recognized the need to glorify second place.

In a new exhibition titled "If Elected . . ." the Gallery is paying tribute to the nation's unsuccessful candidates for president during the years 1796-1968.

I attended a preview of the exhibition this week and I don't mind saying that standing there in the hallowed presence of so many illustrious losers was truly inspirational.

It's the sort of thing that makes one proud to be an also-ran.

Gazing upon the likenesses of Charles Pinckney, Rufus King, William Wirt, Neal Dow, James G. Birney and Gerrit Smith renews your faith in second fiddlers.

YOU LEAVE THE gallery with an almost irresistible urge to rush out to the airport and rent a car from Avis.

The exhibition, I trust, will be the beginning of a national movement to improve the image of underlings.

Perhaps the gallery will follow it up with an exhibition honoring America's distinguished roster of unsuccessful vice presidential candidates.

The ultimate goal, of course, is to bring about a better balance of aspirations.

The late John Foster Dulles is said to have experienced boyhood longings to become secretary of state. Some day perhaps an American lad will dream of becoming deputy assistant secretary for European affairs.

Should that come about, Alf Landon will not have run in vain.

Preschool Swim Growing At 'Y'

The preschool swim program at Northwest Suburban YMCA, 300 E. Northwest Hwy. in Des Plaines, continues to grow. Forty-one classes from ages 9 months to 5 years are currently being taught with approximately 950 chiddren. Twenty classes with children between 6 and 7 are being conducted with approximately 480 children enrolled.

"It is important that children exercise their muscles and have as much movement education as possible at the earliest age," according to Nicki Doehler, aquatic program director.

Ski and water orientation and learning to enjoy the water can happen at an early age. Coordination of strokes and swimming skill occurs with older preschoolers. The ideal age for teaching children to swim is between 5 and 7, although some children learn to swim effectively earlier.

Liberal Religious Live Their 'Own Thing'

by DOROTHY OLIVER

Freedom.

Individualism.

Do your own thing.

The words sound appropriate when espoused by blacks on the way to equality, women on the way to liberation or the young on the way to changing society.

Today these words are flowing from the mouths of a group formerly noted for their identity as a community and their simple, submissive nature. Appropriate or not these words fit nicely into the vocabulary of the new religious — the nuns of the '70s.

One of the most liberal orders, the School Sisters of St. Francis, which has nuns serving in the Northwest suburbs, has undergone radical change since 1966, a year after Vatican Council II directed the religious world to re-examine the intentions of their founders, learn about contemporary social life, and adapt clothing and work to time and place for the greatest benefit of the church.

SISTER FRANCIS Borgia Rothluebber took the Council's mandate seriously and set about to free the School Sisters, a teaching and nursing order, to make the most of their God-given gifts.

Sister Francis was elected "president" by the sisters (her former title was Mother Superior) and four assistants were also elected to share her authority in running tht order. Committees were set up to discuss the roads of change, sisters voted in or out the proposals and new policies were instituted.

By 1969 the School Sisters, a worldwide order of 3,000, had passed the point where many orders remain today. Their traditional habits were shortened, given a color change and finally dispensed with altogether in favor of lay clothes.

During 1969 they took another step forward. Pairs of sisters, groups of threes and even a few singles moved out of the institutions they lived and worked in. It was no longer a question of where a sister was going to be assigned but rather where she felt her talents could be put to the greatest uses. The community gave approval to each of the moves, but it remained an individual decision where a sister would go.

NOW, NO LONGER geographically bound to their community and with few sisters in the order still residing in their convents, other changes have been made.

Women interested in joining the School Sisters contact sisters closest to them instead of the Mother House. Rather than young girls fresh out of grade school or high school, the majority of women seeking the religious life of service are more mature — often with several years of professional or school experience behind them.

Before taking final vows with the order, the affiliate's life is guided by the sisters she has contacted. For the next one and a half to three years she takes no vows and molds her life of service; after this she may make temporary vows. Nine years after her first vows she must make the decision to take final vows or leave the order.

The nun going into the School Sisters need never put on a habit or lead a structured community life. She is responsible for getting her own education, employment and living a life acceptable to the church.

SISTER JONEEN, who entered the order in 1961, calls herself one of the first of the new breed of nuns. "My group as a class thought of what the future of the community would be and it was a little more difficult for us to accept some of the rigidity of the order," she said as she relaxed in her Park Ridge apartment.

When the changes came she took to them easily. "I don't want to be held in reverence; I want to serve. Our community is showing their respect for the sisters as people by giving us responsibility for our lives and actions. We are living by our own values. We are being treated like adults," she said.

For Sister Danielle, who has been a part of the order for 24 years, each change meant setting aside the old, well-known and comfortable for the new.

"It was one way for many years and when it changed, I met what was presented to me. I felt I could be more effective," she said as she sat across the room from her roommate.

"Some of the sisters, especially those who were in even longer, found a certain security in the way things were," Sister Joneen added. "Every sister has made some change — either in the way they feel or the external ones. The change was optional to us all. There are still some who live in our Mother House in Milwaukee, but not many. We haven't set ourself apart from those who are more conservative and they accept us."

THE TWO CAME from a small hospital in Wisconsin to Lutheran General Hospital because they were looking for additional professional challenge and also to meet people who may not have met a religious before.

They found both at the Park Ridge hospital. After three years, "I still don't feel I've met all the challenges this hospital has to offer," Sister Joneen said.

"We've been able to approach people as we were never able to before," Sister Danielle added. "Most of the people we work with know we're sisters — both staff and patients. We explain who we are and why we are here and often what develops is very rewarding."

"Accepting us is harder for Catholics than for others," said Sister Joneen. "They have enough of the old church attitude to ask why we are in lay clothes or why we aren't working in a Catholic hospital. Part of our work is education. People are realizing it is a changing church."

NUNS HAVE ALWAYS been unfettered by family obligations, thus giving them a greater opportunity to serve where people with responsibilities may not be able to. Now, untied from the community, geographic boundaries and their structured life, they are free to serve even more.

"We are able to put more time — our whole lives — into being a true Christian," Sister Joneen said. "There is nothing that essential about our lives that we couldn't take into marriage. If we wanted another life, we wouldn't be in the community. There is nothing holding us to our life except us. The other is just not a part of the nature of the religious."

The exodus of sisters from communities hit a high point in the late '60s. The numbers leaving their vocation is tapering off, Sister Dannielle said adding, "The quantity is less but the quality is better."

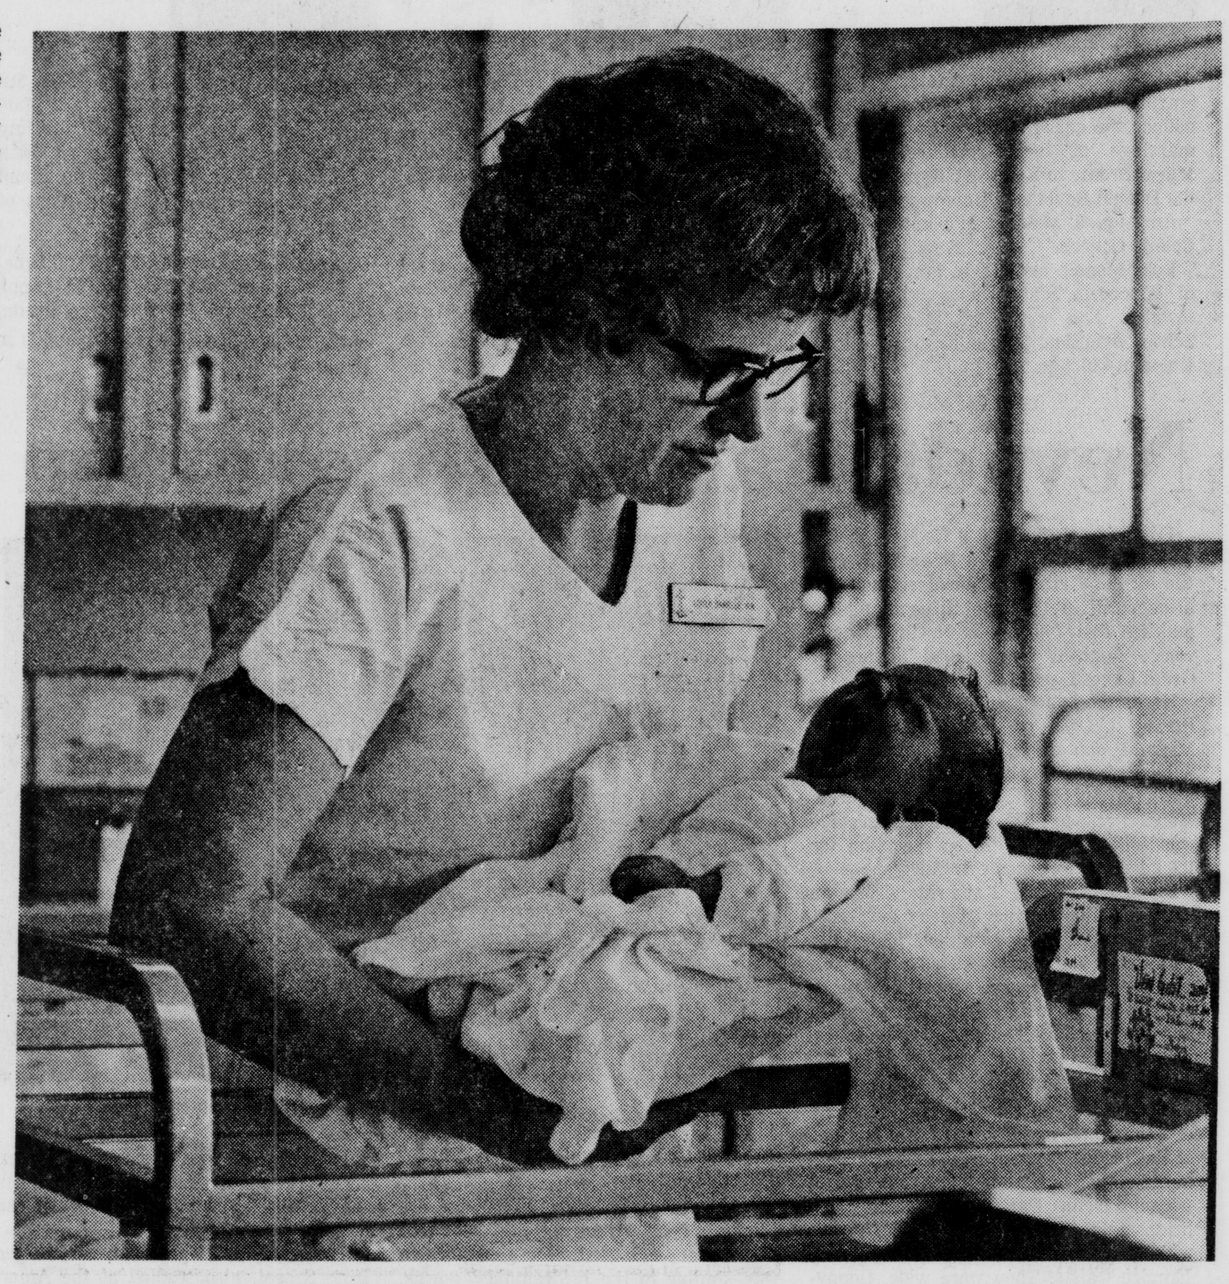
Neither has felt the temptation to leave their order, yet both admit they could not go back to the old way of life. Instead of looking back they look to the future.

"Our community is working at deepening what is now there," Sister Joneen said. "We've gone through about six years of experimenting, seeing what works. Now we are working on making our lives more meaningful in the church.

"THE CHURCH is taking stands on world issues. We get notes from the social concerns committee of our order suggesting how we can make ourselves aware of what good can be done. It's a way of expanding the religious roles of sisters," she continued.

"Our founding sisters came from Germany 100 years ago to meet the needs they saw at that time," Sister Danielle said. "They constantly changed their purposes and focus, depending on what they saw that needed to be done. We use the foundresses' example today. We are spreading out — opening the doors."

"We're taking a look at what's all around us," Sister Joneen added. "We've been getting ourselves together for six years; now we want to include the whole world."



THE HABIT HAS BEEN replaced with hospital white at work and lay clothing at home, the convent for an apartment, the structured life for one of freedom. Sister Danielle, R.N., has met the challenges of change in her 24 years as a nun and now happily works in the maternity ward of Lutheran General Hospital.

Suburban Living

Especially for the Family

SISTER JONEEN is a long way from the secure sheltered atmosphere walls of her Mother House in Miwaukee — both geographically and intellectually. For three years she has lived in a Park Ridge apartment and worked as a nutritionist at Lutheran General Hospital as one of the "new breed of nuns."

Ashley Montagu Challenges Women

Turn 'People' Into Human Beings

by DOROTHY OLIVER

There are people and there are human beings, according to Ashley Montagu, internationally known anthropologist and author.

People react.

Human beings respond.

People solve social problems by dropping bombs, killing; people strive for and measure themselves by material things; people turn away from the needs of others in non-involvement.

Human beings care; they are warm and loving; they enable others to live; they fulfill themselves, explore their potentialities.

Becoming a human being is what life is all about.

Molding people into human beings is the challenge facing women, especially mothers, today, said Montagu as he spoke last week at the fifth anniversary celebration of Greenerfields Unlimited, a continuing education center for women with offices in Northfield.

"WHEN WE REALIZE the actual role of the sexes in society, we will discover that women are at the basis of all society and all human values," Montagu said, adding that we are in a period of re-evaluating attitudes about the sexes and should go back historically to understand why present roles came to be.

"In all species women are the carriers, deliverers and carers of the young. A child learns from the way in which his mother responds," he said.

A child is born in a sterile hospital delivery room, taken from his mother and placed in a nursery, allowed to be with his mother for limited periods of time and that only when the rigid schedule permits.

"This is the way to begin murdering a human being and turning him into a p e o p l e , ' ' Montagu argued. "Mother should behave towards her child as she is biologically made to. She should be standing by, supportive and loving."

WE MAY BE BEING taken in by what others say is the best rather than by what is biologically natural, right and essential, he declared.

"It is very important for women to understand and not be taken in by the extremists in the (woman's liberation) movement," he asserted. "There are no substitutes and never will be for mothers. Day care centers are no replacement for mother love . . . The extremists are right about most other things but not about putting a baby and a bottle in a day care center."

A baby's only language is through his skin, Montagu continued. He promoted breast feeding or, when it is impossible, bottle feeding a baby in a way that would most closely resemble breast feeding.

"Babies learn to see and hear by their early tactile experiences," he said, citing research that supports his claim. "What goes on from the moment a baby is born in relation to his mother will form the rest of his life.

"HUMAN BEINGS are on this earth, and I can tell you this in complete certainty as an anthropologist and scientist, to live as if to live and love is one. And what is the definition of love? Love is the kind of relationship that exists between a mother and child. It is reciprocal love," he said.

Men and women are now in a state of confusion on their attitudes, Montagu said. "It is easier to develop out of confusion than out of error. We must really become clear about what human beings are on this earth for. Women have a critical position in relating to this problem. Women make people human beings."

All women can work towards changing people into human beings with all other people, not only their children, he said.

MONTAGU CITED a number of instances when he had reached out to others and brought about warm, human responses. He told of saying good morning to a cold, silent elevator operator who never spoke to anyone and being laughed at by his colleagues for this show of friendship. Within weeks Montagu and the man were speaking to each other each morning and evening, and a human relationship had begun.

"We are on this earth . . . to grow and develop as warm loving human beings, loving to other human beings and to nature," he said. "You have to do this or you've written yourself out of the human race. You're not a human, you're a people."

Montagu, author of "The Natural Superiority of Women," also discussed how women got to where they are today. He pointed out that the period during World War I, when women had to fill male roles while the men were off to war, was the beginning of the end of the mythology dealing with the inferiority of women to men.

THERE ARE NATURAL differences between males and females, he said. Males are muscularly stronger, but women are constitutionally stronger, live longer and are able to "fend off assaults by the environment" better. Now that most labor is done by machines, the need for muscular strength has diminished and we must re-evaluate differences between the sexes, he declared.

Sexual differences are being challenged; entrenched masculine values and attitudes towards women are also being challenged, he said.

"These challenges are causing a very real revolution in males' attitudes towards females and females' attitudes about themselves.

"Whatever the differences are between males and females, they are all human beings. Man should not be required to kill himself in the way he does," he said, adding that most men suffer from all sorts of disorders because of the role they take.

"What can I do, you ask. It is very simple," he continued. "The changes we are going to make in people and in the world are not going to be made in Washington, D.C., or the United Nations. They will be made in ourselves. We can make ourselves over into what we ought to be. We can enable others to live, enlarge their capacity to fulfill themselves as human beings.

"What is happening to women is a very positive thing," he said.

They Cast Votes For Marriage

Monnie Frenz

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Adamczyk, 3000 Starling Lane, Rolling Meadows, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Monnie Marie Frenz, to Kevin W. Boylan, son of the Donald Boylans of Homewood, Ill.

An Aug. 5 wedding is planned in St. Colette Church.

Both Monnie and Kevin are graduates of Wisconsin State University at Whitewater. She works at Pleasant Hill School, Palatine, and he is with Western Union in Chicago.

Gail Schultz

Gail Schultz is engaged to Sandor Horky Jr., son of the Sandor Horkys of Clark, N. J., according to an announcement by her mother, Mrs. Leaetta Schultz of Schaumburg. The couple's wedding is planned for 1973.

Gail, a '69 graduate of Conant High School, works at Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove. Her fiance is a student at Lea College, Albert Lea, Minn., where he is affiliated with Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

Susan Bornhoeft

Seniors at Iowa State University, Susan Beth Bornhoeft and Robert E. Martinson, are engaged and planning a July 29 wedding. Their parents are the Jack H. Bornhoefts of 503 S. HiLusi, Mount Prospect, and the M. E. Martinsons of Bemidji, Minn.

Susan is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega Sorority and her fiance with Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. They will be graduating this month on the Iowa campus in Ames.

Margaret Hains

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Hains Jr. of Gales Ferry, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Lee, to Gregory L. Monti, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy J. Monti of Arlington Heights.

The wedding is planned for June 17.

Margaret lives in Chicago as a stewardess for United Air Lines. She previously studied at St. Leo College in Florida. Her fiance, a graduate of St. Viator High School and St. Joseph College, Rensselaer, Ind., is employed by Monti, Cassady and Associates. Inc., Chicago. He also served two years in the U. S. Army and worked on a master's degree at Northern Illinois University.

Mirror A Hazard

A safety-minded home decorator does not place a mirror at the foot of a staircase. The mirror might be decorative, but its' also a potential hazard because it can detract from the business of walking down stairs. Many persons are tempted to watch their reflection instead of where they should be putting their feet.

Nevada Ranch Honeymoon

Following their April 8 wedding and a week's honeymoon on a Nevada Ranch, the former Katherine Ann Ursin and her bridegroom, T. Michael Breneman, are making their home in North Chicago where Michael is stationed at nearby Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Katherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Ursin of Mount Prospect, and Michael, son of Mrs. C. E. Breneman, Sylvania, Ohio, were married at 4:30 p.m. in St. Mark Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect. The double ring service was followed by a dinner reception for 150 guests at Petricca's in Chicago.

For her wedding Katherine chose an ivory satin gown with organdy overskirt, trimmed along the hem and long train with daisy Venise lace. Daisies were also scattered on her gown. A petal bow headpiece trimmed with pearls held her veil, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, white daisies, pink roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and purple statice.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Michael Breneman

DEBORA URSIN was her sister's maid of honor, and her sister, Lynda was one of the bridesmaids. Nancy Tanis, Arlington Heights, and Madeline Suvada, a cousin from Barrington, were also bridesmaids. The girls wore pink gowns with daisy trim at the cuffs, bodice and Empire waists. They wore wide, floppy-brimmed hats with long ribbons, and carried nosegays of pink carnations, pink roses and white and yellow daisies. Debora's gown was in light pink, the others in hot pink.

As flower girl, 2-year-old DeAnn Anderson, a cousin from Palatine, scattered petals from a basket. Her gown, which was similar to the bridesmaids' gowns, was made by the bride. DeAnn's 6-year-old brother Mark was ring bearer.

Best man was the groom's brother James of Sylvania, and ushers were Evan Rosenow, Earl Falast and Bill Grubb, all Navy men stationed at Great Lakes.

Katherine, a '69 graduate of Prospect High School, also studied at the American School of Beauty Culture. Her bridegroom studied a year at Penta Technical College.

Peggy Albertson, Groom To Keep On Traveling

Most newlyweds take a honeymoon to some attractive vacation spot and afterwards settle down to live and work in one particular area. But not so with a recently married couple, Peggy Jane Albertson of Arlington Heights and Richard Randall Barnes of Marion, Ohio.

They did have a honeymoon, in Orlando, Fla., but are continuing to travel all around the United States and Canada. This will be their way of life, because the groom is an internal auditor for the Bendix Corp. of Southfield, Mich. First stop is Montreal, Canada.

They were married the morning of April 8 in St. Simon Episcopal Church, Arlington Heights, then received 125 guests at a luncheon and afternoon party at the Millionaires Club in Niles.

PEGGY IS THE daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin R. Albertson, 406 W. Noyes, Arlington, and met her bridegroom when they were freshmen at Bowling Green State University in Ohio. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grady Barnes of Marion.

For the double ring wedding, the bride wore a sheer white gown and matching Camelot bonnet trimmed with white lace and pale pink satin ribbon. Rows of the lace and ribbon etched the Empire bodice, the long sleeves and the A-line skirt and train. The same accent covered the bonnet, which was attached to a short bouffant veil. The bride's bouquet was of pink roses.

Her sister Jo Louise was maid of honor, and the groom's brother Gerald was his best man. Also in the wedding party were three bridesmaids and three ushers. The girls were Susan Short, Arlington Heights; Nancy Schwanger, Toledo, Ohio; and Tracye Van Riper, Cincinnati. Ushers were Philip Leeman, Port Clinton, Ohio; and the couple's brothers, Thomas Barnes of Austin, Texas, and James Albertson, Granite City, Ill.

THE BRIDE'S attendants appeared in pink and white attire. The maid of honor's dress was styled with a sheer white puckered bodice edged in lace and a pink skirt. With it she wore a pink shawl and carried two pink roses, one red rose and baby's breath tied with white ribbons.

The bridesmaids dresses matched the maid of honors' in style but were all in pink with white shawls over the shoulders. The girls made their own gowns.

While attending Bowling Green State, Peggy was affiliated with Alpha Phi Sorority and Dick with Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. She is a graduate of Prospect High School and did some graduate work at Bowling Green.

Birth Notes

Great-Great-Grandpa Gives Advice

Most babies who enter the world are lucky to have all four of their grandparents living nearby. But imagine the good fortune of newcomer Brandon Byron Boand of Barrington — he also has four great-grandparents AND a great-great-grandfather in the area.

Frank Panzica of Palatine is the proud great-great-grandfather of Brandon and his brother, Stephen Anthony, 3. Mr. Panzica will be 90 in October.

Upon seeing Brandon for the first time last weekend, he still had a few words of advice to the baby's parents, relating several good old-fashioned remedies for keeping him healthy.

BRANDON WAS born April 4 in Northwest Community Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bard Boand of Cuba Road, Barrington. His four grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pease, Mrs. Paul Corbett and Charles Boand, also live in Barrington.

Brandon's great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Morici of Palatine, Mrs. Marianne Pease of Chicago and Mrs. Phoebe Bard of Barrington.

The new baby weighed 8 pounds 14 ounces.

NORTHWEST COMMUNITY

Patricia Dee Davis was born April 24 to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Davis, 1103 S. Mercury, Schaumburg. Their second child, she is a sister to Danny, 3, and a granddaughter for Mr. and Mrs. Russel Lanzendorf of Schaumburg and Mr. and Mrs. L. Rhodes of Torrence, Calif. Patricia's birthweight was 6 pounds 10 ounces.

Amy Lynn Stavoe is daughter No. 3 for Mr. and Mrs. Ron Stavoe, Mount Prospect. They are also parents of Laura, 7, and Sandy, 5. Amy arrived April 24, weighing 7 pounds 6½ ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Bedingfield of Arlington Heights and Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Stavoe of Chicago.

Christopher Brandon Perkinson's arrival April 24 made first-time parents of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Perkinson, 227 Carpenter, Palatine. He weighed 5 pounds 3 ounces. Mark Perkinson of Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Pensey of Storm Lake, Iowa, are the grandparents.

Michelle Alice Berg is the first child for Mr. and Mrs. Thom C. Berg, 1706 Winthrop Court, Schaumburg. She was born April 24, weighing 5 pounds 14½ ounces. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Geffe of Palatine and Mr. and Mrs. Trygve Berg of Des Plaines are the grandparents.

Eric Lee Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry L. Myers, 2400 Algonquin Road, Rolling Meadows, is their first child. He weighed 6 pounds 4 ounces at birth April 25. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Covert, Carthage, Ill., and Mrs. Fred Weinberg, Augusta, Ill.

HOLY FAMILY

Elizabeth Anne Pace arrived April 23 for Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee Pace, 1974 N. Huntington Blvd., Hoffman Estates. The 8 pound 1½ ounce newcomer is their first child. Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Walker of Merewether Heights, Australia, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Pace of El Dorado Springs, Mo., are her grandparents.

ALEXIAN BROTHERS

Dana Lynn Zimmer, third child for Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Zimmer, 616 Walnut Lane, Schaumburg, was born April 12. She weighed 8 pounds 15 ounces. Robert, 3, and Kristie, 18 months old, are the other Zimmer children. Their grandparents are the Chester Szymczyks of Elmhurst and the Jacob Zimmers of Bensenville.

LUTHERAN GENERAL

Steven Louis Mattus is the name of the third in a trio of sons in the Kenneth W. Mattus home at 820 Silver Rock Lane, Buffalo Grove. Born April 18, he weighed 7 pounds ½ ounce. Jeff, 4, and Bill, 2, are his brothers. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Muschany and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mattus, all of St Louis, Mo.

Sheryl Renee Stobe's birth took place April 21 and she weighed 8 pounds 1 ounce. The baby is the second child for Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Stobe, 213 S. George St., Mount Prospect. Kenneth Roy, 4, is their son. Grandparents of the two children are Mrs. Anna Stobe of Des Plaines and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Geiman of Monroe, Mich.

Jeffrey Carothers Houdek is the newcomer in the James D. Houdek family of 2406 Algonquin Pkwy., Rolling Meadows. The April 23 arrival is a brother for Dean J., who will be 3 in July. Grandparents of the boys are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Carothers of Arlington Heights and the Vincent Houdeks of Fox Lake. Jeffrey's birthweight was 9 pounds 13½ ounces.

Clipped Wings Lunch, Show Aim To Help A Child Grow

"Help A Child Grow" is the theme of the spring luncheon and fashion show slated Saturday, May 20, by Chicago Chapter of Trans World Airlines Clipped Wings. The group of former stewardesses has arranged to have the annual event at Arlington Park Towers, with fashions from Bonwit Teller.

Besides the parade of fashions, special guest Dr. Lynne Levitsky, assistant professor of pediatrics at the University of Illinois Hospital, will speak on recent developments in the field of human growth. TWA Clipped Wings are especially interested in child growth problems, giving active support to Human Growth, Inc., a foundation doing research in that area.

ANOTHER SPECIAL guest at the luncheon will be Mrs. Russell Gould of Elgin, who has been working with the foundation for 18 months and has received help for her son Jimmy in the form of growth hormone extracted from human pituitary glands.

Proceeds from the afternoon will go to Human Growth, Inc.

The Clipped Wings and their guests will have lunch at 1 p.m. following a cocktail hour, and at 2:15 the fashion show begins.

Among the members modeling will be the president, Mrs. Joseph Kafka of Palatine, and Mrs. Karl Shuart of Arlington Heights.

Tickets, at $8 each, are available from all chapter members and must be purchased by Friday, May 12. Mrs. John O'Mara, 439-0408, can be called for details.

Showhouse Open Through May 21

Designers' Showhouse, a benefit for the Park Ridge School for Girls, opened Monday with ideas galore from the most exquisite of antiques to the newest items on the home furnishings market.

As in other years leading interior designers have transformed a gracious colonial house into a showcase of home fashion. A "Potpourri" boutique with gift items, free coffee and cookies and a garage sale which offers furnishings and furniture from the studios of noted interior designers are other features of Designers' Showhouse.

Located at 1125 Mohawk, Indian Hill Estates, Wilmette, the Showhouse is open to the public daily from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. through Sunday, May 21. Friday evenings will be "Meet the Decorators Night" when visitors will be able to discuss decorating ideas with the Showhouse designers.

The Potting Shed

by Mary B. Good

At the mention of the words "elm tree," what's the first thing that pops into your head? Dutch elm disease maybe?

The poor old elm has a terrible public image, sort of the same unpopularity as box elder or the tree of heaven (commonly called "the stink tree").

But just as there is a cause for every crusader, so the elm tree has its legion of supporters.

The Elm Research Institute is a group devoted to saving the American elm from extinction.

Headquartered in Waldwick, N. J., the group has Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa lending his name as honorary national chairman. Elm Research promotes specialized elm care. Barring bugs, pollution and the bulldozer, the life expectancy of an elm is supposed to be 300 years. (Must be rare.)

SINCE ELMS ARE going by the wayside fast and furiously, the Elm Research Institute wants to know where all the big elms are located. They hope that anyone who has an elm tree which measures 10 feet or more in circumference at eye height will contact them. Then they will present the owner a placque designating his elm as a historic landmark and enter it in their honor roll of elms.

"Wildflower Gardening" — propagating and culture of woodland flowers and ferns and the chance to plan, plant and maintain the Morton Outpost garden.

"BOTANICAL ILLUSTRATION" — spring art class will help plan and prepare (with ink drawings) a guide to trees for the Illinois Trees Nature Trail.

"Sprint Flora" — learning names of the spring bloomers.

"Lichen Hikin" — a field trip to Devil's Lake, Wis.

Don't Bring The Goodies Tonight!

Don't bring your baked goods to tonight's meeting of St. Joseph the Worker CCW meetings! They might get stale by Sunday when the goodies will be sold at the Senior Citizens' Festival at Addolorata Villa.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: Perhaps you know about this great little household hint, but just in case: If you place a bay leaf in the container with flour, grits, spaghetti, any or all sorts of pasta, you'll never be bothered with weevils. I've practiced this habit faithfully for 15 years and have never seen one of these little weevils in all that time. — Kathryn B. Walker.

Can I assume that you put these susceptible cereal or starchy foods in containers just as soon as opened? Adding the bay leaf would be just further protection. While the bay leaf repels the weevil, I think your good housekeeping habits have something to do with the absence of the pesky bug.

Dear Dorothy: Your account of the magnet ruining the color of the TV set reminded me of my own experience. I learned what happens when after the third time my expensive watch was in for repair, the jeweler asked if it was possible I had a magnet around. Of course, I did. As a dealer who has to check out brass at sales, I always have one in my purse. So you can see that they play havoc with more things than TV sets. —Mrs. Lou Ella Head.

Dear Dorothy: Was about to serve Eggs Benedict to the family — seven in all — Sunday morning. Never a failure with the hollandaise in all the years I'd been making it but this time it curdled! My mind was completely blank on what to do when one of the younger set wandered in and she had the answer. She said to get another bowl and add 1 tablespoon lemon juice to it. Then add 1 tablespoon of the curdled hollandaise, beating as you do, then slowly adding the rest of the lovely stuff (it's still good,curdled or not, even if not so attractive). It came out perfectly — a little more lemony, perhaps, but a success. — Mrs. Fred Friendly.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Elk Grove Posts Top MSL Marks; Prospect Trackmen Top Arlington

Track & Field Editor

You might say it was letdown time collectively for Mid-Suburban League track teams in their dual meets in the early part of this week.

Elk Grove was somewhat an exception to this rule since the Grenadiers posted the best marks of the conference in six of 15 events for five meets held Monday and Tuesday.

But as a whole, times, distances and heights were not improved over previous efforts as the league teams switched from triangulars to duals in competition with one another.

Not a single Herald area best was recorded in Monday's and Tuesday's meets, the first time that has been the case all season. In fact, not even a mark ranking second in the area was turned in. There were two showings that ranked third and one which was fourth.

Elk Grove, though, showed that it was not about to let up after its impressive first place (by a wide margin) in the 10-team Barrington Invitational Saturday. The Grenadiers parlayed some fine individual figures into an 86-39 romp over Fremd, a team considered no slouch.

But other teams had probably been at a mental and physical peak for big weekend meets — the power-packed Prospect Invitational and Palatine Relays. So efforts on the whole were below the previous week.

In a pair of meets moved up a day from the original schedule to Monday, Conant won easily with 83 points to Schaumburg's 34 (non-league Lake Park also entered and scored 41) and Hersey had no trouble with Forest View, 88-39.

The other two meets Tuesday saw Wheeling crush Rolling Meadows 98-28 and Prospect defeat Arlington 71½-56½. The scheduled Palatine-Glenbard North meet was cancelled because of a heavy Pirate schedule.

The Grenadier showings which topped the conference for the five get-togethers were Brian Powell's 9:38.1 in the two-mile run, Randy Stenberg's :15.6 in the 120-Yard high hurdles, Jeff Schroeder's :10.3 in the 100-yard dash, Dave Jensen's :20.0 in the low hurdles, Jim Leopardo's 149-6 in the discus throw and Warren Jacobson's 6-2 in the high jump (tied by Fremd's Howie McCarthy and Hersey's Rich Hammesfahr, the latter setting a school record).

Others topping the MSL were Tom Jarm of Arlington with 2:00.5 in the 880-yard run, George Busse of Prospect with :52.0 in the 440-yard dash, Steve Inbody of Fremd with 4:33.4 in the mile run, George Swegles of Conant with :23.1 in the 220-yard dash, Dave Kuntz of Hersey with 20-6¾ in the long jump, Mark Chidley of Arlington with 52-9¼ in the shot put and Gerald McGlothlin of Wheeling with 12-6 in the pole vault.

Conant was the best in both relays with 1:35.7 in the 880 and 2:32.0 in the mile. The latter mark and Jensen's 20-flat in the low hurdles made third place on the area honor roll and Swegles' 220 time earned fourth for the year.

Recording their best marks of the year were Stenberg in the high hurdles, McGlothlin in the pole vault and Conant in both relays as well as Hammesfahr's high jump. Chidley and Leopardo previously made the best weights tosses in the area so far (see honor roll tomorrow).

Elk Grove dominated Fremd with firsts in 12 of 15 events. Schroeder was the individual star with three first places all by himself, adding a :23.8 in the 220 and 20-3½ in the long jump to his :10.3 100.

Jensen and Stenberg traded firsts and seconds in the hurdles. Other winning Grenadiers were Powell's two-mile of 9:38.1, Damian Archbold with 2:02.3 in the half-mile, Scott Dorsey with :53.4 in the quarter, Jacobson's 6-2 high jump, Leopardo's 149-6 discus toss and the 880 relay unit with 1:35.9.

Fremd's only firsts were by Inbody with his 4:33.4 mile, Jerry Finis with 49-10¼ in the shot and the mile relay with 3:39.5.

Conant had little trouble in a meet under its lights as it grabbed nine first places to three each for Schaumburg and Lake Park. The Cougars were paced by the aforementioned relays times with seven different individuals also winning.

They were: Swegles with :10.6 in the 100, Russ Windholz with 49-3½ in the shot, John Hughett with 18-1 in the long jump, Bill Anderson with 113-3½ in discus, Rick Phillips with 6-½ in high jump, Rich Newmann with :21.7 in the low hurdles and Scott Clark with 12-0 in pole vault.

Distance man Arnie Jackson fetched two of the Saxons' three victories with 9:53.5 in the two-mile and 4:39.5 in the mile. Bill Casper got the other with :15.9 in the high hurdles.

Hersey also grabbed 12 first places in its rout of Forest View. The Huskies' Kuntz and the Falcons' Dean Ballotti were double winners. Kuntz added a :10.5 in the 100 to his 20-6¾ long jump and Ballotti ruled the hurdles — the highs in :15.9 and the lows in :22.1.

Hersey's other winners were John Jones with 10:44.4 in the two-mile (nipping teammate Tom Burridge by .1), Tom Black with :54.0 in the 440, Frank Walsworth with 4:42.4 in the mile, Mark Vipond with :24.2 in the 220, Phil Immel with 117-9½ in the discus, Scott Robertson with 48-6½ in the shot, Hammesfarh with his record 6-2 in the high jump and Steve Sucher with 12-0 in the pole vault.

Forest View's only other winner aside from Ballotti was Bill Bates with 2:01.0 in the half-mile. Hersey ruled both relays with 1:36.2 in the 880 and 3:41.7 in the mile.

Wheeling racked up 11 firsts to four for Rolling Meadows in their dual. Kevin Danielson was the individual standout with three first places — :10.6 in the 100, :24.1 in the 220 and 19-0 in the long jump.

Dave Poole was a double winner for the 'Cats in the hurdles, turning in a :17.5 in the highs and :23.2 in the lows. Other Wheeling winners were Bill Schumann with 2:02.6 in the half-mile, Mike Baillargeon with 49-2 in the shot, McGlothlin's 12-6 vault, Dave Helmer with 4:45.8 in the mile, and the relay units — 1.37.3 in the 880 and 3:47.7 in the mile.

Rolling Meadows got wins from Steve Balogh with 5-8 in the high jump, Bob Sloan with 131-3 in the discus, J. R. Kreutzer with 10:16.2 in the two-mile and Jeff Kosmoski with :54.1 in the 440.

Prospect got past Arlington, despite having one less first place than the Cardinals, in a battle between two teams which had not yet won in the conference.

Prospect hurdler Rich Fox and Arlington jumper Dave Mills were double winners. Fox took the high hurdles in :16.8 and the lows in :22.5, while Mills won the long jump with 19-7 and tied teammate Steve Klein for the high jump triumph with 5-6.

Also winning for Prospect were Tony Brocato with 10:08.8 in the two-mile, Paul Hacker with :10.5 in the 100, Busse with :52.0 in the 440 to lead the MSL, Ray Nee with :24.5 in the 220, the 880-yard relay unit with 1:37.7 and the mile quartet with 3:34.0.

Arlington's winners besides Mills, Klein and the above-mentioned marks of Jarm and Chidley were Greg Goble with EVERY YEAR ABOUT this time a letter arrives from Golf, Ill. The postmark alone is enough to brighten the rainy, dismal, dull, depressing days in April.

Just when I was wondering whether warmer weather would ever come, the envelope landed on my desk. The sky cleared. The sun sent the thermometer soaring. The air conditioner clicked on. Summer was finally here.

I never wait until the official words ("It's the first day of summer.") are uttered by Harry Volkman, that letter makes it all come true.

Enclosed is a duffer's delight a divotman's dream — an invitation to the Western Open's annual press day golf outing.

The 69th annual tournament will be held at Northbrook's Sunset Ridge Country Club June 19-25. In order to give the lush fairways a chance to recoup from the invasion of media golfers, this year's outing will be held next Monday. This should give the course plenty of time to recover.

Now that I'm feeling good, you readers need some sort of a boost, too. The way these first days of May have been going, I'm sure a lot of you are feeling a little down.

Quickly glancing through the pile of releases for this week, I picked out several that just might make your day:

How about getting the Time-Rite? It's not a new watch but a device that you can attach to your driver. It tells you whether you're breaking your wrists at the moment of impact. For $6.95 you can "improve both driver timing and power."

The release warns that the Time-Rite "is not intended for use with balls." If you hit a ball with it attached, you might break more than your wrists.

Area baseball players will be interested in this other new gimmick — an indoor, outdoor batting trainer. This gadget is guaranteed to "deliver a different pitch to the strike zone every time."

The release also adds that this $12.95 item is "endorsed by major league star Johnny Bench." I have Bench in the office pool. After checking the league leaders in hitting, runs batted in and homers, it doesn't seem as though this Cincinnati catcher used one during the winter.

Ever hear of anyone spearfishing a blue whale? It could happen on June 25. And in the most unlikely of places — Chicago's lake front.

The Blue Whales Diving Club, a skin and SCUBA diving group, is sponsoring the spearfishing rodeo. With the pollution problem plaguing Lake Michigan, there's a good chance a Blue Whale member, a kitchen sink or some other non-lake item will be speared in the murky water before a fish is sighted.

Fishing isn't a lost art in Florida, according to the publicity people for the 37th annual Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament. They wrote that two local fishermen caught a couple of real killers — an 80-pound shark and a 25-pound barracuda.

Since no pictures were with the release, who will swallow the story. Maybe these maneaters caught the fishermen.

While I'm on a sportsmen's kick, here another item you'll get a bang out of — "Hunting License Sales Climb To Record High."

This headline on the National Shooting Sports Foundation, Inc. release means that over a half-million new hunters roamed the countryside last year. This boosted the number of license holders to approximately 17 million, according to NSSF estimates.

Let's hope the animals are producing as fast as this huge increase in gun toters.

And let this also be a warning to you nature lovers who like to take strolls in the woods — it could be your last.

Speaking of dying, they say that laughing too hard can cause heart attacks. However, it's worth the risk when you attend the sixth annual NFL Players Association Awards Dinner on Sunday, June 4.

Master of Ceremonies is Buddy Hackett, one of the few natural comedians in the business. When you toss in the humor of Alex Karras and the cutting brilliance of Howard Cosell, both award presenters, you have a one heck of a side-holding night ahead of you.

All the proceeds will go to the Better Boys Foundation, a private, multi-purpose social agency for helping people meet urban problems. For information about reservations, call the foundation office at 782-7247.

One item that might be a pick-me-up for some but put a chill into my thoughts of summer was the Lake County Rifles release:

"The 1972 football season is approaching quickly. Reservations for season tickets are being taken immediately."

Burr!

Still another ice covered letter arrived from the Ski-Doo company in Canada. Its headline says, "Proper Summer Storage Essential To Keeping Snowmobile In Top Shape."

Why can't cooling articles like this come during the steamy days of July?

Showdown Coming For Golf Powers

Golf Editor

The guillotine will drop Monday for either Prospect, Palatine or Hersey. In a crucial double-dual slated for Mount Prospect Country Club, the three leaders in the Mid-Suburban League's golf derby will collide head-on in what should be a spectacular shootout.

The Knights will be protecting a spotless 8-0 record while both Hersey and Palatine check in with 7-1 credentials. The winner should go on to capture the dual-meet portion of the season.

Prospect added two more decisions to the win column Tuesday in whipping both Conant, 157-167, and Glenbard North, 157-202, despite a hole-in-one by Cougar Chris Dilger — the second in two days by members of the Mid-Suburban loop.

Hersey pulled into a dead heat with Palatine after burying Elk Grove, 168-180 and Schaumburg, 168-196. In the final match of the busy afternoon, Arlington hit its best effort of the season in earning a twin win over Fremd and Rolling Meadows.

KNIGHTS SURVIVE DILGER'S ACE

Prospect notched the area's best score of the day with its 157, but individually, Conant's Chris Dilger was the luckiest. The Cougar senior parked his wedge shot off the par three, 120-yard sixth hole at Golden Acres directly into the cup for an ace. Just one day earlier, Palatine freshman Bob Capoun experienced the same miracle at Chevy Chase.

The Knights, though, were too consistent as John vonBerg emerged with medalist honors with a two-over-par 38. Teammates Bob Horwath and Scott Januzik were right behind with 39's while Scott Anderson carded a 41. Don Tessmer's 43 rounded out the Prospect quintet.

Coonant emerged with a split that left them at 3-5 status in the MSL on the efforts of Dave Love's 39, Eric Brewner's Anderson's 46 with t1's by Jeff Malmborg Steve Shumski toured his home course in 48 strokes.

The winless Panthers tabulated Scott Anderson's 46 with 51's by Jeff Mal- and Lee Julian and 54's by Vince Errichiello and Paul Ochi. Glenbard still rests at 0-8 in the campaign.

The Prospect frosh-soph contingent maintained the blistering pace by their varsity counterparts by shooting 169 for a double verdict over Conant (190) and Glenbard (195).

HUSKIES IN ROMP

Once-beaten Hersey stormed past both Elk Grove's 180 and Schaumburg's 196 behind meet medalist Ray Peterson's 39. Steady Mike Henry contributed a 40, Al Glaser a 43, Kurt Miller a 46 and Dean Taggart a 47 as the Huskies cruised home in 168.

Elk Grove earned a split decision to rest at 3-5 in the race by combining the 44 of Ernie Woollard with 45's by Scott Walker and Keith Moore with a 46 by Todd Gander and 49 by Mark Okuma.

Schaumburg, whose record is the reciprocal of Hersey's 7-1, got its top round from Joe Castrogiovanni who signed a scorebard of 47. Mide Moscinski was a stroke back at 48 and Brian Masino two off at 49. Tim Tolmjanovich hit 52 and Leo Hoffman 54.

Hersey also ruled the frosh-soph roost with a total of 178 to Schaumburg's 205 and Elk Grove's 217.

CARDS FIRE SEASON LOW

Arlington hit the potential head coach Tom Walthouse always knew was there when it posted a sparkling 161 over its home Palatine Hills layout.

Card ace Chris Marszalek drew medalist honors after a round of 38, but Jeff Palmer added strong support with his 39. John Gibbel carded a 41 while Steve Sluka and Steve Ringel each toured in 43. The Redbirds evened their slate at 4-4.

Fremd, who also calls Palatine Hills its home course, hit 177 in earning a split for the afternoon. In attaining the same 4-4 mark as Arlington, the Vikings needed the 42 by Craig Falkenthal, 43 by Joe Murken, 44 by Lach Frew, 48 by Rich Beals and 51 by Pat Roxworthy.

Yearling Rolling Meadows soared to 199 after recording its best effort of 175 just a day earlier. The Mustangs' total was derived from Carl Schweikert's 49, 50's by Scott Werner, John Stahl and Tom Carlstrom and a 56 by Todd Sander.

Fremd captured a tense struggle on the frosh-soph level with a 185 to Arlington's 168 and Rolling Meadows' 208. In a freshman contest, the Cardinals thumped the Mustangs, 183-228.

Huskies, Knights Alone At Top; Meadows Triumphs

Hersey and Prospect battled their ways into sole possession of the division leads yesterday in Mid-Suburban League baseball.

The Huskies, who have rebounded effectively from a one-sided loss Monday, took care of Palatine, 5-2, in the North, and surging Prospect trimmed Conant, 5-4, in the South.

Rolling Meadows also grabbed some of the headlines yesterday with the school's first Mid-Suburban baseball triumph, a dramatic 9-8 victory over Wheeling.

HUSKIES TRIUMPH, 5-2

Hersey jumped on Palatine starter Mark Hughes for five runs in the top of the first inning and then coasted to their second victory in as many days, 5-2, on the Pirate diamond Wednesday.

Coupled with an Arlington setback, the triumph left the Huskies all alone atop the North Division of the Mid-Suburban League. Thier overall record is now 7-3.

Steve Heldt went the distance to gain the winning decision, his third against just one loss. He was stung for five safeties in the second frame when the hosts scored both of their runs but otherwise scattered only three singles in posting the win.

With one away Allie Weichers and Dave Zare put together back-to-back singles and then Mark Leonhard shot the guests ahead to stay by legging out a double. Brad Smith made it 2-0 next by singling in Zare and Steve Keubler followed up with another base hit which was bobbled in the outfield, allowing two more runs to score.

Pat Hart closed out the rally with a sacrifice fly to bring home Keubler.

Palatine had the benefit of two Hersey miscues as well as five base hits in the bottom of the second but could muster up only the pair of tallies. Andy Knotek reached on a single to open the inning and Hughes followed him to the paths on an error.

Another error advanced both runners and Steve Garoutte's single sent Knotek scampering across. Hughes followed him home while Garoutte was being run down between first and second.

KNIGHTS RALLY AGAIN

Prospect continued its habit of rallying in the late innings with a three-run seventh for a thrilling 5-4 victory over visiting Conant Wednesday.

The game was a big one since it lifted Prospect to a 5-2 record (four league wins in a row) while dropping Conant to 3-2. Scott Rochelle pitched the distance for the win while Bill Arkus suffered his first loss in four decisions.

Paul Obuchowski was the hero for the Knights, ripping a line drive to right field for the tying and winning runs with one out in the seventh.

Conant scored the first two runs in the second on an error, fielder's choice and singles by Bill Gawron, Steve Andrews and George Pattee. Prospect got on the scoreboard in the third on a walk, fielder's choice, wild pitch and passed ball.

Conant took a 4-1 lead in the fifth on singles by Darryl Drew and Gary Pemberton, a sacrifice fly by Arkus and double to the fence by Keith Steelman.

Prospect got one run back in the sixth when Obuchowski doubled, Jim Prandini beat out an infield hit and George Kman stroked a sacrifice fly.

The seventh-inning rally started after one out with a walk, hit batter, single by Steve Mahanna, and another walk forcing one in and making it 4-3. Obuchowski took two balls, fouled off three straight pitches, then lined the 2-2 pitch hard to right.

MUSTANGS BATTLE BACK

Rolling Meadows suffered through a five-run first inning outburst by Wheeling but battled their way back to take a 9-8 decision from the Wildcats at Pioneer Park Wednesday.

The Mustangs picked up the decisive run in the bottom of sixth inning on Pat Earley's sacrifice fly, scoring Dave Blake who had singled and advanced on a fielding miscue. It was registered off 'Cat mound ace Mark Griffith, who had come on to pitch in just that inning.

Wheeling's opening rally was keyed by Bob Peter's three-run circuit blast to left center and a two-run double by Marty Clifford. The hosting Mustangs came right back with two in their half of the frame on Len Link's two-run homer, but Wheeling promptly made it a 6-2 contest in the top of the second when John Theriault was hit by a pitch, stole second and raced home on Mike Sorge's single.

In the home half of the third, the gap was trimmed to a lone run as Marc Klemp reached on an error, and came in on Link's single, and Earley clouted a home run to left field.

Next inning Meadows moved on top 8-6. Earley knocked in another run during that rally with a single and Jim Freres drove across the go-ahead tally with another base hit with Rich Sidor squeeze bunting across an insurance score.

The extra run was helpful for the hosts too. Wheeling came up with single scores in the fifth and sixth frames to forge an 8-8 tie, Schuld tripling and scoring on Dan Tonnancour's sacrifice fly in the fifth and Bert Newman singling, stealing second and scoring on Daves Giles' infield hit in the sixth.

That set the stage for Earley's final heroics and earned a winning decision for Gordy Johnson, who had relieved starter Card Pederson in the sixth. Griffith, the third 'Cat hurler, saw his loop slate dip to 2-2.

FREMD TOPS ARLINGTON

A pair of two-run innings and the four-hit pitching of Ken Roggenbuck paced Fremd to a crucial 4-2 victory over hosting Arlington yesterday.

An RBI double by Roggenbuck in the second, a passed ball score and a pair of unearned runs in the sixth allowed the Vikings to pull away from the undermanned Cardinals.

Arlington, minus three regulars, jumped out in front in the first on a walk to Jim Locascio and a double by Dave Kubik.

Fremd battled back to take the lead for good in the second. Bill Peterson singled and later scored on a passed ball. Bob Burke also singled after two were out and tallied on Roggenbuck's blast to left center.

Two insurance runs came across in the sixth after two outs. With Mark Pettit on second and Kevin Phelan on first, Roggenbuck hit a routine ground ball that was misplayed twice for the scores. Dave Sherrow went the distance for the loss.

BOOMING BATS PACE GROVE

Elk Grove played long ball with four Glenbard North pitchers and although the 6-3 final score didn't show it, the Grenadiers probably wore their best hitting clothes of the season.

The Panthers hit first with a run in the opening inning on two errors and Bud Abbott's single, but Elk Grove deadlocked the game on Jeff Sronkoski's single and an error that followed a walk.

A deuce went up for Glenbard in the third on a pair of singles and a double, but the Grenadiers hammered home a four-spot in the fifth with some of their best shots of the year. Winning pitcher Bob Streich tripled to right as did Bob Chen one walk later.

Rick Hauserman slashed a double down the line for another run and Steve Scholten capped the inning with a booming sacrifice fly to center. Chen and Hauserman teamed for singled in the seventh to close out the scoring and hand Streich, who walked two and fanned four, the well-earned decision.

HAYES CHECKS FALCONS

Glen Hayes pitched shutout ball for six-and-two-thirds innings while his teammates capitalized on a couple of enemy lapses in the field and Schaumburg went on to dump Forest View 4-1 in their first game on their new field Wednesday.

The setback dropped the Falcons from their share of first place in the Mid-Suburban League's south division and moved the Saxons to within half a game of the top. Hayes gave up three hits and worked his way out of a number of scrapes to improve his log to 2-1 for the season.

The hosts scored three of their runs in the third inning on only two hits off Forest View starter Bob Richter. A trio of miscues did most of the damage, allowing Jeff Larson, John Blasco and Steve Merrigan to come across.

In the fourth the bulge was padded by one when Larson singled, advanced on a balk and scooted in on Steve Hull's one base rap. Hayes in the meantime escaped a bases loaded situation in the first and left runners stranded in scoring position in the third, fourth and fifth before finally giving up a run.

Bill Millner scored the lone tally, after reaching on a fielder's choice and advancing on a walk. He tallied on Schaumburg's only miscue of the game.

131-9 in the discus, Scott Barnett with 4:39.0 in the mile and Dave Auge with 12-0 in the pole vault.

All frosh-soph meets were fairly close except for powerful Fremd's 91-24 thumping of Elk Grove. Other dual soph meets saw Forest View shade Hersey 67-60, Rolling Meadows knock off Wheeling 69-57, and Arlington nip Prospect 61-58.

Schaumburg won two lower-level meets, getting 64 points to 51 for Conant and 40 for Lake Park in soph competition. The Saxon freshmen collected 70 compared to 52½ for the Cougars and 34½ for the Lancers.

Five more conference duals will be run today (Thursday) with only Forest View and Conant out of action. Wheeling will be at Hersey in a night attraction. Other meets, starting at 4:30, will have Fremd at Prospect, Palatine at Arlington and Glenbard North at Elk Grove.

Harper Wins In Tourney

John Macdonald's five-hit pitching and three timely hits by his Harper teammates knocked Triton out of the sectional Tournament yesterday at Harper, 3-0.

The Hawks will play for the title on Friday against visiting Amundsen.

Harper got all the runs Macdonald needed in the first inning. Wally Wiener walked, stole second and scored on a single by Mike Honel. Tony Fricano then doubled in Honel.

Wiener singled in the third and moved around to score on a single by Dean Sheridan.

Macdonald walked just one while striking out six in going the nine-inning distance.

Martin Sets Down Carmel

Pitching is the name of the game and St. Viator got it from Ken Martin again yesterday. The crafty southpaw scattered five hits en route to a 6-1 Suburban Catholic Conference triumph over Carmel of Mundelein.

The Lions gave Martin an early cushion with a two-run first and four-run third highlighting their cruise to victory number seven against a trio of setbacks.

Viator used similar means for its initial three runs. Martin led off the first with a walk and was tripled home by Joe Bombicino who scored moments later on a wild pitch.

Martin was passed again in the third and Stan Bobowski promptly hammered a three-bagger for a run. An error, walks to Jim Bucaro, Tom Swider and Tim Oliverio coupled with Mark Rickerson's sacrifice fly produced the final three tallies.

Carmel finally solved Martin for a run in the fifth on three straight singles, but the game was out of reach by then as Ken failed to walk a man while fanning a dozen.

Harper Tennis Entry Wins, Falls By Shutout

Harper College had two interesting warmups for the Region IV tennis tournament this weekend.

The Hawks blanked Skyway Conference opponent McHenry on Tuesday, 7-0. Over the weekend, Coach Roy Kearns took his young men to his alma mater, Bradley University, for a dual meet. There the shutout was reversed as the Hawks lost 9-0.

This week's match was a real slaughter as McHenry could manage to win just one game. The rest of the play had Harper players winning 10-0.

In singles action, McHenry failed to register a pro set point — Bruce Holland over Pat Gummerson, Bill Hitzeman over Pete Rogers, Paul Stevens over Tom Churan and Randy Fischer over Mike Cook.

Following the "blemished" 10-1 win by first doubles team Stevens and Hitzeman over Gummerson and Rogers, the Hawks regained their shutout form — Holland-Fischer over Staehling-Churan and Steve Cohen and Mark Thorsen over Koch-Grohs.

Harper's fifth conference whitewash (the team just missed in beating Triton 6-1) helped soothe the sting of Bradley's lopsided victory a few days before.

Playing indoors at Peoria on Friday, the Hawks dropped straight sets in all but second doubles. The Holland-Fischer team helped save a little face by pushing Chris Peerless and Jack Sales three sets before bowing out, 7-6, 6-7, 6-1.

The other losses came this way:

Peerless over Holland, 6-1, 6-1; Don Harris over Hitzeman, 6-1, 6-2; Brad Riley over Stevens, 6-0, 6-2; Andy Randall over Fischer, 6-4, 6-1; Jeff Ryser over Cohen, 6-1, 6-1; Sales over Maresso, 6-4, 6-3; Harris-Riley over Hitzeman-Stevens, 6-1, 6-2; And Ryser-Randall over Cohen-Thorsen, 6-4, 6-1.

Harper is now 8-3 against all opposition, the three losses coming against four-year schools. This latest setback stopped a seven-meet winning streak.

Magee Topples Merkel In River Trails Test

Barry Magee of Streamwood evened a score with 17-year-old Jim Merkel of Arlington Heights Sunday to win the feature men's "A" singles in River Trails Tennis Center's first annual one-hour-time-limit tournament, 16 games to 3.

It was a surprise rout for the steady 30-year-old executive who handled Merkel's vaunted service well in the tough early going, then forced a multitude of errors when the youngster lost confidence. It was all downhill for Merkel after he missed one of his patented volleys while serving game point at 3-4.

Magee, No. 1 Arlington Tennis Club player last season, was a Merkel victim in the 1971 Paddock tourney. He reached the River Trails final by clubbing Jack Laffey of Palatine, 18-4. Merkel had upset top-seeded Tom Leafstrand of Wheaton by a single point in his semifinal.

In a match which captured the crowd's fancy, Pat Freebody, an Australian girl from Chicago who is ranked fourth in the metropolitan area, displayed an offense seldom seen among local women players when she rolled over hard-hitting Jackie Jones of Hinsdale, 15-4. Mrs. Jones had eliminated Joyce Albrecht of Glenview, last year's Paddock champion, in a 17-8 semifinal earlier in the day. Miss Freebody's round-of-four victim was Mary Valiquet of Des Plaines by an 18-3 count.

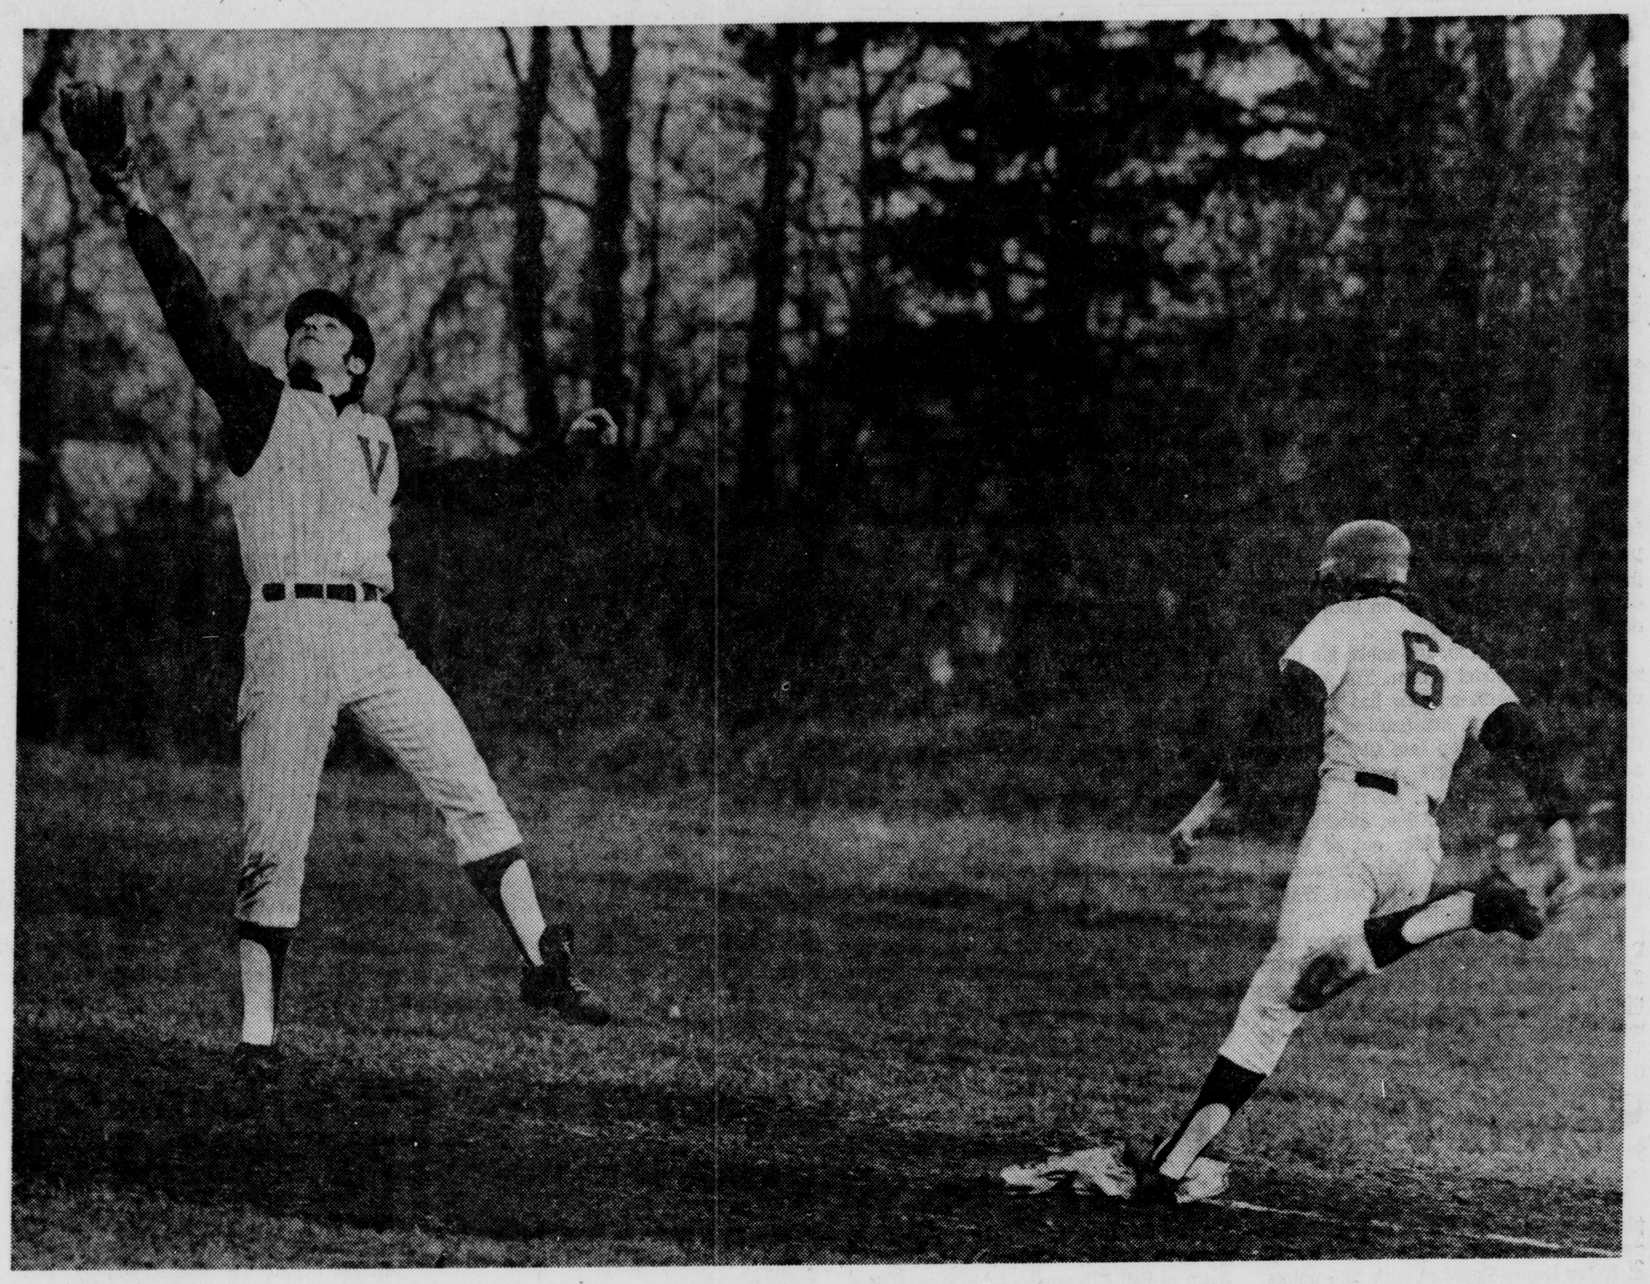
Merlin Schultz, a veteran retriever from Rosemont who is guidance counselor for the Maine Township high schools, bounced back from an 0-4 deficit to beat Jack Grant of Park Ridge, 11-6, in the men's "B" final. Other champions crowned Sunday were:

Mark Greenberg, Elk Grove High School senior, who avenged a straight-set outdoor defeat by nipping Gary Pederson of Bensenville, 10-9, for the junior boys' title;

Robin Heileman, 16-year-old Mount Prospect youngster who whipped Michelle DiNanno, a Maine South senior from Park Ridge, 12-3, in the junior girls' final, and

Sue McDonald of Mount Prospect, who shook off an 8-3 deficit to defeat her fellow townswoman and weekly playing partner, Helen Buck, to win the women's "C", 11-9.

Ann Westart of Maywood had previously won the women "B" crown with a 13-5 decision over Mary Ostrem of Mount Prospect. In the only remaining intra-club tourney, John Michalson of Arlington Heights will meet the winner between Bob Boylan of Chicago and Jack Roberts of Park Ridge in the men's "C" final.



BUNT BINGO. Prospect's Steve Mahanna was only one of two Knights to reach with a single during a 4-0 loss to St. Viator. Mahanna laid down a perfect bunt here and beat a high throw to first that fielder Joe Bombicino barely snares. Val Grafitti was the other Knight to single in the rain-marring contest. Celtics B Team Blanked

The Palatine Celtics soccer program had only one traveling team in action last weekend as two games — those of the Junior and Intermediate A teams — were postponed.

The B Intermediate team ran into the second-best team in the league, the Northwest Kickers, and was blanked 8-0. Phil Roberts was Palatine's goalie.

The House League for boys aged 12 and under saw all three scheduled games played Sunday as the Rangers and Mustangs each picked up their first victories of the spring.

The Rangers slipped past the Rovers 1-0 as Matt Parker scored the only goal. The Mustangs were 3-1 winners over United with the winners getting scores from Paul Sutherland, Bob Cudney and Tom Seiter and the losers' goal by Mike Barro.

The Spurs also beat the Rovers 4-1 with Kevin O'Callahan scoring twice and Brian O'Callahan and John Kelleher once each. Dan Hirshfeld got the Rovers' only goal.

The three traveling teams will all be in action away from home this Saturday. The Juniors (ages 15 through 17) will play at Skokie at 2:15 and the Intermediates (age 14 and under) B squad will be at the same place at 1:00. The Intermediate A team will be at Hanover Park for a 3:30 game.

Starting times have been changed for this Sunday in the House League. There will be morning contests starting at 9:00, 9:45 and 10:45.

Special Olympics For Retarded May 19

Grant Park will host a very unique and memorable activity this spring. The park will be the site of the Chicago Park District Special Olympics for Retarded Children on Friday May 19 from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Approximately 1,200 mentally retarded athletes will participate in the sports competition in Hutchinson Field (at the south end of Grant Park). The top winners of these games in each division will then be selected to represent the sate of Illinois at the National Special Olympics in Los Angeles Aug. 14 through Aug. 18.

Mayor Daley, honorary chairman of the program, along with other civic dignitaries and prominent celebrities will be visiting the field during the day to welcome and congratulate the Special Olympian athletes.

Track and field meets on the agenda include the 50 yard dash, the 300 yard run, the standing long jump, the high jump, the softball throw, the pentathlon, the 440 yard relay and the one mile run. Swimming competitions will be the 25 yard freestyle, the 50 yard freestyle, the 25 yard backstroke, four 25 yard freestyle relays for boys, four 25 yard freestyle relays for girls and a diving exhibition.

Also included in the day's activities will be group sports competitions featuring gymnastics, basketball, volleyball and floor hockey.

The Chicago Park District Special Olympics, co-sponsored by the Mentally Retarded Olympian Program, is an offspring of the 1968 Chicago Special Olympics which were conceived by the Chicago Park District and co-sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation.

In 1968, 1,000 retarded children from 26 states and Canada came to Chicago for two days of meets an honors. In 1969 the program grew to include 200,000 children who participated in the area regionals. In 1970, approximately one million children competed in the United States and Europe and 2,500 champions came to Chicago from 43 states, Canada and France for International games.

Forest View Athletes To Visit; Have Your Trading Stamps Ready

Have your trading stamps ready.

The Forest View athletes are on their way.

Groups of Falcon athletes will spend Saturday morning from 9 o'clock until noon knocking on doors and asking for books of trading stamps from friends of Forest View High School sports.

People are encouraged to donate one or more books of trading stamps, any kind, to the Falcons Boosters Club. These books will then be redeemed for gifts which will be used in a raffle or Las Vegas Night.

There still is a need for $2,000 toward the final payment of the football lights, and this march for stamps is a part of this fund-raising drive.

Anyone who will not be home Saturday morning but would like to contribute some trading stamps to the project may contact Bob Novak, Falcon Booster Club president, at 437-1084 or bring the books to the school.

The next Booster Club meeting will be Tuesday, May 9, at 8 p.m. at Forest View High School. The new officers will discuss plans for the 1972-73 fiscal year.

Officers are Robert Novak, president; Frank Holan, first vice-president; Sig Haaland, second vice-president; Mary Trousil, treasurer; and Betty Mueller, secretary.

Palatine, Schaumburg In District

Palatine and Schaumburg clash on Barrington's diamond at 4:15 this afternoon to inaugurate IHSA district baseball in the area for 1972.

Barrington's district tourney is one of four in which Herald area teams are entered. Conant and Fremd as well as the host Bronchos join with the Pirates and Saxons in comprising this meet, one of over 100 throughout the state which eventually feed into the championships at Peoria the first weekend in June.

Saturday at Barrington a double header will feature the Cougars and Vikings clashing at 10 a.m. with the winner of today's bout tackling the hosts at 1 p.m. The victors in these two Saturday encounters will collide for the title and advancement to regional play on Monday at 4:15.

Conant turned back Fremd in the finals of the Barrington district last spring.

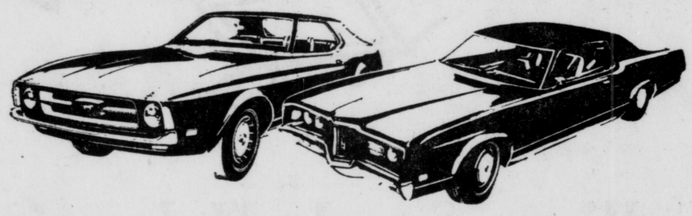
Before you shop for a New car, see who does the best job of fixing your old one.
Good service sells new cars.
And to us . . . That's very important.


The showroom is a good place to pick a car, but a lousy place to pick a dealer. All dealers offer a great deal, but few mention service. We think it is about time somedbody did.
Before shopping for a new car See who does the best job Of fixing your old one.
Before buying a new car, take your old car in for some service. Have the oil changed, or a rattle fixed. Shop several dealers, not just one. Make several comparisons until you find the dealer who will give you the kind of service you demand. While you're shopping, don't forget to put us on your list. We think we're the kind of dealer you're looking for. The only way that we can prove this to you is to get you to try us.
Something free to get you to try us.
Until May 31, we're offering a free oil change to get you to try our service and urge you to compare it to that of others.
We're not making this offer out of the goodness of our hearts, or just to sell you something. But if you come in, you'll sell yourself.
Our reputation is being built On the service we offer.
We'll do everything necessary to assure your complete satisfaction. When you come in for an oil change, and that's all you need, that's all you'll get. And at the price you were quoted.
An honest price for an honest job
The way we treat you in the shop tells you a lot about the dealership. Just as a great bunch of people in the service department are responsible for the performance of your car, there is an equally great bunch of people in the showroom, too. So a lot of people walk into the showroom just because we are offering them a fair and honest price . . . AND THAT'S IMPORTANT!

Santa Fe Speedway Opens 20th Season This Weekend

Santa Fe Speedway officially opens its 20th consecutive season of top-flight stock car racing this Saturday and Sunday, May 6 and 7, as Chicagoland's only clay oval hosts its opening weekend of exciting late model, sportsman and spectator races.

More than 30 late model drivers and 50 sportsman competitors are expected for Santa Fe Speedway's inaugural racing date. Saturday's program begins at 8:30 p.m.; Sunday's first race gets off the starting line at 8 p.m.

Eleven-event programs will be presented on both nights spotlighting 25-lap late model and sportsman features. Unpredictable spectator races, a crowd pleaser in which any off-the-street car can compete, will be held on both Saturdays and Sundays in 1972.

Dick Nelson of Chicago seeks his third straight late model crown. The veteran clay track chauffeur, who has captured six speedway titles, has entered two 1972 Chevrolets. Other top late model crown aspirants include 1971 runnerup Jim O'Connor of Kankakee, Larry Jackson from Lyons, Bill Van Allen, another six-time speedway titleholder out of Wautoma, Wis., Tony Izzo of Bridgeview, Earl Hubert from Aroma Park, and Wayne Etzel from Bourbonnais.

At least three sportsmen competitors have gotten late model rides for the 1972 season. Trying to ake the difficult jump into the hard-charging late model class will be Ron Fisher of Westmont, Fritz Brotherton from Downers Grove and Jim Kubik of Lyons. Other "rookies" include Charles Stark from Northlake, Greg Rembiszewski of Chicago, Michael Miller from Bensenville and Ron Snow of Naperville.

Santa Fe Speedway will feature quick-moving stock car races every Saturday and Sunday night throughout the racing season.

Along with regular stock car programs on the quarter-mile track, the southwest side clay oval also has scheduled seven "classics" on the half-mile oval. The schedule for the "big races" is as follows:

Memorial Day Stock Car Classic, 50 Laps, May 29
"Jack Loftus" Stock Car Classic, 50 Laps, June 17
"Stars and Stripes" Stock Car Classic, 50 Laps, July 2
"All Star" Stock Car Classic, 100 Laps, July 29
"Ken Finley" Stock Car Classic, 50 Laps, September 2
"Prairie State" Stock Car Classic, 150 Laps, September 3
National Clay Track Stock Car Championship, 200 Laps, September 24

Santa Fe Speedway also hosts exclusive weekly American Motorcycle Association-sanctioned races every Wednesday night. Chicagoland's top racing oval is located at 91st and Wolf Road approximately 20 minutes from downtown Chicago via the Stevenson Expressway.

Seven Places For Lions

Despite a pair of seconds and seven places in all, St. Viator finished well down the list at the 12-team Don Relays at Notre Dame Tuesday with 20¼ points. Notre Dame won the meet easily.

Best individual showing was junior Dave Jarzemsky's second in the high jump with 5-8. The other runner-up was the 480-yard low shuttle hurdle relay with a :58.3 time by Jarzemsky, Bill McShea, Jim Bristol and Tom Rochfort.

Ralph Bosch, another junior, was third in the shot put with 46-10½.

The Lions collected four fifth places for their other points. Tom Gallagher high jumped 5-4, Bristol long jumped 17-9, the distance medley (880, 440, 440, mile) team of Bill Ellsworth, John Martin, Bob Weigel and Joe Sweeney was clocked in 8:50.9 and the 880-yard relay of Mike Winkleg, Bernie Borschke, Gene O'Sullivan and Rochfort turned in a 1:37.6 time.

In their next meet the Lions and Hersey will be at Prospect for a 4:30 starting time next Tuesday. That will be St. Viator's last appearance until the Suburban Catholic Conference meet at Marmion a week from Friday.

Here's A Gal Who Wields A Mean Stick

by THOMAS C. MILLER

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dorothy Wise is no "Minnesota Fats" but, as they might say in River City, the lady wields a mean stick.

Mrs. Wise, a 57-year-old grandmother whose glasses slip down on her nose when she's concentrating on a tough shot, is the best woman pool player in the country.

She is the current and only U.S. Women's Open pocket billiards champion ever, winning every national tournament since the women's division was created in 1967 by the Billiard Congress of America.

"But pool is just a slang word for billiards," Mrs. Wise said. "It's the same thing."

Her game is Call Shot, in which a player scores points by hitting balls in specified pockets and continues to shoot each time a ball is pocketed. The object of the game is to score 75 points (150 in men's competition) before your opponent does.

Mrs. Wise, who also travels around the country giving demonstrations and exhibitions as a representative for Spalding Sporting Goods, holds the women's record in tournament play for high run successive shots with 40. Her highest run is an 82, which wasn't scored in match play.

Last August in Chicago when she won her fifth straight national women's title, Mrs. Wise carried home $1,000 in first prize money and $100 for high run in the tournament. Since the national competition began she has lost only one match in the double elimination tournaments.

Now that her qualifications have been established, the question becomes: How did a nice lady like her get into a billiard parlor?

"I've been playing for 28 years," she said. "I started when my husband opened a family billiard parlor in 1943 in Green Bay, Wis. during World War II. He needed help, so I worked in the parlor and started playing."

Mrs. Wise admits that men are better pool players, but said there was no reason why women could not be competitive.

"The men are obviously ahead in the game," she said. "It's just because they have dominated it for so long. But there's no reason why women can't play this game. There's no strength involved. It's a game of concentration, light touch and strategy."

Men became better players, Mrs. Wise said, because pool halls had a bad reputation in the past and were forbidden to women.

"During the 1920's, I think it just got into the wrong hands," she said. "and billiard parlors were used to hide gambling and bootlegging operations. And it just became a place where women didn't go."

Before the pool halls gave the game a shady image, she said, billiards was a game for the elite.

"We don't really know the game's origin. It's so old that it's lost in antiquity," she said. "Shakespeare makes a reference to billiards in Anthony and Cleopatra, but they say it was only a figment of his imagination because no one has found any evidence of the game being played in those times."

It is known, she said, that Louis XIV played billiards in France because his physician prescribed the game as a form of mild exercise.

Arranging billiards tournaments for women is difficult. Some of the top women players, like Geraldine Titcomb of Cincinnati, are housewives who can make only one or two trips a year.

Many of Mrs. Wise's demonstrations are at department stores, where she begins by explaining the game and discussing the six fundamentals: stance, grip, bridge hand, where the cut ball is hit, speed and force, and angle.

Then she demonstrates a number of trick shots, which include pocketing as many as six balls on one shot. Perhaps the most impressive shot is one in which she places the cue ball on the chalk on the table ledge, hits it through the triangle-shaped rack in a hoop-like fashion, and pockets two at the far end of the table.

Even after the demonstration when she invites competition, she has plenty of suckers, mostly male, who think they can beat a nice little lady.

They find the lady to be a fierce competitor.

But Mrs. Wise met her match when she played the legendary Willie Moscone. In an exhibition game in 1958, she scored a respectable 82 points in that game, but a few years later in another contest with Moscone, Mrs. Wise had to settle for three points while he ran the table.

"I guess he decided to put me in my place," she said.

Ace For Murphy

Mike Murphy of 905 Whitegate Dr. in Mount Prospect enjoyed golf's most prestigious rewards Sunday when his two-wood drive off the tee at the par three, 16th hole at Mount Prospect Country Club curled into the cup 225 yards away for a hole-in-one!

Murphy was playing in a foursome with Jerry Schmeider, Norm Denzinger and George March when the once-in-a-lifetime dream came true.

Cards Take 2nd In Own Net Invite

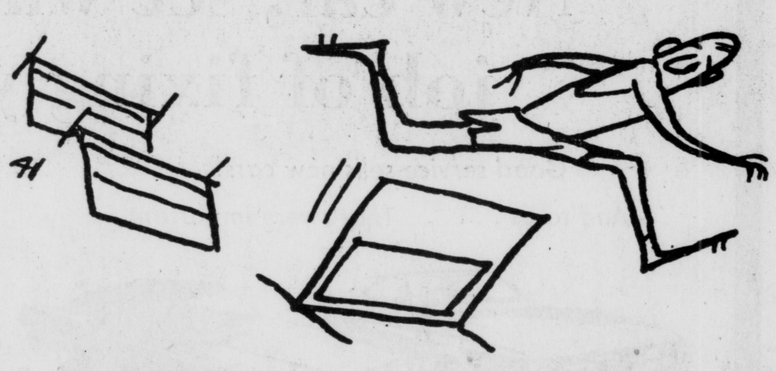
Only one local winner was crowned in Saturday's Arlington frosh-soph invitational tennis meet.

Helping to give the hosts their second place to winning New Trier East was the first doubles team of Greg VanGorp and Roger Lockwood. This twosome's 0-6, 7-6, 7-6 victory over New Trier in the championship match gave the Cardinals nine points, three off the first place pace.

Taking second in No. 2 singles was Todd Reese with Luke Weeg, Arlington's No. 1 player, finishing third.

Prospect finished sixth and Hersey was last.

The final standings went like this — New Trier 12, Arlington 9, Ottawa, Oak Park and Evanston 4, Prospect 3½, Glenbard West 3, York 2½ and Hersey 2.



Sullivan Sparks Holmes To Falcon Junior Honors

Holmes Junior High School captured first places in 10 of 13 events to win the first annual Falcon Junior Track Invitational at Forest View. Lincoln had 73½ points to Holmes' 90, with Dempster third with 28.

Like the Junior High cross country invitational which Forest View has held each autumn, this meet was organized to increase track interest in pre-high-school-aged boys.

Sullivan of Holmes was the meet's leading individual with three first places in the 100-yard dash, the 220 dash and the long jump. Teammate Mischnick was a double winner in the high jump and shot put.

Repeated Service to Satisfied Sales Clients and Their Friends: This is the QUINLAN and TYSON Story.

Potential Buyer Can Be Choosy

Sales of existing homes in Cook County showed a substantial increase in March over the previous month's record, according to First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago's latest Home Sales Index.

March, 1972, dollar volume totaled $69.129,800, which is a 26.5 per cent increase over February's $54,646,000. Number of sales reached 2,305, a 22.6 per cent increase over the previous month's 1,880 transactions.

Compared to the same month last year, March, 1972, showed an 8.8 per cent decrease in sales volume from the March, 1971, total of 2,528 and a 17.2 per cent drop in dollar volume from last March's $83,536,000.

Cumulative totals for the first three months of 1972 revealed a 2.5 per cent increase in number volume and a 5 per cent decrease in dollar volume. Activity for the beginning of 1972 totaled $188,763,300 for 6,368 transactions, compared to $198,626,300 for 6,210 sales for the first three months of 1971.

Jeffersn Township led the 33 townships in dollar volume with $7,310,000 for 10.6 per cent of the county total. Its 217 sales represented only 9.4 per cent of total county sales, leaving Jefferson in second place for number of transactions.

Lake Township ranked second in dollar volume with $4,995,000 for 7.2 per cent of total county sales. Lake remained the most active in number volume with 224 sales totaling 9.7 per cent of county volume.

Wheeling placed third in dollar volume, with $4,753,500 followed by Hyde Park with $3,954,000.

West Town Township was third in number volume with 171 sales, followed by Hyde Park with 161, and Calumet with 137.

According to James C. Fitzmaurice, senior vice president and mortgage manager, a great deal of activity occurred in the mortgage market during the final days of March, continuing into early April.

"As far as we can tell, the huge increase in mortgage inquiries is fairly universal throughout the Chicago area," he said.

He noted that there have been upward pressures on mortgage interest rates and cited the rise in bank prime and Treasuries rates as indications. "Savings inflows, while somewhat behind last year's record highs, are still very good," he stated. "Without this favorable savings experience, it's quite likely that mortgage interest rates would have already gone up.

"The housing market is going to be extremely interesting," Fitzmaurice added. "Potential home buyers have a much wider range of housing choices these days, including the condominium and Planned Unit Development, or PUD. This broadened choice in housing types should brighten the future for home builders and sellers alike."

Posts Earnings

The Robino-Ladd Co., diversified builders, reported record revenues and earnings for the year ended Dec. 31, 1971.

Revenues totaled $30,712,000, net income after taxes was $1,703,000 and earnings per share were $1.25, based on $1,362,368 shares outstanding, it was announced by Frank A. Robino Jr., president and chief executive officer.

Although exact comparisons with the previous year are not available because the parent company changed its accounting year from a fiscal year ending January 31 to a calendar year basis, the company said the change did not result in any material variance from annualized earnings per share. Prior to the change, all divisions except one had reported on a calendar year basis and their operations for those 12 months were included in the company's fiscal year totals.

For the year ended January 31, 1971, gross revenues were $24,756,000, net income after taxes was $1,322,000 and earnings per share were $1, based on 1,320,693 shares outstanding.

Robino-Ladd, headquartered in Newark, Del., is a diversified builder, primarily residential, with operations in Delaware, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Florida and Puerto Rico.

Give Burglars Brush-Off

Apartment and single-family house residents often fail to take basic security precautions according to William D. Sally, vice president of Baird & Warner, Inc., and general manager of the firm's property management division.

Discussiong the increase in burglaries for the City of Chicago and suburbs, he said FBI figures show the number of burglaries per 100,000 people rose 113 per cent from 1960 to 1970, and 11 per cent between 1969 and 1970 alone. Chicago's burglary increase in 1971 was 10 per cent.

What the police say about security precautions is echoed by building managers responsible for rental properties ranging from three-story walk-ups to suburban garden apartments to Lake Shore Drive high-rises.

"Building managers and owners can spend thousands of dollars on security devices such as closed-circuit television, alarm systems, and guards, but all of this is worthless if the tenants themselves don't practice recommended security measures," said William D. Sally, vice preisdent of Baird & Warner, Inc., and general manager of the firm's property management division.

People invite burglaries through such acts as leaving windows open and doors unlocked. In apartments, they courteously hold the lobby door open for the person behind them, not knowing who that person is. They let mail pile up while they're on vacation, and let unidentified "inspectors" and "repairmen" into their apartments.

Common-sense security measures could do much to thwart the "burglaries of opportunity," those committed because the would-be burglar senses you've left your guard down and presented him with a spur-of-the moment chance. This kind of invitation is particularly attractive to the young burglar, many on drugs, whom police say accounts for 70 per cent of burglaries in the Chicago area.

These precautions are recommended by Baird & Warner to be useful in improving home or apartment security:

Always use the chain guards that are installed on front and rear entrance doors to most apartments. These allow you to open the door slightly to screen callers and accept small parcels. Some apartment doors have peepholes which let you look out without opening the door at all. If your apartment doors do not have these devices, check with the management about having them installed.

Before admitting a stranger to your apartment, demand to see identification. Representatives of utility companies and public agencies have standard ID cards that they'll be glad to let you inspect. Never accept a printed business card as identification; anyone can have a business card printed. Don't fall for the ruse of calling the telephone number listed on the business card. Chances are you'll wind up talking to an accomplice.

Report any suspicious characters to the building management immediately. Watch for door-to-door solicitors (your building should have a rule against them); and persons who claim to have the wrong apartment.

When you enter through the lobby door of a building, don't automatically hold the door open for someone behind you unless you know the person. Most lobby doors can be opened only with a key or by a buzzer system activated from each apartment. If someone does follow you in, at least make a mental note of their physical characteristics and behavior.

Get to know your fellow residents. While apartment living tends to be anonymous, one of the best protections against crime is to know who lives in the building; that way you can spot strangers immediately and be on your gurad.

Learn about your building's security system — and don't foil it. For example, the main floor lobbies in many buildings have doors opening to various areas, such as halls, stairwells, the boiler room, laundry room, and garage. The Chicago Police Department recommends that these doors be kept locked at all times because they afford excellent hiding places. Residents have keys to these doors, and where required, doors are equipped with emergency releases for escape in case of fire.

Most of the newer buildings have homing devices in automatic elevators. These devices return the elevator to the lobby before it can proceed to another floor and are usually timed to activate between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m. A would-be criminal can't readily ride the elevator from floor to floor, waiting for a victim to step in. He'll be frustrated by having the elevator keep returning to the ground floor.

One group of building residents decided to go this system one step further. They hold regular card games in the building lobby so they could observe everyone entering and leaving, and could spot elevator loiterers.

Another elevator security device is a convex mirror installed in the corner of the elevator. This lets you see if someone is in the elevator before you step in. Check with your building management if your elevator lacks such a mirror.

Use laundry rooms during daytime or early evening hours, or at other times when someone you know is present. The laundry room door should be equipped with a glass pane so that you can look in before entering. Laundry room lights should be key-operated by the custodial staff; this makes it impossible for a potential assaulter to surprise you and then switch off the lights.

If you're a woman, list your name on the building directory and in the telephone book by first initial, not by your first name. Since many assaulters seek out women victims, this practice will mask your sex.

Don't put an identification tag on your apartment keys. If lost keys are picked up by a criminal, they are an immediate invitation to visit your apartment.

Check with your management about putting on special locks on doors and windows. If you have a sliding glass door in your apartment, cut a length of broomstick to put in the sliding door track; that will prevent the door from being opened from the outside.

"If enough residents took these precautions the security problems in apartment buildings could be relieved considerable, affording greater peace of mind to all concerned," Sally said.

Realtor Board Plans Meeting

Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors will hold its regular monthly dinner meeting Thursday night, May 11. The meeting will start at 7 p.m. at the Casa Royale, 783 Lee St., Des Plaines.

The featured speaker will be Richard Babiarz, vice president and associate regional counsel of Pioneer National Title Insurance Co., Chicago. Subject of Babiarz's presentation will be condominiums and the problems confronting brokers in their resale.

A graduate of DePaul University, Babiarz is a member of the Chicago Bar Association. Prior to his association with Pioneer National Title he was a trust officer with Central National Bank and assistant secretary of Chicago Title & Trust Co. The Babiarz family resides in Glen Ellyn.

Babiarz's presentation will include a discussion on the history of the condomium concept, an indication of just what an owner of a condominium unit really owns, and a few pointers for brokers and salespeople on the gathering of proper documentation, forms, and information when listing a condominium unit for resale.

Robert E. Cook, executive vice president of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards, will briefly discuss REPEC of Illinois at this meeting.

Anderson Receives Naval Commendation

LeRoy E. Anderson of 1300 Syracuse Ln., Schaumburg, has received a 30-year certificate of service from Capt. R. D. Fisher, SC, USN, Commander, Defense Contract Administration Services Region (DCASR), Chicago. Anderson is chief of the contract property management division at DCASR.

DCASR, Chicago is a field activity of the Defense Supply Agency and provides contract management services on $4 billion in defense contracts in Wisconsin, Indiana and northern Illinois. Regional headquarters is located at O'Hare Airport.

Too Many Trusts Causing Problem

The relatively young real estate investment trust (REIT) industry, is headed for new growth, "but — there will be plenty of growing pains before full maturity is reached," said Durand A. Holladay, managing trustee of Continental Mortgage Investors, Boston. He adds that "some of the current problems plaguing the industry may well get worse before they are truly solved." Continental Mortgage is the nation's largest real estate trust in mortgage lending.

Holladay shook the financial community in November, 1971, when he forecast not only a decline in CMI earnings — the first in the trust's 10-year history — but even larger problems for the REIT industry as a whole He has not changed his thinking on these problems.

"There is nothing unique in REITs having internal industry problems — it has happened with other industries in the past," said Holladay. "The investment opportunities of REITs were suddenly 'discovered' about four years ago and were thrust into the glaring spotlight of the financial community.

"Now, everyone saw REITs as a really good thing investment-wise and jumped on the bandwagon. The result: a much too rapid — and unhealthy — proliferation of new trusts — really too many for the market and too many for the investing public to absorb," Holladay observes.

He notes that there are currently about 187 operating REITs with combined assets of about $6.5 billion — and most of these have been founded within the last three years. "Additionally, there are another 100 or more in the wings," he adds.

"Economic conditions have changed sharply in the past three years. This totally new environment, coupled with the tremendous influx of new REITs, has resulted in far too much competition among trusts. It has reached the point where REIT monies are 'chasing deals' rather than real estate developers chasing the money supply," said Holladay.

"A dearth of experienced people in the industry is also very evident. This deficiency has resulted in a willingness by some trusts to take greater risks than prudent management dictates," Holladay said.

A REIT makes money only if the rate it charges the developer is high enough to provide a reasonable spread between its own costs of borrowing and lending.

"The more responsible trusts generally do not lend more than 75 per cent of the value of construction loans — yet some trusts are freely lending as much as 85 per cent. Also, too many interim loans are made before the borrowers obtain long-term commitments, raising the risk of having to extend the loan at a later date or foreclose on the property," Holladay said.

Another problem is the number of loans made without personal guarantees from the borrowers. "This is not as much a problem after a project is completed — once the property has an economic value it can be sold if foreclosed on. But during construction, much of a trust's risk depends on the integrity and competence of the borrower," Holladay said.

These are some of the major problems that must be resolved before the REIT industry can truly settle down for new growth and progress, he notes. "There is no doubt that REITs will always be good earners. The industry — as a whole, however — cannot be expected to perform, for example, as CMI did — earnings of 25 per cent annually compounded over a nine-year period," Holladay said.

"The industry, over the long haul, will most assuredly solve these problems. Industry leaders will eventually gain the experience that is so necessary in real estate management and investments. But some trusts, before they reach maturity, will get burned — some badly — as a result of faulty — ill-advised — loans," Holladay concludes.

Montgomery Named VP Administration

John A. Montgomery has been appointed vice president-administration, it was announced by Robert K. Deutsch, president of the Public Services Group of Interstate United Corporation.

John Montgomery

In his new position, Montgomery will be responsible for coordinating all administrative functions for the newly formed Public Services Group. He will report directly to Deutsch.

Montgomery joined Interstate United in 1964 as staff auditor. In 1966 he became manager of the Internal Audit Department, and in 1969 was promoted to assistant to the senior vice president-administration.

Montgomery and his wife Sally are natives of Bloomington, where he graduated from Illinois Wesleyan University. They reside in Arlington Heights, with their four children.

Interstate United is one of the nation's largest professional food management organizations serving more than 3 million meals daily to business and industry, hospitals, schools, colleges, stadiums and recreation centers in 18 states. The Chicago-based company has some 10,000 employes and operates 30 public restaurants from coast to coast.

2 Reach Million Dollar Sales

Barry D. Lamond and Gerald Gerard each sold more than $1 million of Prudential insurance protection in 1971. The men are agents in the company's Palatine district agency, 800 E. Northwest Hwy.

Barry Lamond

Gerald Gerard

District agency manager Frederick J. Thiel, CLU, said that Lamond, who lives at 330 N. Maple, Itasca, has represented Prudential since 1956. Gerard joined the company in May, 1969, and lives in Elk Grove Village at 561 Yarmouth.

Construction Users Seek Area Bargaining

The Construction Users Council has called upon all major users of construction in nine Chicago area counties to support the position of the Mid-America Regional Bargaining Association (MARBA) in negotiations with building trades unions. MARBA represents 14 major contractor associations in the area.

A letter sent to some 800 members of the Construction Users Council by its policy committee states: "In particular, the policy committee urges that users refrain from subverting bargaining by employing a non-participating contractor to complete work in progress or seek to have work performed as an emergency under questionable circumstances that do not pose a threat to the public health and safety."

The letter was signed by Robert C. Gunness, chairman of the policy committee and president of Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The letter noted that MARBA's primary purpose is "to help halt the irrational escalation of construction costs, as it pertains to labor cost increases which are unrelated to productivity."

MARBA is seeking to eliminate separate bargaining with the approximately 40 construction trade union locals on the basis of arbitrary territorial jurisdiction. It will seek areawide wage scales, common expiration dates, and uniform work rules in each craft for men of comparable skills.

MARBA has been assigned the bargainng rights formerly exercised by its constituent member trade associations, and has informed the unions that in the future, MARBA will negotiate contracts beginning with those due to expire May 31, 1972.

The letter stated that the Construction Users Council has encouraged the adoption of multi-employer and multi-craft area bargaining as a means of reducing the fragmentation and whipsawing that has, in the past, contributed to unreasonable escalation of construction labor costs.

"Consequently, we feel a strong responsibility to support MARBA in this effort," the letter said.

In past contract negotiations, the position of the building contractors has been weakened by the willingness of some construction users to continue doing work as usual by using contractors who are not participants in local trade associations, or by continuing work on the grounds of public health and safety, said Gunness.

The Construction Users Council, in urging construction users to refrain from such actions, notes that this posture may result in a short-term inconvenience and even cost penalites for some individual users. These sacrifices are far outweighed by the long-term benefits to be gained, not only in lowering future construction costs, but also in the impact of construction trade settlements on other negotiations," the letter declared.

MARBA is seeking to negotiate new contracts with bricklayers, carpenters, cement finishers and laborers locals and district councils in Cook, Lake, DuPage, Will, Kane, McHenry, Kendall and Grundy counties in Illinois, and Lake County in Indiana. Approximately 70,000 union tradesmen are affected, according to MARBA estimates.

Kasiaks Retire From GTE

Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Kasiak of 5000 Carriageway Dr., Rolling Meadows, have retired at GTE Automatic Electric in Northlake, and will be moving to Port Richey, Fla.

Leo Kasiak, a group leader in the exchange engineering department, retired several weeks ago after more than 31 years with the company, followed by his wife, the former Susan J. Feldman, a 15-year employe in the treasury department of the company.

The Kasiaks met at Automatic, and were married six years ago on April 16.

Leo started as a wireman, and advanced to supervisor and instructor, transferring in 1957 to the engineering department.

He is a member of the Chicago Motor Club, National Travel Club, Independent Telephone Pioneer Association, and the American Association of Retired Persons. He lists among his favorite pastimes: "Travel, fishing, gardening, photography, reading, and girl watching with my wife's permission."

Susan Kasiak has been a general clerk in the treasury department throughout her company service, and was an enthusiastic member of the women's bowling league sponsored by Automatic. Her main "regret," she said, "is to be leaving just when my average climbed almost to the 150 mark."

Reports Single Family Starts

Arlington Heights is among the 10 leading communities in the Bell Federal Savings and Loan Association Survey of New Building for the Chicago metropolitan area.

The most recent report includes new housing starts through March of this year. Arlington Heights rang up a total of 123 new housing permits, with a total value of $4,279,500 and an average value of $34,793.

The leader in the number of new single-family home permits for the Chicago metropolitan area is Hanover Park, with 231 permits. The permits have a total value of $5,872,834 and an average value of $25,424.

Other leaders for the first three months of 1972 in the number of single-family home permits are: Naperville, 120; Roselle, 127; Tinley Park, 126; Palos Hills, 113; Richton Park, 167; Northbrook, 52; Wheaton, 88; and Orland Park, 67.

Single-family homes permits issued during March are as follows in the Northwest Suburbs: Arlington Heights, 66; Buffalo Grove, 27; Des Plaines, 6; Elk Grove Village, 1; Hoffman Estates, 10; Mount Prospect, 15; Palatine, 4; Rolling Meadows, 4; Schaumburg, 41; and Wheeling 20.

Savings Record Eased In March

An abatement in the exuberant growth in savings at savings associations appeared in March, according to projections developed from reports received from 579 associations reporting to the United States Savings and Loan League. The reporting institutions held 31 per cent of the total assets of the business.

Savings deposits grew last month by a record $4.2 billion but the increase was only 3.5 per cent above the $4.1 billion of last March. The 3.5 per cent increase contrasts sharply with the results of January and February when the gain in deposits was up from a year earlier by 25.2 per cent and 14.6 per cent respectively.

The data for the month yielded several other indications of a moderation of the recent rapid growth. When quarterly interest credited to accounts is deducted, the net gain moved down below that for March 1971. In that month the interest credited to accounts amounted to $1.3 billion of the $4.1 billion net gain, bringing the adjusted net gain to $2.8 billion. In the March that has just past, interest accounted for $1.6 billion of the $4.2 billion resulting in an adjusted gain of $2.6 billion.

On a seasonally adjusted basis the savings gain of last month was at the annual rate of $34.5 billion, off slightly from the $35.7 billion of February, and down from the $37 billion rate of March 1971.

An analysis of the flow data indicates that the easing of the growth can be attributed partly to a slow down in the rate of the additions to accounts but more significantly to an increase in withdrawals. Funds taken out of existing accounts were up from a year earlier 35.9 per cent.

Despite the appearance of some moderation in growth, the increase for March was high when compared with that of the same month of recent years. For example, the $4.2 billion increase is substantially above the $1.6 billion gain for March of 1970.

The constraint on growth of last month may be traced to a rise in consumer spending which was reflected inthe 8 per cent increase in retail sales in March above a year earlier. The firming of interest rates on market instruments that occurred last month may also have influenced the flows at teller windows. More significantly, the unusually high gains in January and February may have represented a one-time surge in funds as investors executed early year plans of reinvesting their funds at a fixed rate in the uncertain market that then prevailed.

Mortgage lending continued at a very high rate with closings at associations running at $4 billion, up 45 per cent from a year earlier.

Riviera Homes Has New Model

A new home design, Le Trianon, is being introduced in the Riviera Homes project in Arlington Heights.

The three-bedroom home by Aldridge Construction Co. features living, dining, family activity areas separated from the sleeping area.

It is designed, as most Aldridge Construction projects, by Martin Henry Braun, international architect. Le Trianon carries out Braun's trademark of well-planned traffic patterns.

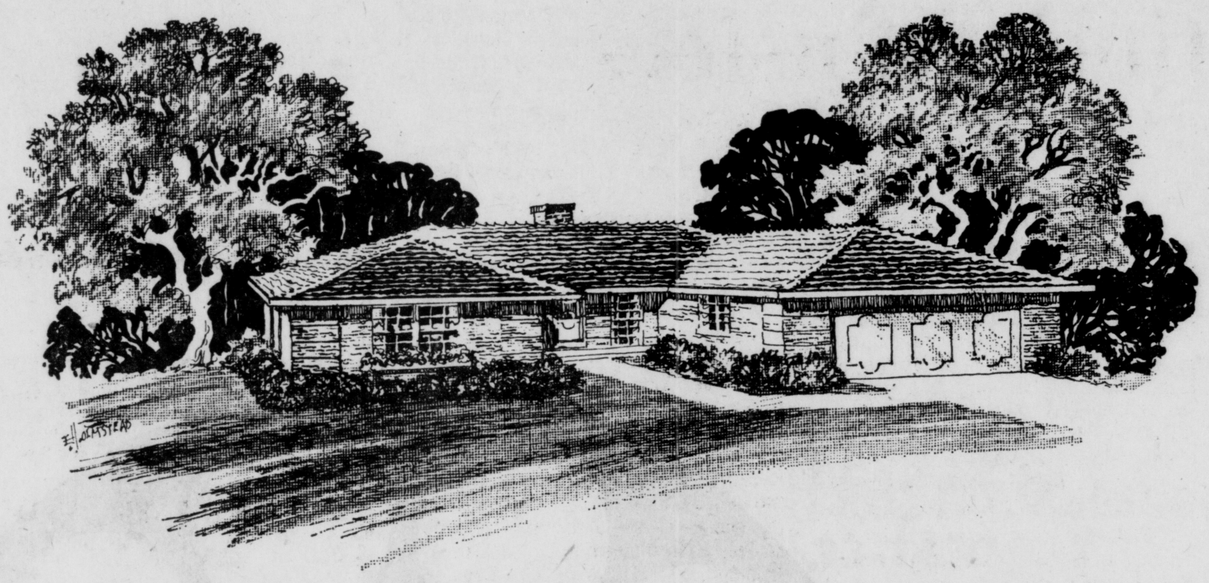
The "privacy with convenience" theme achieved by grouping the master bedroom, with its walk-in closet, and the two other bedrooms at one side of the home; approximately two-thirds of the house is given over to living — kitchen with breakfast area, dining room, living room, and the all-purpose family room (which has an optional fireplace).

The one-story home has a basement, which houses the laundry room and heating unit and storage space.

Le Trianon, as the other existing models at Riviera — Bordeaux, Burgundy, Biarritz, Chateau, Villa and Normandy — features kitchen cabinets, eye-level double oven and range, hood fan, double sink, Formica counter tops, marble or Formica vanity tops in the bathroom, decorator mirrors and double or walk-in closets.

Oak flooring, a choice of slate or quarry floors in hall and entry, insulated custom sliding patio doors and screen, full fiberglass insulation, complete weatherstripping, electric circuit-breakers, copper water pipes, and cedar or aluminum siding are also offered.

To get to Riviera Homes, take any north-south thoroughfare to Willow-Palatine Road, then West to Rand Road (Route 12) then north 1½ miles to the entrance.



ACTIVITY AREAS are separated from the sleeping area in the new Le Trianon model home in the Riviera Homes project, Arlington Heights. The development, by Aldridge Construction Co., features homes designed by architect Martin Henry Braun. This model has three bedrooms.

Attend Institute

Fourteen salesmen from Starck Realtor & Co. recently enrolled at the Realtor's Institute of Illinois in Peoria.

They recently completed Course 1, a week long session with a five-hour written examination. The Realtors Institute of Illinois is a three-year course designed to increase the professional competence of members of the real estate industry.

The Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards sponsored the first institute in Peoria in December 1964. Similar GRI schools are in existence in other states with uniform courses and requirements for graduation. Graduates receive the designation G.R.I. (Graduate, Realtors Institute).

Attending from the Starck Mount Prospect office were: Nancy Bartlett, Al Magee, Vince Rowland, Carol Schaub, Karen Johnson; from the Arlington Heights office: Lee Smith, Lorraine Glasby, Edna Stewart attended. Representatives from their Schaumburg office included: Sig Thorsen, Phil Kirsten, John Kotleba, Judy Burton and Evelyn Fentz; and associate from the Hoffman Estates office, Bill Cowin was in attendance.

Convention Is Set This Week

Federal legislation, wage-price controls, environmental issues and other topics will be discussed at the annual spring meeting of the National Association of Real Estate Boards (NAREB), to be held in Chicago through May 9. More than 1,500 Realtors will attend the sessions at the Drake Hotel.

Commenting on the significance of the upcoming sessions, NAREB President Fred C. Tucker Jr., Indianapolis, Ind., stated, "Realtors represent a vital and moving factor in the housing fortunes of this nation, and this imposes a delicate responsibility upon us all." Tucker, along with presidents of seven of the nine professional affiliate organizations of NAREB will lead a number of committee sessions aimed at reviewing the progress of association activities, and realigning policies and programs in light of recent developments in the industry.

Also featured at the seven-day meeting are a series of educational sessions sponsored by the NAREB-affiliated institutes, societies, and councils. The National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers, under the direction of president Burr Brown, Fresno, Calif., will present a comprehensive analysis of the economics of both urban and rural land development on May 6. Realtors will study methods to improve their skills in identifying and selecting investment, development, and marketing opportunities in smaller communities in addition to reviewing current finance programs.

Insight into Real Estate Taxes as They Affect FHA High Rises will be provided by Robert Pease, senior vice president, Draper & Kramer, Chicago, in a program by the American Society of Real Estate Counselors. Preceding the May 6 program, Roger W. Foster, Fitchburg, Mass., president of ASREC, will join participants in a tour of archiectural landmarks in Chicago's near north side, plus an inspection of the McCormick Place convention facilities.

On the same day, William Marschalk, assistant director of NAREB's Department of Governmental Relations, headlines a session of the Women's Council with his analysis of Recent Washington Developments Affecting Real Estate. A special seminar, on May 5 on How The Teachers Train Others to Sell will update members on the latest techniques of adult education. Gene Buescher, Albuquerque, N.M., serves as president of the council.

The annual Commercial-Investment Property Clinic of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers features three sessions May 5-6. According to Art S. Leitch, San Diego, president of NAREB, the main thrust of discussions will be in the areas of expanding broker opportunities and doing business with both real estate investment trusts and major corporations involved in real estate.

Presidents of other NAREB affiliates who will conduct special sesions include: Paul H. Rittle, Pittsburgh, Institute of Real Estate Management; Ed Mendenhall, High Point, N.C., American Chapter, International Real Estate Federation; and Richard J. Bourguignon, Green Bay, Wisc., American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

A graduate of Lane Technical high school, Chicago, he attended Wright College and currently is taking part time studies at William Rainey Harper College, Palatine.

Tax Strike Possible: Sparks

More than 120 owners of small apartment buildings indicated a willingness to engage in a "tax strike" at a meeting of a newly-formed organization, according to Michael R. Sparks, president of Sparks and Company and chairman of the Small Apartment Owners committee of the Apartment Council of Metropolitan Chicago.

Sparks said, "There is no question in my mind but that those attending our first committee meeting reflect the fear that real estate property taxes are well on the way to becoming confiscatory for those owning income property, small as well as large."

Sparks went on to say that when it becomes impossible to profit by the ownership of apartments, no new apartments will be built and many of those in existence now will be abandoned.

The Small Apartment Owners committee has been formed by the Apartment Council of Metropolitan Chicago to make it possible for owners of up to 50 residential rental units to take part in affecting matters such as maintenance, taxes and other legislative and legal matters that concern them.

The committee's next meeting will be May 31. There will be an hour and a half special training session on rental management. In addition there will be a report from the Apartment Council's legislative action committee on the status of legislation affecting management with suggestion of how members can help.

Information about the new committee for the owners of small apartment buildings can be obtained from Mr. Sparks or from Mayer Singerman, executive vice president of the Apartment Council of Metropolitan Chicago at 228 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, 782-8657.

Look For A Vintage House

by DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK UPI — There are "vintage years" for housing as for fine wines and an understanding of the concept can pay off in housing pleasure as it does in gustatory delight.

There are years of "great excellence" in various phases of home building, and there are other years when prevailing economic conditions created specific adverse effects in housing, says Kenneth Berg of Berg Enterprises, real estate and mortgage banking organization with offices in New Jersey, Florida and Arizona.

During the 1920s, Berg said, particularly in the 1924-28 period, homes were constructed by master craftsman with the best materials available. They were intended literally to last a century. They feature large rooms, dramatic high ceilings and unusually spacious basements. Even today these basement areas offer limitless possibilities for room additions, recreation and study centers.

"Periodically," Berg said, "when these homes are placed on the market, they represent first class market value for the family interested in remodeling an older home to fit their own living habits, likes and dislikes."

Although the period from 1929 to 1940 was a time of depressed economics in the United States, those homes which were built represent good quality with emphasis on workmanship. This, the realtor said, is traceable to the fact employment was at a premium and craftsmen paid meticulous attention to detail as a means of insuring their jobs.

The United States entered World War II in 1941 and then through the end of the war in 1945, there was virtually no building activity in new housing. Only special "wartime" homes were built to house defense plant workers and other special groups.

From early 1946 through 1950, Berg said, the nation experienced a general housing shortage as returning veterans flooded the housing market. Homes built during this period, he said, were planned more in terms of shelter than of amenities.

During the 1951 to 1956 cycle, significant improvements in both products and methods helped create homes of good quality. However, Berg said, a certain stereoptype tends to mark the architecture of this period. Nonetheless, he feels homes built during this era offer excellent buys in terms of high standards both in materials and workmanship.

In resale homes built from 1957 to 1967, Berg says there is a whole new spectrum of style, materials and design. However, these homes generally are priced higher than those of other periods. This was an era of soaring land costs, shortages in skilled labor and higher construction costs — many of which are reflective of better materials, more amenities and increased expenditures for architecture and traffic flow study.

Additionally, Berg said, the resale home generally offers an economically sound opportunity in today's market. Many older homes contain greater usable square footage than homes built today. As a rule, too, the resale home already has an established lawn, shrubbery and trees.

"Thus," Berg concludes, "the inexperienced home shopper can readily see that homes, like expensive wines, have their vintage years."

INTENSIVE LANDSCAPING will be featured at the Atrium development in Elmhurst. Two-story townhomes and six-story condominium buildings will feature exterior of white vinyl paint, to contrast with surroundings. Outdoor swimming pool, clubhouse and tennis courts are also shown.

Accent Shade, Privacy

More than 60 varieties of trees and shrubs will be featured in the landscaping of Atrium/Elmhurst.

Atrium, a planned unit development in Elmhurst, is under construction north of Roosevelt Road, about midway between York Road and Illinois Rte. 83. It will include 210 townhomes and 288 condominium apartments, according to developer Ned Simon. He is president of I. Simon and Son, Inc., which is creating Atrium with Romanek-Golub and Co.

"Atrium's residents will live in a virtual arboretum," Simon said. More than half a million dollars is allocated for landscaping. Landscape architect is The Franz Lipp-Marvin Wehler Partnership of Winfield. Contractor is Freeman Landscape Construction Co., Mundelein.

Lipp and Wehler worked in cooperation with Booth & Nagle, architects/planners, who designed structures and the over-all site plan for the 27½ acre development. Maple, ash, linden and sycamore are among the trees to be planted. "An assortment of crabapples, birches and hawthorns, together with several kinds of evergreen, will offer seasonal color," Wehler said. Mature shrubs for visual backgrounds, hardy ground covers, lawn sod and annual flowers will complete the plantings, he added.

"Features will be the 10 uniquely landscaped quarter-acre courts around which the townhomes will be clustered and berms — low-rising artificial hills — that will give visual texture to the otherwise flat, monotonous terrain," Wehler said. A wall of greenery parallel with Roosevelt Road on Atrium's south border will be planted on bermed ridges as high as five feet above grade. Six-foot-tall Mission arborvitae will be planted in arc-shaped hedges from 45 to 100 feet long. Weeping willows and medium-height trees will also be planted.

Weeping willows also will dot the bank of Salt Creek, on Atrium's southwest boundary near the balconied, six-story buildings of condominium apartment homes. A screen of trees, together with massed shrubs, will define the site to the east, north and northwest, as a border between Atrium's townhome clusters and homes outside the planned unit development. Evergreens will be added as windbreaks to the landscaping around the central clubhouse, swimming pools, tennis courts and other community recreation facilities.

"Courtyards have been designed to give townhome owners vistas into private garden areas from their family rooms," Wehler said. "This will be accomplished by combining trees, shrubs, berms, formal hedges, ground cover and lawn so the view features greenery in the courtyards, and creates privacy. For individuality, the planting designs and land contours will vary slightly from court to court," he added.

At the center of the first court will be a tall honey locust, with trunk diameter of about seven inches. Weeping maple trees will be planted in three of the corners and a weeping crabapple in the fourth. Lower-growing dwarf Sargent crabapples will be set among the larger trees and Washington hawthorns will be near patio doors leading from family rooms. Open portions of the court will be sodded, patios will be surfaced with Meramec gravel and a variety of ground-cover plants will complete the landscaping.

On the living room sides of the townhomes, opening via sliding glass doors to the sodded and landscaped terrain between clusters, private outdoor areas will be defined by screen plantings of cotoneaster acutifolia, at right angles to the walls, Wehler said. Berms, tall and medium-height trees including Scotch pines and a variety of massed shrubs will afford privacy between clusters and from Atrium's curving, interior roadway. Landscaping also will screen covered parking for townhome owners.

Generally speaking, there is really no bad time to sell a home, but it is safe to assume that of all the seasons, Spring is generally considered the most active period for home buyer interest.

Obviously, as the days become longer, the brightness of early Spring brings more home buyers out to look around and see what is available on the home market.

If you are thinking of putting your home on the market, anytime is a good time but Spring time is generally considered the best because of the increased activity in home buying interest. We recommend you do things to help sell your home quickly and economically.

Opens Olde Salem Units

A new group of model town homes has been opened in Hanover Park by Miller Builders, Inc. Olde Salem, a new community featuring a variety of two and three bedroom New England styled homes, offers buyers eight different floor plans at prices ranging from $26,490 to $30,300.

The two-bedroom town house is often in demand by young marrieds and mature couples according to the developer. To satisfy this market, Miller has three different models.

The Windsor model is listed at $26,490. This home is purchased with two bedrooms and one bath in a ranch style plan. As the family grows, the 21 by 23-foot attic can be converted into two additional bedrooms. There is also a full basement, ideal for a future family room, also to be finished at the owner's convenience.

The Somerset, a two-bedroom model priced at $29,590 is designed in a colonial style with a formal central entrance foyer and two bedrooms on the second floor. There is a half bath on the main level and a Georgian floor plan with dining and living rooms flanking the foyer.

The third two-bedroom home is the Chatham, with one and a half baths, a two-story ceiling in the living room and a family room with sliding glass doors opening onto a finished patio. The Chatham is priced at $27,990.

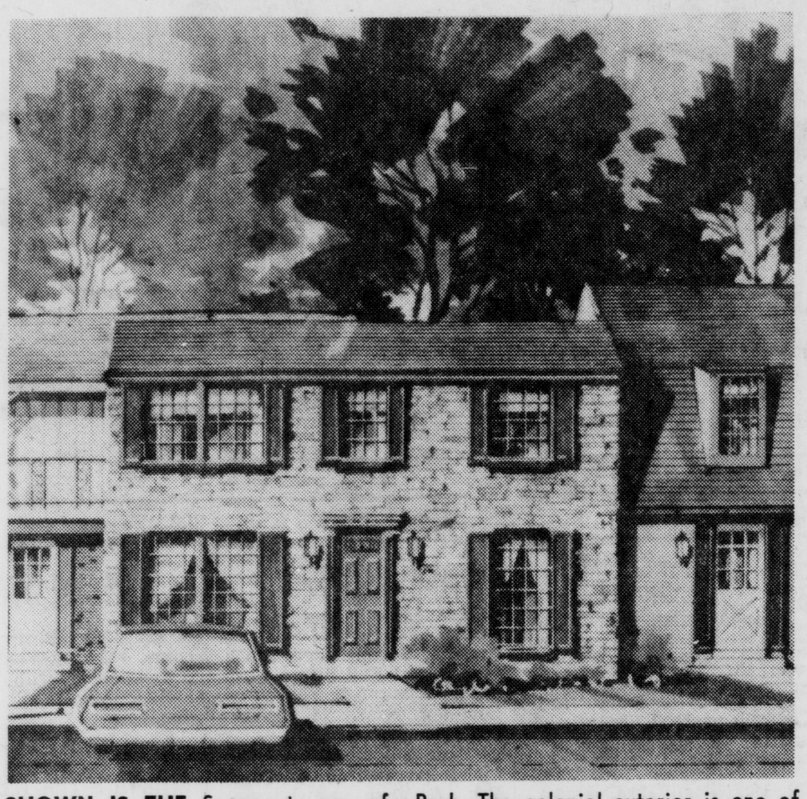
There are five different three bedroom models at Olde Salem. Chester Moskal, vice president of the Miller firm in charge of the single family residential division, said, "We anticipate a very brisk sales program with these three-bedroom townhomes. Market studies conducted prior to construction show a ready market among growing families for this amount of living space combined with the amenities offered in the Club House, swimming pool and landscaped grounds with walks, gardens and parkways. The complex is built around a lake, further enhancing the vista view from all units and providing a natural area for future recreational use."

The three-bedroom models feature formal tiled entrance foyers, separate formal dining areas and dining rooms, one to two baths and in some cases, a private patio or balcony. Prices range from $28,990 to $30,300.

All of the town homes in Olde Salem include central air conditioning, full basements, off-street parking and wall to wall carpeting as shown in the models. The kitchens are fully equipped with free-standing oven and range, frost free refrigerators, dishwasher and disposal. The sliding glass patio doors are fullly insulated.

The front lawns, public grounds and exterior of the townhomes are completely maintained by professionals. This includes leaf raking, snow shoveling, grass cutting and refuse pick-up.

The entrance to Olde Salem models is about one half mile east of Barrington Road on Irving Park Road.



SHOWN IS THE Somerset, one of the two-bedroom townhomes being shown at Miller Builders, Inc. new Olde Salem subdivision in Hanover Park. The colonial exterior is one of eight varying elevations available. The Somerset is priced at $29,590.

All such licenses shall expire on the thirty-first of December, following the date of issue. Where a license is issued after June 30th in any current year, the fee to be paid shall be a sum equal to one-half of the annual license fee hereinbefore specified.

No person, firm or corporation shall be required to pay any vehicle license tax, until thirty days after having become a resident of the Village of Wheeling. In the event a licensee fails to obtain the required vehicle license before the 15th day of February of each year, or within thirty (30) days after having become a resident, in addition to the payment of the required vehicle license tax, the licensee shall pay a late charge of FIVE DOLLARS ($5.00) to the Village Clerk. Vehicles purchased by residents of the Village, which have not previously been licensed by the Village, shall obtain the vehicle license tax within three (3) working days of the purchase thereof.

Section 9.62.070: Tag removal upon sale — Transfer of License. Immediately upon the sale of any vehicle licensed under this chapter, when such sale is made prior to the date of expiration of such license, the vendor shall remove the village license tag from the vehicle so sold, and within three (3) working days after the date of such sale, send notification of such sale, showing the date thereof, the village license number of the vehicle so sold, and the name and address or place of business of the purchaser, to the Village Clerk. Such license tag shall thereupon cease to apply to the vehicle so sold, except where the vendor shall notify the Village Clerk of his, or her or their desire to transfer to the purchaser of the vehicle the license issued therefor.

Within three (3) working days, the vendor of any vehicle shall notify the Village Clerk of his, her or their desire to transfer to the purchaser of any vehicle the license issued therefor, and when application for transfer of such license is made to the Village Clerk by the purchaser of such vehicle, upon payment of a transfer fee of one dollar ($1.00) to the Village, it shall be permissible for the Village Clerk to transfer such license to the assignee designated by the vendor, but for use only on the particular vehicle for which such license was originally issued.

Whenever the owner or owners of any vehicle licensed under this chapter shall, before the expiration of such license, sell or otherwise dispose of such vehicle, and shall notify the Village Clerk of such sale as hereinbefore provided, and thereafter shall acquire another vehicle of the same class as that for which said license was originally issued and shall desire to use the said license for the new vehicle, such owner or owners shall make application to the Village Clerk for transfer of such license, giving such detailed description of the new vehicle as the Village Clerk shall require, within three (3) working days; whereupon it shall be permissible, upon payment of a transfer fee of one dollar ($1.00) to the Village, for the Village Clerk to authorize the transfer of such license to the vehicle designated.

SECTION C. That Section 9.62.080 of Chapter 9.62 of Title 9 of the Wheeling Municipal Code be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 9.62.080: Penalty for violations. Any person who shall take, destroy, remove or obliterate any license tag, plate or emblem provided for in this chapter, without the consent of the owner of the vehicle, shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars for each offense. Every such wrongful destruction, obliteration or removal of such license tag, plate or emblem from any vehicle shall be considered a separate offense.

Any person violating any provisions of this chapter shall be fined not less than five dollars, plus the purchase of the appropriate vehicle license, nor more than five hundred dollars for each offense. A separate and distinct offense shall be considered as committed each and every day any wagon or vehicle is used upon the public ways of the city without having procured a license and without having complied with the provisions of this chapter.

SECTION D: If Ordinances or parts of Ordinances thereof, in force at the time of this Ordinance shall take effect, are inconsistent with the provisions of this Chapter, the more restrictive provisions shall govern.

SECTION E. The invalidity of any section or provision of this Ordinance hereby adopted shall not invalidate other sections or provisions thereof.

SECTION F. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of these Sections shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not to exceed $500.00 as provided in Chapter 1.04 of the Wheeling Municipal Code. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

Launch Operation Anchor-Safe

CHICAGO — Operation Anchor-Safe, a nationwide effort to eliminate wind damage to mobile homes, has been launched by the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association (MHMA).

The program is one of education and legislative action, reports John M. Martin, president of the national trade association. "Like other forms of housing, mobile homes are subject to storm damage, too," said the Washington, D.C.-based spokesman. "Operation Anchor-Safe will provide mobile home consumers, retailers and development management with educational material and legal means of eliminating this situation."

The MHMA executive reports that a nationwide effort is underway by the industry to have every state adopt legislative requirements for mobile home anchoring.

According to Martin, the industry supports a new mobile home park standard, American National Standards Institute's ANSI A119.3 which covers mobile home park development criteria. MHMA will actively seek state adoption nationwide.

"MHMA's Land Development Division encourages all mobile home developments across the nation to make necessary arrangements for anchoring. Pending appropriate testing and adoption of anchoring device criteria as part of the ANSI program, the division has prepared suggested engineering drawings and anchoring instructions.

"While the final standard may vary from this suggested approach, developers and consumers will have some basic guidelines tofollow during the interim period," he said.

"It becomes more difficult to reach the individual mobile home owner, 2.5 million households, and even more difficult to recommend a change which will require a capital expenditure. Hopefully, the nation's mobile home owners will realize savings in insurance premiums, and increased resale price generated by anchoring," he concluded.

Martin pointed out that MHMA member firms are required to build mobile homes to a national performance standard, ANSI A119.1, which covers body and frame construction.

This suggested approach provides the consumer with protection and a safe base for anchoring. There are four basic criteria for maximum home protection: the mobile home is constructed according to ANSI A119.1; the mobile home site is improved according to minimum requirements; the home is properly blocked on the mobile home site; and the home is properly anchored to the home site.

The engineering drawings and tie down procedures were prepared by Herbert Behrend, MHMA's director of consulting services. Behrend, a licensed engineer, has been responsible for designing more than one million mobile home sites.

Consumers or other interested persons may secure suggested engineering drawings and anchoring instructions by sending a stamped (8c), self-addressed long envelope (a no. 10 envelope) with 25 cents to Operation Anchor-Safe, MHMA, Box 56066, Chicago, Ill. 60656.

Pollution Control Foe Hit

'Government's SO Strong'

I wish to reply to Peggy Daley Taylor's letter against government control of air pollution through your paper:

I would like to express my thanks to you for pointing out how much freedom we have lost through government control of air pollution. You are so right. Agencies and bureaus have sprung up during the last few years as people jumped on the ecology bandwagon. And Washington is controlling our lives in more ways than ever before. Free air is all we ask and the right to do with it as we please. The quality of life suffers when we lose any of our rights. In the last ten years I have witnessed many changes wrought by these bureaucratic agencies which have cost us much freedom and the situation is worsening as these agencies muscle the auto industry to further costly adaptations for our beloved internal combustion engine.

I have witnessed the loss of our right to burn leaves and trash on our own premises. Now why should the government control what I do on my own property? I have fond childhood memories of bonfires in the back yard and watching smoke billow up into the air carrying flaming sparks. Gone are the days when childdren can have these experiences. My children will never know the pleasure of being awakened on a Saturday morning by the smoke from a neighbor's trash fire wafting into their bedroom window. These rights have been lost because of governmental control.

Also, I remember my first apartment across from the main Motorla plant in the mid-60's from which we had a view of a smokestack producing lovely billowing clouds of black smoke. But alas, Motorola was pressured into closing down their incinerator and bought a trash compactor to help minimize the size of their wastes so it could be carted away. I am sure thousands of businesses were pressured into this type of action by the government. All this costs money and taking money from American businesses hardly sounds like freedom to me.

But there is hope, Mrs. Taylor, because we still have our inalienable right to drive a car. With this device maybe we can make up for all the freedom we have lost. Thanks to it the air is not much cleaner than before the incinerators shut down. Thanks to the car we still have the freedom to turn the horizon a beautiful shade of gray on a clear day and see the pall over Chicago from the air 300 miles away. Soon maybe we can look straight up on a clear day and see a gray sky. Won't you rejoice to be able to SEE all that FREE air? Then we could develop a friendly rivalry with Los Angeles to see how many days the high pollution readings will forcibly keep school children inside during recess and discourage people from too much bodily activity outdoors.

Maybe we should organize our own Fight for Free Air group. With power behind us maybe we could exert enough pressure to let the incinerators burn again. Every grocery and department store could burn, burn, burn, just like in the good old days before government interference. We could encourage our members to produce ever increasing amounts of trash and as land fill sights become inadequate incinerators will have to burn our mountains of garbage and we can breathe in what is left of our tin cans and discarded plastic.

As you suggest, free enterprise has done an outstanding job on its own toward controlling pollution. This is why power plants are sitting idle waiting for devices to put on their smokestacks to control particulate emissions — they felt bad about all that dirt getting into the air, government standards had nothing to do with it. They would have done this without government interference! We all trust corporations to have their own consciences about their wastes. Just look at how clean they have kept our rivers. Catfish fishing is better than ever in some rivers. Of course some rivers don't have too many catfish and carp, but shouldn't we have free water and the right to do with as we please? "We've come a long way from freedom, baby," when the government controls the air and water.

But take heart, Mrs. Taylor, you still have freedom of combustion in your own car and also in your fireplace. You can always filthy up the air as you enjoy the cozy fireside. So throw another log on the fire or rev up your engine and enjoy your remaining freedoms.

Those Hidden Military Heroes

Mr. Dennis Kocik of Des Plaines speaks as though the only glory in life is — let's you and him fight — and then he attempts to dignify it with patriotism and flag waving.

Let's all hope that most of us don't consider "conquering" as synonymous with hero . . . I'm reminded of men like Col. Fleming, M.D., who while a P.O.W. in Korea, bartered with his guards for medicine for the sick and wounded in his P.O.W. camp. He was court-martialed for his trouble upon his return — this despite a public uproar. Rear Admiral H. Rickover, U.S. Navy, has been blocked from further promotion because of his insistence, publicly, of excellence and exposure of incompetence. Then there is Lt. Col. Anthony Herbert. Herbert has courageously attempted to help restore confidence and respect to the U.S. Army that he loves and has served so well. He has been relieved of his command and is being harassed out of the army. These men are among the many genuine heroes who are willing to lay themselves on the line for preservation of excellence and dignity of our nation and our military.

Mr. Kocik and his followers should be aware they are obviously worshiping false gods. He should also be reminded that those who left this country are neither heroes nor cowards. They are the victims of an impossible situation brought on by chest-thumping, saber-rattling genuine cowards of previous decades who used large amounts of bad judgment and had a high level of incompetence.

Want To Read 'Marxist Review'?

I wonder how many of your readers have read a charming little magazine — whose title is: "The World Marxist Review." It is printed in eighteen different languages; and is published by progress books, 487 Adelaide Street West, Toronto, Canada. The United States address is: Imported Publications, 1730 West Arcade Place, Chicago, Illinois 60612.

On the inside of the front cover they will find the stated goals of this journal:

"— We shall present analysis of the world revolutionary process, covering its basic trends and topical problems. Due attention will be devoted to the further elaboration of the ideas advanced by the International Meeting of Communist and Workers' Parties of 1969."

"—We shall give prominence to the experience of building socialism and communism, and to the consolidation and growth and the socialist world system."

"—We shall cover all events of importance in the life of the fraternal parties, their work with the masses, their theoretical activity in advancing Marxism-Leninism, and in exposing modern bourgeois ideology and opportunist stances."

"—We shall give broader coverage to problems preoccupying Communists all over the world, and shall offer space for exchanges of views, produce series of selected articles on specific subjects, react to acute international issues, and publish supplements with documented studies of present-day socio-political and economic affairs."

On page 46, in an article entitled: "The Party and the Equality of Women," appears the following:

"Capitalist exploitation was and remains the basic cause of woman's oppressed state. The relations of the sexes in a capitalist society can be traced to their private property basis. And this influences the views and behavior of many representatives of the working class. The modern individual family is based on the open or disguised domestic enslavement of the woman; and modern society is a mass composed solely of individual families as its molecules. Today, in the great majority of cases the man has to be the earner, the breadwinner of the family at least among the propertied classes, and this gives him a dominating position which requires no special legal privileges. In the family, he is the bourgeois; the wife represents the proletariat."

"Marx and Engels rendered a great service by disclosing the revolutionary roll of the working class, which in emancipating itself emancipates all the oppressed, abolishes exploitation and all manner of social prejudices and discrimination and, at the same time, the oppression of women. Marx and Engels repeatedly emphasized that woman can become an equal member of society only if she joins the working-class revolutionary struggle."

If any of your readers care to read this magazine in its entirety — it is available at their local tax-supported public library. At least by doing so they would be apprised of the official Communist position with regard to topics of current interest.

He Hits Trash Pick-Up...

Permit me to protest against idiocy. Today was the traditional trash pickup day for our end of the Village, and there was plenty to be picked up.

At 9 p.m,. the trucks came down our street — in the rain — still gathering the leavings of our society from the curbs. In shock that these men were still working at that hour, we ran out with the only thing we could lay hands on in a hurry: a bag of cookies for each truck. Our shock deepened at discovery that the crews had been at work since 4 a.m., and expected to continue until 1 or 2 a.m. tomorrow, just to meet some imbecile requirement that all trash be picked up in one day, 'to minimize the blighting of our Village's appearance.'

Fatigue alone breeds danger. Have a ever watched the scoop at the back of a garbage truck lift and smash the things dumped into it? Would you permit Arlington Heights policemen or firemen to flout the rules of safety the way these men were required to, by operating those scoops in the dark? I think not. At least, I sincerely hope not!

Arlington Heights is a fine town in many ways, but it contains entirely too many infants over the age of 21 whose otherwise paralyzed esthetic senses are offended by the sight of trash at the curbs for more than a day, once a year. Infants who would be the first to complain loudly if denied this free annual opportunity to unload bulky junk.

No person who is even half rational would contend it is worth the risk of one man losing a hand, to shorten the "eyesore time" of our spring cleanup. Yet, that is just what we have done several times over in this Village this week.

If the Village government is responsible for placing the requirement on Laseke, you all deserve impeachment. If Laseke placed the requirement on his crews as a grandstand gesture he (not the crews) deserves to lose the franchise. I've been unhappy about the price and the quality of the service upon occasion, but this performance transcends the remotest limits of reason. I'm grateful to the men who worked their tails off and risked injury for the dubious benefit of my town; but I'm deeply ashamed of the town that allowed it to happen.

The FENCE POST
Letters to the Editor

...Village Manager Responds

Dear Mr. Theriault

Your letter of April 19, expressing concern for the safety of the refuse collection crews during the Spring Clean-Up, was referred to me for investigation.

Although the crews worked long hours, the information provided you was somewhat exaggerated. On each of the three days of Spring Clean-Up, the collection crews began work at 6 a.m. All routes were completed at 7:30 p.m. on Monday; at 7 p.m. on Tuesday; and at 11:15 p.m. on Wednesday.

The decision to continue the collection on Wednesday night was made jointly by the Village Health Director and Mr. Laseke, both of whom had been closely monitoring the operation. I am advised that they were influenced by the following factors:

—Although adverse weather slowed the work, the collectors are well-trained, well-paid, highly-skilled workers who are accustomed to rain and snow.

—The hope persisted that all routes could be completed by 10:00 p.m. and most were. A few crews worked beyond 11:00 p.m.

—The crew members were highly motivated to get the job done, rather than upset the following day's schedule.

—Mr. Laseke interrupted the work to provide crew rest and dinner for the crews.

I share your concern for crew safety and will fully evaluate all aspects of this test operation in order to determine the best course of action for the future. Your comments are most helpful in this regard.

Camp Fire's Thanks

On behalf of the Camp Fire Girls of Kayati District which consists of the cities of Barrington, Lake Zurich, Palatine and Rolling Meadows, I would like to express their thanks for the fine coverage in news articles and pictures printed of Camp Fire Girls 62nd year in existence.

This year the annual Candy Sale started on their birthday and candy sales surpassed last years total boxes by 3,000. The candy sale is a self-help project local groups and individual girl candy credits and camperships. Local groups receive five cents for each box sold and individual girls earn credits which may be applied to either Day Camp, which will be held this year at Deer Grove Park from June 20 to 30. The girls may choose to apply their candy credits to any one of three resident Camps owned and operated by Camp Fire Girls.

We are looking forward to continued publicity coverage during the coming year.

'We Must Clean Up Environment'

This is in reply to Peggy Taylor's beef about the ecology stampede. I am sorry that her child's statement that the best way to get rid of pollution is to get all automobiles off the street disturbed her so. That would be a partial solution, but it is too radical and will not happen. I do not know how old her child is, but if her child's simple statement so upset her, I wonder what Peggy's mental age is.

Many people died in 1930 when coal burning furnaces emitted 519 micrograms of particulates per cubic yard, and more would be dead today except for the switch to other fuels. In 42 years the nature of emissions has changed and is far deadlier than in the past. It is the obligation of the government to get the air clean because those that pollute it are not doing anything about it except when they are put in fear of prosecution or adverse publicity which shatters their image. The cost of cleaning up their emissions is regarded as a necessary negative. It drains their profits. It enables us all to live longer and healthier lives.

We do produce much commercial waste, filth and garbage and means must be devised to rid our land of these evidences of our civilization economically and effectively. All the government is trying to do is to get all of us involved in making this a healthier land in which to live. We are all for clean air, clean water and clean food, but we won't get it if we rely on the voluntary efforts of those responsible for it to clean it up. Muscle alone will do it, and it must be government muscle in order to achieve that objective.

If we don't clean up our environment the result will be shortened lives, deterioration of our buildings and degradation of our lakes and rivers. Only the government, backed by the people can get that result. If not the government, then who?

Valenza's 'Harassment' Blasted

As a citizen of Wheeling, a resident of the Strong St. area in particular, I feel I must write this letter.

At the Board meeting, April 17, Mr. Valenza implied that Harold Fagan was involved with the Strong St. homeowners on a political basis. I would like to make it very clear that Mr. Fagan was asked by the homeowners to speak at our first gathering two months ago, strictly on the basis of his general knowledge of the village laws and codes. He very kindly agreed, and at a later meeting he was nominated and elected by vote of the residents of the Strong St. area to be the chairman of the group. He has since then, given generously and freely of his time and knowledge in leading our meetings, organizing our actions, and conferring with our attorney. For this we are all very grateful. Politics has in no way been involved with our actions.

Needless to say, I think a lot of people might feel far more confident and comfortable with men such as Mr. Fagan to represent them on the Village Board, as opposed to the present situation, where quite obviously the real needs and opinions of the people are grossly ignored.

I'd also like to add that Mr. Valenzas' obvious harassment of Mr. Fagan Monday night was disgraceful. It's sad indeed, to realize that anyone wishing to address the board with opposing views must also expect to be submitted to such degrading treatment.

This may sound to you like the words of an angry citizen. Well, gentlemen, that is exactly what it is; the words of an angry and very disappointed citizen.

Thank You

On behalf of Camp Fire Girls - Taticon District we would like to thank you very much for the articles and publicity received through Paddock Publications. Certainly this contributed much to the success of our recent "Candy Sale."

We wish particularly to thank Miss Fran Heckart for printing an article showing many ways Camp Fire Candy can be used in delightful desserts.

We certainly appreciate your most generous and kind cooperation.

'Life's Not Hard In Canada For 'Dodgers''

I am writing to air my views on the amnesty issue. I can not comment on Mr. Kocik's letter because I didn't see it; however, for various reasons, I also can not agree with those people who lean to amnesty.

Even though I have to state that the Vietnam War is an illegal war since there was no Congressional Declaration of War at its onset; it is, however, by no means an immoral war which I will later elaborate on. If there had been a declaration of war, we would have had less problems with the violent element associated with anti-war demonstrations, as Anton Dvylis referred to, since they would have been considered treasonable acts and appropriate measures would have been taken to stop such misuse of our citizens' rights of free speech, assembly and protest.

Of course, to have declared war on North Vietnam would have meant declaring communism as an enemy who we intended to defeat and any aid now given to communists countries would have to be stopped. I take it for granted that all reading this do know that aid from this country does go to communists countries and that aid from Russia is going to North Vietnam. Isn't it amazing that few concerned humanitarians think to tell Russia that Vietnam is an immoral war and their capital should not be spent on war making materials?

This war is not immoral on our part because we are fighting agents of communism, who, according to acknowledged fact, murdered 50,000 or so North Vietnamese and also many South Vietnamese who would not rally to their "cause." A world organization such as the United Nations is more guilty of immorality to look at such statistics as these and the happenings in such countries as Czechoslovakia, etc., and do nothing. If the United Nations was properly doing its job to stop such barbarity as this, we would never have gotten involved in a Vietnam. The apathy or lack of concern for human life in the United Nations is just on a larger scale than that of a citizen who will not in some way help a neighbor who is being beaten on the streets of our cities.

Now let's get to this comparison of courage between draft dodgers and our revolutionary ancestors of 1775. These heroes of 1775 did not expect amnesty from England if their cause did not succeed. Many knew they would probably face death and did for their convictions and many others would lose financial security which they may have had in the past. It's a long cry from the draft dodgers of today who expect to be allowed back in the United States just because they were born here.

What hardships did he really undergo for his convictions? The modern day draft dodger knows that life in Canada is very similar to life here and friends, relatives and sweethearts can either join him whenever they feel like it, mail is always a form of keeping in touch, and unless this country does not run true to form, amnesty will be declared and he will be free to go back to a bright future in the richest country on earth. Some chance he's taking! As far as his talents and usefulness to this country are concerned, of what use are they if he runs every time the going gets tough?

Our veterans also have talents we can use and they should not have to be in competition with draft dodgers after the chances they took on the battlefield. No one will ever convince me that it's easier to chance facing a bullet than it is to leave this country to avoid the draft.

Compared to the chances a draft dodger really takes, let's compare it to the real chances a young man takes to serve his country. If one of the lucky ones, he'll come back able to resume a normal life, a little older and a lot wiser. However, there are those who will come home only to be buried and whose friends, relatives and sweethearts will not be able to visit, talk and laugh with them again. This hurt I personally know of. However, there is another sorrow which I believe is somewhat worse than this; it's the sorrow of a family of a P.O.W., a person missing in action or a veteran who comes back far from being in the best of health. When the war is all over, these are the veterans and their families which deserve our help and concern. Along with ending this war all our efforts should be spent on seeing our P.O.Ws returned.

If those who left this country of their own free will want so badly to be back with their families; let their families go and join them!

Alarming Rise of Venereal Disease

Questions & Answers For Family Health

As a Public Service, The Herald offers its readers these answers to many common questions people have about health and medicine. All material has been approved by The Illinois Medical Association and The California Medical Association.

State's Cases Increase 132%

There's irony in the definition of the word "venereal," as in venereal disease. It grows out of the name of Venus, the goddess of love.

"Of or pertaining to venery or sexual love," the dictionary says. ". . . relating to sexual intercourse." But these are unlovely illnesses — serious illnesses which can lead to blindness, mental deterioration, crippling, heart disease or even death.

Worse, the incidence of VD is rising in frightening degree. And there is one brutal fact which cannot be ignored: It is affecting not only prostitutes and their patrons, but thousands of young people — middle-class teenagers and young adults under the age of 30.

It doesn't make pretty reading. It would be nice if it didn't have to be written. But health authorities are deeply concerned, because eradication programs aren't working. The authorities feel that progress can be made only when the public — and that includes teen-agers — is fully informed.

Thus, here is a comprehensive review of what has been called the nation's most serious communicable disease problem.

Q—What is venereal disease?

A—A communicable disease which is spread from person to person by intimate contact. "VD," as it is generally called, usually refers to syphilis and gonorrhea in this country. A number of other venereal diseases are common elsewhere in the world, but occur infrequently in the United States.

Q—Why hasn't penicillin brought VD under control?

A—It is ironic that since we have found an effective treatment in penicillin, the disease continues to flourish instead of declining. Fifty years ago, VD was universally feared. It was common knowledge that it required a prolonged course of painful treatment, and those whose cases were not recognized faced permanent crippling and death.

However, with the discovery of penicillin during World War II, people became less concerned because they felt there was a "quick cure" if they became infected. There was a de-emphasis of public education on venereal disease, and the attitude toward it became matter-of-fact. As a result, VD now tops the list of our communicable disease problems.

Q—What is syphilis?

A—The disease dates back to antiquity. Some called it "pox" or "the great pox" to distinguish it from small pox. It has been called lues, an old word for pestilence. The modern name derives from a poem written by an Italian physician in the 16th Century, in which one of the characters was called Syphilis. In the poem, he was afflicted with the then-prevalent venereal disease which now bears his name. The disease, one which affects the whole body, is caused by a corkscrewed-shaped organism called a spirochete.

Q—What are the signs of infection?

A—The first signs develop within 10 days to three weeks after sexual relations with an infected person. An ulcerating, but painless, sore appears on the sex organs or elsewhere on the body. There is usually some swelling of the lymph nodes in the groin. The primary lesion is more easily detected in males than in females, since in females it may be hidden within the vaginal area, on the cervix.

Although the presence of syphilis at this early stage does not always show up in blood tests, doctors can confirm diagnosis through microscopic studies.

Tho next stage occurs from one to three months later. There is a generalized, non-itching eruption, often involving the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet. There may be other symptoms, such as sore throat, pain in the joints, and some loss of hair. If the disease is not treated at this stage, the rash and the other symptoms subside. This is very misleading to the patient, who believes — falsely — that he has recovered. What has actually happened is that the disease has gone into a latent phase, during which time severe and permanent damage may result.

Q—Can one have syphilis and not know it?

A—Yes. The painless cancre may go unnoticed, or may be considered nothing more serious than a coldsore on the lip. Since the cancre will heal by itself, whether it is treated or not, the patient may believe he is cured when it disappears.

Q—What happens when a person is not treated?

A—The germs of syphilis may remain hidden in the body for as long as 10 or more years before any damage appears. Suddenly, the patient may become crippled, develop heart symptoms, blood vessel disease or blindness, or show mental symptoms. He may even die.

Q—Can a pregnant woman pass syphilis on to her unborn child?

A—Yes. The micro-organisms which cause the disease can pass through the interlocking blood streams of the mother and baby. When this happens, the child may be deformed or may be born dead.

Q—Can the child be protected against the infection?

A—Yes. Most states now require that a pregnant woman have a blood test early in pregnancy so that she may be treated if syphilis is present. This protects the infant from congenital syphilis if adequate doses of penicillin are given the mother during the first 18 weeks of pregnancy. Treatment in later stages cannot correct the changes in the unborn baby's bones and teeth, but it can cure the active disease and prevent further damage.

Telltale Signs Of Infection

Q—Is there a simple test for syphilis?

A—Yes. There are several, of which the Wassermann test is perhaps the best known. Many states require such a test before a marriage license is issued. The various tests, all of which reliably identify a substance present in the blood of persons with syphilis, are collectively referred to as STS: serological tests for syphilis.

Q—Are these tests always accurate?

A—They are not infallible. Both false positive and false negative results occur in a small percentage of cases. However, the STS are a great aid in diagnosis and in case-finding by population screening, especially when they are accompanied by a physical examination.

Q—What would contribute to a false positive test?

A—The false positive has been associated with smallpox vaccinations and various other immunizations, certain acute infections and on occasion, with other disorders. These associations are unusual, however, and the correct diagnosis can be determined by careful examination, a detailed patient history and repeated or special laboratory tests.

Q—What is gonorrhea?

A—It is another communicable venereal disease which is caused by a gonococcus, a micro-organism shaped like a coffee bean. The germ produces an acute inflammation of the genital and urinary tracts.

Q—What are the signs of this disease?

A—Painful, burning sensation is felt when the bladder is being emptied. There is a discharge from the sex organs. The symptoms commonly occur within three to nine days after exposure, and are less discernible in women than in men. As in syphilis, the acute symptoms of gonorrhea may disappear with or without treatment, but permanent damage may be done to the reproductive organs and the urinary tract.

Q—Can the conococcus affect the eyes?

A—This can happen when an infected person rubs his eyes with his fingers. By law, silver nitrate drops or penicillin must be placed in the eyes of all newborn infants to prevent gonorrheal eye infection, a requirement which has virtually eliminated this condition in the newborn.

Q—Can a person acquire gonorrhea by other than sexual contact?

A—There is a very slight chance that this could happen. Once outside the body, the gonococcus germ dies quickly; thus there is little possibility of accidental infection by external contacts as in public washrooms.

Q—What should a person do if he or she suspects venereal infection?

A—Prompt medical treatment is absolutely essential because of the contagious nature of the disease and the potential harm to the infected person. All medical records are confidential, though it is most important that public health authorities receive the names of contacts, so that they themselves can be treated.

Q—Will the Wassermann test detect gonorrhea?

A—No. There are separate tests for each of the diseases.

Q—What is the usual treatment for VD?

A—Current treatment emphasizes the use of penicillin as the antibiotic of choice. Patients who are sensitive to penicillin may be treated with other antibiotics. Some strains of gonococci have developed a resistance to penicillin, but cures are still possible by using massive doses of penicillin or other antibiotics.

Q—Is the prostitute primarily responsible for the spread of VD?

A—There was a time when the prostitute was the key figure in sexual promiscuity and the spread of VD — but not any more. Most cases of VD today are found in middle-class teenagers and young adults under 30.

Q—What can parents do to educate their children on the hazards of promiscuous behavior?

A—Sex education should be a matter of gradual home education which begins very early in childhood and continues through the school years. Obviously, not all sexual behavior in youth can be controlled by parents, teachers, physicians, ministers and other counselors. But certainly one factor can — and that is ignorance. Both teen-agers and parents must learn how to recognize evidence of venereal infection and what to do about it. They should know the dangers of promiscuity, association with infected persons, and of ignoring an infection.

They should be aware of treatment facilities, and should, most certainly, cooperate with health authorities in reporting the identity of sexual contacts so that the spread of VD can be curbed.

IMPORTANT: If you have further questions, consult your own physician.

Tea Cookies

Lemon Filling
¾ cup sifted flour
¾ cup corn starch
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 eggs
1 teaspoon anise or almond extract
⅓ cup sugar
½ cup margarine
Confectioners sugar

Prepare Lemon Filling; chill while baking cookies. Sift together flour, corn starch and baking powder. Beat eggs until light and fluffy. Beat in extract, sugar and margarine with rotary beater or on low speed of electric mixer. (Mixture will not be smooth.) Add flour mixture stirring until smooth. Drop by level measuring teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheet. Bake in 400 degree (hot) oven 5 to 6 minutes or until edges are slightly browned. Spread about ½ teaspoon Lemon Filling on flat side of 1 cookie; sandwich with second cookie. Sprinkle lightly with confectioners sugar. Makes about 3½ dozen filled cookies.

Lemon Filling: Beat 1 egg in small saucepan. Stir in ½ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons lemon juice and 2 tablespoons margarine. Without letting mixture boil, cook over medium-low heat, stirring constantly about 5 minutes or until mixture thickens. Mixture continues to thicken as it cools. Makes ⅔ cup.

Fresh Fruit Bowl

1 small melon
2 cups fresh strawberries
½ cup pineapple chunks
½ cup grapes, whole or halved
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
2 tablespoons Kirsch
Fresh mint to garnish

Cut melon into halves; remove seed. Peel and cut into cubes or shape with spoon into balls. Lightly toss melon pieces with strawberries, pineapple, grapes, corn syrup and Kirsch. Chill 1 to 2 hours. Serve chilled, garnished with sprig of mint.
Note: Select cantaloupe, Spanish melon or honeydew for the melon; use raspberries, blueberries or any fresh berry in season.

Rum Cream Cake

4 eggs
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup sifted flour
½ cup corn starch
½ cup dark rum
Custard Filling
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 tablespoons chopped nuts

Grease 2 (9x1½-inch) layer pans. Beat eggs in large mixing bowl on medium high speed until fluffy. Gradually add sugar and salt, beating about 12 minutes or until mixture is doubled in bulk and mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Sift flour and corn starch over egg mixture. Fold in gently until well mixed. Pour into prepared pans. Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven about 25 minutes or until cake springs back when touched. Cool 10 minutes. Remove from pan; cool completely on wire rack. Split each layer in half. Sprinkle each cake layer with 2 tablespoons of the rum. Put first layer on serving plate. Spread with about ⅓ of the Custard Filling. Repeat with remaining layers and filling, ending with cake. Frost cake with whipped cream. Garnish with nuts and whipped cream rosettes topped with sugared cardamon seed.

Custard Filling: Mix together ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup corn starch and ⅛ teaspoon salt in double boiler top. Gradually stir in 2 cups milk. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens enough to mound when dropped from spoon. Cover and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. (Increase cooking time to 15 minutes if glass double boiler is used.) Gradually stir about ½ cup hot mixture into 3 slightly beaten egg yolks, then stir all into remaining hot mixture in double boiler. Cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from boiling water and stir in 1½ teaspoons vanilla. Pour into bowl. Cover surface of custard with waxed paper or film. Chill. Makes 2 cups.

Peppermint Party Cake

½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
5 eggs, separated
¾ cup light corn syrup
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon lemon extract
Peppermint Frosting

Sift together flour, ¼ cup of the sugar and salt three times. Add cream of tartar to egg whites; beat until slightly mounded when beater is raised. Gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar; slowly add corn syrup and continue beating until whites stand in firm peaks. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat in vanilla and lemon extract. Fold egg yolks into whites. Gradually fold in dry ingredients, sifting ¼ cup at a time over surface. Turn into ungreased 13x9x2-inch cake pan. Bake in 325 degree (slow) oven about 45 minutes or until cake is lightly browned. Invert pan and let cake cool 20 minutes. To remove from pan, loosen sides with spatula. Cool on wire rack. Cut cake into halves crosswise; split each half into 2 layers. Put first layer on serving plate. Spread with ¼ cup of the Peppermint Frosting. Repeat with remaining 3 layers using ¼ cup frosting between each layer and ending with cake. Frost cake with remaining 2¾ cups Peppermint Frosting. If desired, decorate with candied flower petals. Makes 18 servings.
For the lattice weave frosting shown in the photograph, use a pastry bag fitted with a #4 decorating tube. Starting about 2 inches from one corner of the cake, pipe frosting diagonally across corner of cake. Pipe two 2-inch strips of frosting across the diagonal strip equalizing the distances between the strips and ending each strip with a rosette. Pipe another strip of frosting diagonally across cake so that the piped frosting just touches the rosettes at the end of the short strips. Pipe 3 strips of frosting across the second diagonal strip, alternating the spaces lattice fashion with the first short strips. Each short strip should touch the first diagonal strip, pass over the second diagonal strip and end with a rosette about an inch away from the diagonal strip. Continue in this manner for top then sides of cake. Finish edges with rosettes.

Peppermint Frosting

1 cup margarine
1 pound confectioners sugar, unsifted
2 eggs
1 teaspoon peppermint extract
Few drops green food coloring

Stir margarine to soften. Gradually add half the sugar, beating until smooth. Beat in eggs, 1 at a time, until well blended. Gradually add remaining sugar beating until smooth. Stir in extract and food coloring.

Sour Cream Lemon Pie

1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
1 cup sugar
¼ cup corn starch
1¼ cups milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
⅓ cup lemon juice
¼ cup margarine
1 cup dairy sour cream
Lemon slices

Mix sugar and corn starch in 2-quart saucepan. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth. Stir in egg yolks, lemon rind and lemon juice until blended. Add margarine. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to boil and boils 1 minute. Pour into bowl. Cover surface of filling with waxed paper or plastic film. Chill. Fold in sour cream. Turn into baked pastry shell. Serve at once or chill until serving time. If desired, garnish with lemon slices. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.
Note: The pastry shell and filling may be prepared the day before. Just before serving, fold sour cream into filling and fill pastry shell.

Joan Oster Cooking Classes At Field's

Mastering Appliance Techniques

Gourmet techniques in the kitchen are not unique to masters like Graham Kerr and Julia Child. Homemakers with potential may just be missing the touch of the right button on a near new blender. Near new because it hasn't been used to its full capacity.

With all due respect to the great masters . . . homemakers needn't feel inadequate. Modern appliances can be a great asset in sparking creative culinary talents. That is, if you know how to use them. Otherwise those shiny appliances will simply remain space consumers on the kitchen counter.

The Oster Company is offering assistance to homemakers interested in achieving maximum usage of their appliances. The Joan Oster Spin Cookery Classes will be held next Wednesday at Marshall Field & Co's store in the Woodfield Shopping Center in Schaumburg.

An Oster home economist will demonstrate basic and gourmet appliance techniques on the second level of the store adjacent to the linen and furniture department. (Near the top of the escalators.) Classes are scheduled to begin at 1:30 and 7 p.m.

Popular techniques of table-top cookery will be demonstrated with Oster's new Super Pan. The super pan is a complete do-everything electric mealmaker.

The home economist will demonstrate the ease with which table-top meals can be prepared and served with such offerings as tempura, fonduing and chafing dish cookery.

Oster has also introduced a new coffeemaker that brews coffee to perfection and has transparent styling. Made of clear polysulphone, the coffeemaker won't crack or leak after repeated exposure to boiling water. It eliminates metallic taste, resists coffee staining and is easy to clean. And if the coffeemaker is dropped, you don't sweep it up . . . you pick it up.

Basic blender techniques will also be included in the hour long classes. Homemakers will be able to see how spin cookery knowledge can improve their dinner reviews.

Recipes for Java Pumpkin Pie and Coffee Angel Tort were created in the Oster test kitchen. The desserts are made with coffee included in the ingredients and are great served with a cup of the brew.

Coffee Dessert

JAVA PUMPKIN PIE

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
½ cup coffee, heated to boiling
½ cup cold milk
¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 cups canned pumpkin
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
½ cup heavy cream
1 cup ice cubes or crushed ice
1 graham cracker crust or pastry shell

Put cold milk and gelatine into Osterizer blender container, add hot coffee; cover and process at 'Stir' until gelatine is dissolved. If gealtine granules cling to container, use a rubber spatula to push them into mixture.

Add brown sugar, pumpkin, salt, spices and cream; cover and process at 'Blend' until smooth. Push "Frappe' button, add ice cubes one at a time and process until ice is liquified. Let stand about 5 minutes, then pour into prepared crust. Chill until firm.

COFFEE ANGEL TORT

48 regular-sized marshmallows
1 cup strong, hot coffee
1 cup heavy cream

Prepare cake mix as directed on package. When thoroughly cool, remove from pan and cut crosswise into three layers. Meanwhile melt marshmallows in coffee over medium heat, stirring often. Chill until partially set. Whip cream and fold into gelatine mixture. Spread between cake layers. Frost top and sides with Chocolate Whipped Cream.

CHOCOLATE WHIPPED CREAM

½ cup sugar
1/3 cup cocoa
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1½ cups heavy cream

Put all ingredients into small mixing bowl and beat with rotary beater until thickened. Yield about 3 cups.

Electric Can Opener

A good electric can opener can save you time and labor — as well as your temper. And an electric can opener is much safer than a hand-operated can opener.

Frank Andrew, University of Illinois Extension agricultural engineer, says electric can openers are quick and easy to operate. And they give a clean, smooth cut that is much safer than the jagged edges that usually result from the use of an hand-operated opener.

Andrew says that electric can openers can be left plugged-in, ready for use at any time. And when they are used, the amount of electricity they require is negligible.

Electric can openers are practically maintenance free. But Andrew offers these suggestions to keep electric can openers in good operating condition:

Wipe the cord, magnet, and spring with a damp cloth at least once a week.

Clean the teeth of the can driving sprocket once a month.

Make sure the cutting roller is clean and turns freely. If it does stick, soak with a hot, wet cloth to free it.

Andrew adds that some radio and television interference during electric can opener operation is normal. It does not indicate that your can opener is faulty.

Calorie-wise Baked Steak

Baked Steak Is Ideal For A Summer Shape-Up

Thinking it's time to start shaping up for summer? Then you'll want to try this recipe for Calorie-Wise Baked Steak. Not only is it kind to inflated waistlines, but since it's made with less expensive chuck steak, it's easy on the shrinking food dollar as well. The dish is so good tasting, non-dieters in the family will never guess it's reducer's fare.

The slimming secret is in the sauce which is made with an envelope of au jus gravy mix and Worcestershire sauce. Add green beans for the final 15 minutes of baking and a serving of meat, vegetables and gravy totals up to about 300 calories. Don't forget to trim the steak of all visible fat.

Diet plans can include nutritious potatoes as long as the butter and sour cream are left off. Waist-Watcher's Mashed Potatoes, made with instant mashed potato granules and low fat cottage cheese is smooth and remarkably rich tasting and a serving is a mere 100 calories.

Round out the meal with a lettuce and tomato salad tossed with a low calorie dressing and top off with glasses of milk and a half grapefruit for dessert. Slimming but satisfying, this suggested menu is also balanced to provide servings from each of the Basic Four Food Groups all of us need daily to keep fit.

CALORIE-WISE BAKED STEAK

1 chuck steak, cut 1-inch thick (1½ to 2 pounds)
1 envelope (¾-oz.) au jus gravy mix
1¼ cups water
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 package (10-oz.) frozen cut green beans

Trim fat from steak. Combine contents of envelope of gravy mix, hot water, minced onion and Worcestershire sauce; pour over steak in shallow baking pan. Cover tightly (use aluminum foil if pan has no cover) and bake at 400 degrees for about 1 hour, until tender. Add beans; cover and cook 15 minutes longer. 4 to 6 servings.

WAIST-WATCHER'S MASHED POTATOES

1 envelope (5-servings) instant mashed potato granules
½ cup low-fat cottage cheese
Parsley flakes

Prepare mashed potatoes following directions on package, omitting butter. Stir in cottage cheese. Serve sprinkled with parsley flakes. 5 servings.

Sterile Can Is Safe

Food stored in an opened tin container that is sterile is safer than food transferred to a home-washed dish which is not sterile. The opened can should be covered and refrigerated.

Foods with high fat content, such as bacon, should be used within a week. Otherwise, the fat becomes rancid.

Gannat: A Classic French Loaf

Here, there and everywhere, people are beginning to enjoy baking their own bread. There's a wonderfully earthy pleasure in preparing the most basic food for one's own family. Gannat, a classic French cheese loaf, fits this trend in baking to perfection.

Fresh and fragrant from the oven, Gannat turns up as a dinner loaf or sandwich loaf, the latter especially good with ham. At tea or coffee time, it's delicious with a tart preserve such as Bar-le-Duc, the red-currant specialty from France.

Gannat derives distinctive flavor from Pont l'Eveque, a creation of the master cheesemakers in 13th-century Normandy. It's a small square cheese, golden outside and pale yellow within, its rind cross-hatched by the mats of straw on which it has ripened. Or you may use Reblochon, another great cheese made for hundreds of years in the rich pastureland of the Haute Savoie mountains of France. Reblochon means "Second milking," so called from the early practice of making the cheese from the day's second yield. It's round and soft with a reddish rind, and the center is pale and creamy.

No matter which you use, if you take pleasure and pride in home baked bread you will be delighted with this classic French loaf.

GANNAT
French Cheese Bread

3 cups all purpose flour, about
1¼ teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon coarsely ground fresh black pepper
1 envelope active dry yeast
¼ cup milk
¼ cup water
1/3 cup margarine
1 cup (4 oz.) Pont l'Eveque or Reblochon cheese
2 eggs

Measure and sift flour, sugar and pepper. Place 1 cup of flour mixture in electric mixer bowl. Add yeast and mix thoroughly at low speed. Heat milk, water and margarine until very warm (120-130 degrees). Margarine does not need to melt. Add hot liquids to flour-yeast mixture and beat 2 minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally. Remove rind from cheese and shred coarsely. Add cheese, eggs and 1 cup of flour. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Add enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn dough out on a floured board and knead in remaining flour — about 5 minutes. Place dough in bowl, brush top of dough with salad oil. Cover and allow to rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down dough. Knead for 2 minutes and shape loaf. Place in greased 8½x4½x2½ bread pan. Cover and allow to rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 45 minutes. Bake in preheated 375 degree oven for 25 minutes or until loaf when tapped sounds hollow. Turn bread out of pan and allow to cool on rack.

Appliance Tips

Contemporary refrigerators and freezers have thinner insulation and thinner walls which gives them greater storage capacity without taking up more floor space.

Before buying any appliance, check electrical wiring or gas lines to make sure your home can accommodate the new purchase.

Even a frost-free refrigerator needs a thorough cleaning on occasion. Clean-up is easy since shelves, compartments and trays come out so they can be popped into the sink. Turn off refrigerator before commencing the cleaning chore.

The most portable plug-in kitchen appliance is the electric pan which can saute, fry, bake and roast — then go right to the table for serving. Look for pans with temperature controls, signal bells or lights, and removable heat controls and cords so the whole pan can be immersed in hot soap or detergent suds for cleaning. Non-stick interiors help, too.

When shopping for an electric coffee maker, look for plastic handles and plastic feet which stay cool to protect a counter or table surface, dripless spout and measuring indicators for water and coffee.

Among portable appliances, there are specialized cookers for making fondues, waffles, deep-fried foods and for steam cooking. It's a good idea to unplug any portable right after use. Allow to cool before wiping clean or immersing in water.

Gift With A Future

Need gift inspiration for a new bride, young bachelor girl or any special friend? Buy a selection of bottled herbs. But don't stop there. Type on index cards your favorite recipes for round steak, pot-roast and stew, each using one or more of the herbs. Wrap in pretty paper for under-the-tree, shower or thank you gift.

Stuffed Fish: A Gourmet Entree

The value of fish in the family diet is a fact that leaves little room for argument, and today's homemaker makes it a point of variety, good nutrition and economy to serve fish several times each week. Yet when guests are coming for dinner, these same fine cooks seldom think of fish and plan a menu around an expensive roast or steak. Why, when a whole baked fish with salmon stuffing, served with a velvety cream sauce, is one of the most elegant dishes in the world? One wonders why it has not been accepted in America as it has in France as the dish to serve when one wants to "put his best foot forward."

The fish for baking may be any whole white-fleshed fish that is available in your local fish market, or if you prefer, you may put two large fillets of haddock or sole or a couple of fish steaks together with the salmon stuffing between. Salmon makes the ideal stuffing for delicate fish for it is equally delicate in flavor, and contributes much in the way of color and nutrition without adding a great deal to the cost per serving. No wonder it is considered the King of Fish and is a great delicacy in its own right, whether served right as it comes from the can or whether it is combined with other ingredients as in this recipe for Baked Salmon Stuffed Fish Elegante, a dish that is not difficult to make, but is one of the great gourmet recipes of the world.

BAKED SALMON STUFFED FISH ELEGANTE

Stuffing

4 to 5 pound baking fish
½ cup soft butter
2 egg yolks
6 slices bread, trimmed and crumbed
½ cup salmon liquid or milk
1-pound can salmon, drained and flaked
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon white pepper
2 tablespoons chopped chives or parsley
1 small onion, chopped
1 small carrot, chopped
Pinch of thyme
1 cup fish or chicken stock
½ cup dry white wine or dry vermouth

Garnish

12 mushroom caps
1 tablespoon butter
Parsley
Lemon wedges

Sauce

1 cup cream
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons soft butter
Squeeze of lemon juice

Wash fish well inside and out and scrape out any blood clots along backbone; make sure no scales are left on the skin. With a sharp knife make deep slits along both sides of the backbone of the fish. Sever bone at neck and tail ends and pull out the backbone, leaving a pocket down the back of the fish as well as down the belly.

To prepare stuffing: Combine the ½ cup soft butter with egg yolks, bread crumbs, salmon liquid or milk, the salmon, salt, pepper and chives or parsley. Stuff the fish down both back and front pouches with the salmon stuffing. Butter a baking dish large enough to hold the fish and sprinkle the bottom with the onion, carrot and thyme. Place the fish on this bed of vegetables and add the fish or chicken stock and the wine. Cover baking dish with a piece of buttered brown paper and keep cold until ready to bake.

To bake: Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Bake the fish for 45 minutes or until flesh along the back flakes easily.

Meanwhile saute the mushroom caps in the butter until golden on both sides and keep warm.

To make the sauce: Transfer fish from baking dish to warm serving platter and keep warm. Strain cooking liquid in baking dish into a saucepan and add the cream. Correct the seasoning with salt and pepper and bring liquid to boil. Combine the soft butter and flour to a smooth paste and stir into the hot liquid bit by bit, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened to the right consistency. Do not add all the flour paste unless necessary, for the sauce should not be too thick. Stir in a squeeze of lemon juice and pour into sauceboat.

Garnish the fish with the sauteed mushrooms, parsley clusters and lemon wedges and serve the sauce separately. Serves 6.

The salmon stuffing in the recipe above is as versatile as salmon itself. It may be used in many imaginative ways. For instance, use it to stuff trout or smelts before pan frying them; spread it on fillets of sole, roll up the fillets like little fat jelly rolls and poach them in a mixture of wine and stock, or use it as a colorful topping on oysters or clams before baking.

Lamb-Orange Kabobs

When cookery takes to skewers interest in dinner soars, for kabobs offer unlimited possibilities for that cherished menu variety. They also offer opportunity to add a bit of glamour to some of the more economical meat cuts.

When broiled on skewers with fruit and/or vegetables, cubes cut from the lamb shoulder can rival more costly rib or loin chops in appetite appeal.

In this recipe lamb cubes, which share the skewers with orange wedges and onions, are given an Oriental accent with soy-flavored sauce.

LAMB-ORANGE KABOBS

2 pounds boneless lamb, cut in 1½-inch cubes
1/3 cup salad oil
1/3 cup soy sauce
¼ cup lemon juice
2 oranges, each cut in 8 wedges
12 small canned onions

Blend salad oil, soy sauce and lemon juice. Add lamb cubes and marinate 2 hours in the refrigerator. Thread meat on four 12-inch skewers alternately with orange wedges and onions. Brush with marinade and broil 3 inches from the heat, turning occasionally until lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Brush with marinade and continue broiling 3 to 4 minutes longer or until done. 6 servings.

Coolers For The Thirsty Season

When the temperature rises, the thirsty season begins. And that means plenty of calls for cool refreshing drinks. This spring there's a newcomer on the refreshment scene, grapefruit-flavored instant breakfast drink. Its brisk new flavor gives just the right taste to two springtime beverages, Spicy Grapefruit Drink and a bright Grapefruit Pineapple Cooler.

Both are easy to prepare and have a tart refreshing taste that makes them especially welcome as warm weather thirst quenchers.

Grapefruit Pineapple Cooler has a hint of the tropics in the addition of pineapple juice to the grapefruit-flavored instant breakfast drink. Topped off with a frosty scoop of sherbet, it qualifies as a party-time snack or as a dessert for a springtime meal.

Orange-flavored and grapefruit-flavored instant breakfast drinks are combined in a Spicy Grapefruit Drink. Allspice, nutmeg, and lime juice add their zestiness, and colorful fruit kebab (a pineapple chunk, red and green maraschino cherries, sprig of mint) makes a cheery garnish.

SPICY GRAPEFRUIT DRINK

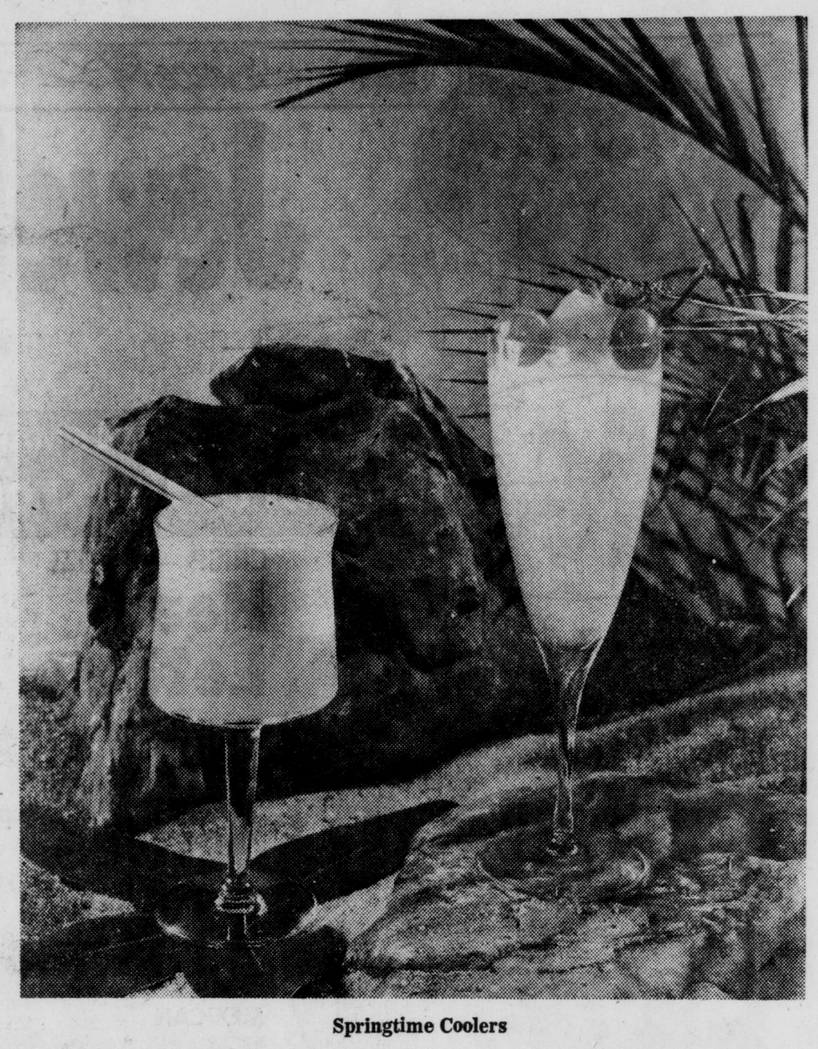
1/3 cup grapefruit flavor instant breakfast drink
1/3 cup orange flavor instant breakfast drink (Tang)
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
4½ cups water
1 tablespoon lime juice
Ice cubes

Combine instant breakfast drinks and spices in pitcher or bowl. Add water and lime juice; stir until instant breakfast drinks are dissolved. Chill well. Add ice cubes just before serving. Garnish with maraschino cherry, pineapple chunk kebab, and sprig of mint, if desired. Makes about 4¾ cups or 9 servings.

GRAPEFRUIT PINEAPPLE COOLER

¼ cup grapefruit flavor instant breakfast drink
¾ cup unsweetened pineapple juice
½ cup cold water
2 bottles (7 fl. oz. each) chilled ginger ale
2 cups ice cubes
1 pint orange, lime, or lemon sherbet (optional)

Dissolve instant breakfast drink in pineapple juice and water. Chill well. Just before serving add ginger ale and ice cubes. Serve with scoops of sherbet and soda straw. Makes about 3½ cups (without ice and/or sherbet) or 8 to 10 servings.



Springtime Coolers

Average Food Costs Down

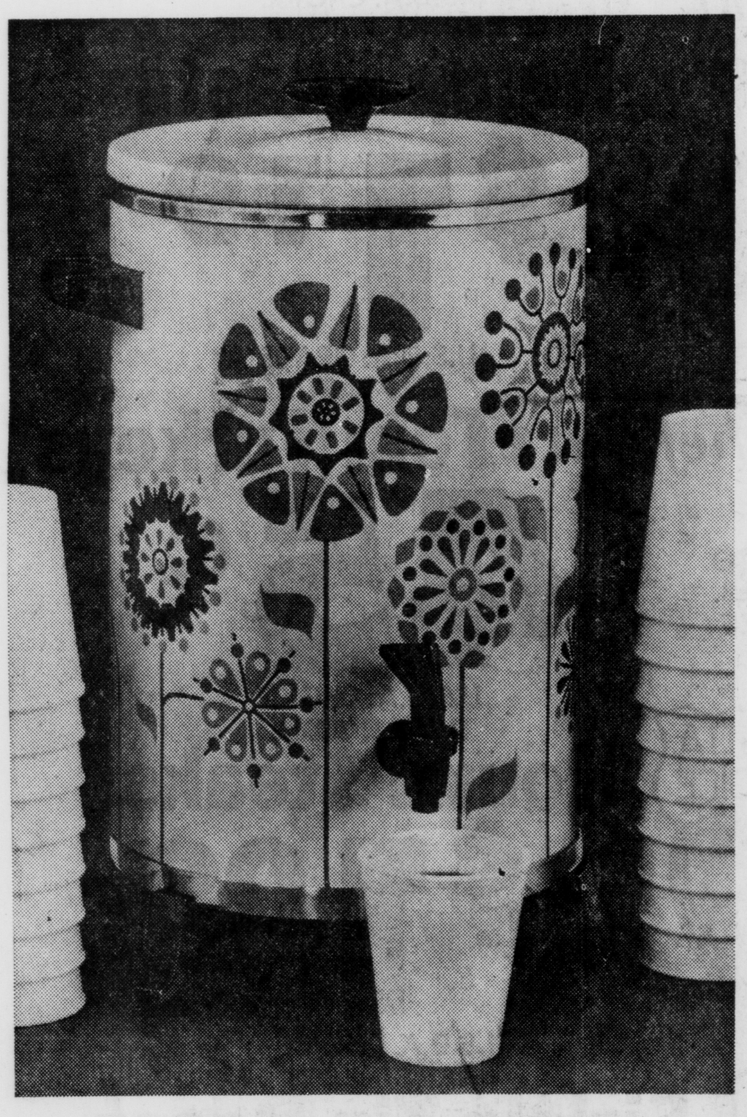
UPI — The retail cost of a typical market basket of food dropped 0.4 per cent last month, ending a four-month surge that boosted prices 4.3 per cent from last October through February, the Agriculture Department said last week.

Even with the decline, the market basket cost was still second highest on record — 5.4 per cent above March of 1971. Average beef prices for March were unchanged at the record February level, but pork went down.

The February-to-March decline in average retail food costs came largely because of a 2.5 per cent drop in farm prices which was partly offset by an increase in the farm-to-retail price spread, the department said in its monthly report on "Price Spreads for Farm Foods."

Spokesmen said the report differed from the recent Labor Department Cost of Living Index figures for March which showed grocery prices up slightly over February. Specialists said this was because the Cost of Living Index survey was made in early March. It did not catch downturns in beef and pork prices which came later in the month and were recorded in the Agriculture Department survey.

The Agriculture Department report said farmers in March got "substantially lower" returns for meat animals and fresh vegetables and more than offsetting higher returns for eggs and other products. As a result, the farmer's share of the consumer dollar spent on "market basket" foods dropped frmm 39.7 cents in February to 38.9 cents in March.



A NEW "MOD" INSULATED Party perk featuring a collorful "Crazy Daisies" design has been introduced by West Bend. It brews 30 cups of coffee and will hold it at serving temperature for two hours without electricity. It is equally effective with iced beverages. The new perk, with a floral design on a bright yellow background, is available for $21 at leading hardware, housewares and department stores.

Flavor Plus Nutrition In Mrs. McHale's Cookies

by LOIS SEILER

Popular with children are the flavorful Oatmeal Cookies made by Mrs. Edward T. McHale of Elk Grove Village.

Pat McHale sends them to nursery school with her five-year-old daughter, Lorrayne, and on special occasions to kindergarten with her son Edward, 6. The McHales' youngest child, Patty, 2, likes to munch on them at home.

A part-time nurse at Lutheran General Hospital, Pat is conscious of good nutrition.

"I like to make the cookies as nourishing as possible," she said, "so I usually use unbleached flour. They also contain other beneficial ingredients such as oatmeal, molasses and raisins."

The cookies have a good spicy flavor, too, from cinnamon, ginger and cloves. Unlike the thin, crispy variety of oatmeal cookie, these are thick, rounded and cake-like.

ANOTHER OF THIS good cook's favorites is a creamy salad dressing. She acquired this recipe from a little restaurant in Chicago noted for its appealing salads.

It simply consists of mayonnaise, sour cream, lemon juice and garlic salt blended together. Crumbled Roquefort or blue cheese may be added, if desired.

Pat usually makes a hearty salad of lettuce, tomatoes, celery, diced carrots and cucumber slices with crumbled bacon and sieved egg yolk on top. She serves the dressing in a separate bowl and lets everyone help themselves, ladling on as little or as much as they wish.

"This salad is a nice accompaniment for beef or broiled lake trout with almond butter," Pat said.

Franfare
by Fran Heckart

Broiler-fryers are featured on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Plentiful Foods List this month.

Other plentifuls on the May list announced by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service are milk and nonfat dry milk, fresh products and potatoe products (frozen french fries and instant mashed), canned peaches and canned fruit cocktail and eggs.

According to USDA reports, broiler-fryer production is expected to be seven per cent above last year's level, and prospects are good for a plentiful supply of broiler-fryers at attractive retail prices.

THE FOOD AND DRUG Administration (FDA) has recently placed some restrictions on the use of saccharin. Even though saccharin has been widely used for more than 80 years without evidence of harming humans, the FDA ordered it removed from the list of food additives generally recognized as safe — the GRAS list.

In addition, use of saccharin was restricted to present levels until June 30, 1973, unless revised sooner because of research findings. The order requires labeling beverages, foods and mixes to show the presence of saccharin.

FDA is also recommending that adult consumption be limited to no more than one gram of saccharin per day.

One tablet of saccharin equals one teaspoon of sugar, and one gram of saccharin equals 1 to 1¼ cups of sugar or 60 small saccharin tablets.

Measured in terms of standard diet drinks, the one gram dosage is the amount that seven 12-ounce bottles of diet drink contain.

Preliminary test results reported by the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation spurred the FDA action. The research indicated the development of bladder tumors in test animals when saccarin was fed at high levels.

SPECIFICALLY, a comparable dosage for a human adult would equal 175 grams per day for lifetime — roughly the equivalent of 875 bottles of a typical diet soft drink per day.

The "Delany Clause" of 1958 disallows the use of any substance as a food additive if it shown to induce cancer when fed to animals. Studies to date have not shown that saccharin induces cancer.

Many physicians consider saccarin useful in the management of diabetes because it permits sweetening foods without adding carbohydrate. Saccharin has no specific therapeutic effect on diabetes or any other disease, but it relieves the monotony of carbohydrate-restricted diets, encouraging patients to adhere to their diets.

Considering the present information, saccharin users will not have to eliminate it from their diets, providing they do not use 60 tablets a day or consume close to 900 bottles of Tab everyday.

SPECTACULAR DAIRY displays (sporting skinny girls) in more than 15,000 stores throughout the country will remind shoppers that regular milk is low in fat and high in body-building proteins, according to the American Dairy Association.

The current consumer information program is designed to set the milk fat facts straight — that regular milk is 96 per cent fat free.

The campaign, which runs through this month, is based on preliminary results of a 1970 study by the USDA which indicated that only eight per cent of the 2200 homemakers polled knew that regular milk contained less than 5 per cent fat.

Pudding Dessert For Any Season

Sweet puddings are a favorite dessert at any time of year. In the winter and around the Holiday season we think of steamed or baked puddings. For summer refreshment a light, chilled, easy-to-prepare pudding is in order.

And hot or cold, Louisiana yam puddings are delicious, thanks to the yam's smooth stringless texture, hearty flavor and deep orange color. In the spring and summer when the fresh yams are no longer in season, convenient canned Louisiana yams will fill your mixing bowl with flavor.

Here's a summer pudding that's a variation of a popular Carribean dessert. It combines yams and bananas with a bit of spice, and whipped cream folded in to give it a light and airy summer feeling. The pudding is mounded into serving dishes, chilled and topped with additional whipped cream and chopped pecans just before serving. No cooking is necessary because the canned yams have already been cooked to the proper degree of tenderness. This dessert not only tastes good but it's full of good nutritions as well.

Canned Louisiana yams make a good summer meal accompaniment, too. Try them heated in an orange-flavored butter for a perfect complement to just about any meat or poultry main course, but particularly those done on the barbecue grill. The dish is made in a jiffy and serves as a nice change from the usual summer vegetables.

LOUISIANA YAM BANANA PUDDING

2¼ cups mashed, cooked or canned Louisiana yams
½ cup mashed banana, (about 1 medium banana), fully-ripe
1/3 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup heavy cream whipped
½ cup pecans, coarsely chopped

Combine yams, banana, sugar, nutmeg and lemon juice; blend well. Chill. Lightly fold in whipped cream and pecans; spoon into 6 serving dishes. Chill. Garnish with additional chopped pecans and whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

LOUISIANA YAMS IN ORANGE BUTTER

2/3 cup butter
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
2 tablespoons orange juice
Dash nutmeg
2 cans (16 ounces each) Louisiana yams, undrained
1/8 teaspoon salt

In small saucepan combine butter, orange peel, juice and nutmeg. Heat slowly until butter melts and bubbles. Meanwhile, heat yams with salt in a saucepan, then drain. Turn into serving dish. Pour orange butter on top. Garnish with orange slices, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

The Fastest Shoots

UPI—The fastest shoots in the West are asparagus, which can grow six inches in less than a day in 78 degree weather.

These statistics are from The Irvine Co., whose 80,000-acre ranch raises part of California's 66,500-ton crop, valued at $29 million. California produces about half of all fresh and processed asparagus in the United States.

Mostly For Men
by Charles Flynn

East Pennsylvania Dutch cooks call this recipe Chicken Corn Soup, but it's more than that. It's a meal and one which can be prepared in advance, carried in a covered kettle and warmed over an open fire at a springtime picnic. In fact, in days gone by it was the piece de resistance for the Sunday picnic after church.

Cut up a plump broiler of about 3½ pounds and include giblets. Cover with water, salt, bring to a boil, then reduce heat and simmer covered until the chicken is tender.

Remove from pot, cut meat from bones discarding the bones and skin. Chop the giblets. Return to the kettle, adding hot water if necessary. There should be at least a quart of stock.

Mix 2 beaten eggs with enough sifted flour to stiffen after you've added ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon cold water. Roll out very thin on floured board and cut thin noodles with a sharp knife.

Drop noodles in the kettle and toil for 5 minutes. Now add 1 can whole kernel corn (or cut fresh corn from 6 ears), drained, and boil 3 more minutes. Stir in 2 raw eggs and 1 teaspoon chopped parsley. Correct seasonings with salt and pepper. Ample for 6.

You can shortcut the recipe by using a good quality commercially prepared noodles. The dish is great served with buttered slices of homestyle bread and crisp relishes.

A VARIATION is to substitute butter balls for the noodles, but this must be served immediately. Eliminate steps involving noodles and instead mix 2 tablespoons soft butter with 1 scant cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, and milk to make a soft dough. Flour hands and shape balls about the size of walnuts. Chill.

Complete chicken corn soup as directed, then add butter balls and cook covered for 5 minutes.

With strawberry season coming on, try this for an elegant dessert. Stem and slice 1 pint strawberries and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Allow to stand at room temperature for 30 minutes, then refrigerate until ready to use.

Cut 4 serving portions from a pint of spumoni ice cream, top with the sliced strawberries and dredge with chocla menthe (a chocolate-flavored creme de menthe). You can substitute plain chocolate syrup, if you prefer.

Food Poisoning: A Growing Concern

Preventive Measures Are Easy

by JEANNE LESEM

Second of Two Parts

UPI — Many women and even some men spend days or weeks learning to cook, then spoil it all when they neglect to learn safe food handling practices and storage.

They will accept an old wives' tale about moldy foods being harmful but scoff if you suggest their wooden chopping board or salad bowl needs a good scrubbing.

People like this are candidates for the food poisoning statistics kept by the National Center for Disease Control NCDC, Atlanta.

Dr. Matthew Loewenstein, chief of the federal agency's enteric disease section, says one simple precaution overlooked by most home cooks is the need for cleaning a chopping board after it has been used for raw meat or poultry products.

In a telephone interview, Loewenstein said cooks frequently contaminate food when they return cooked meat or poultry to the same board or surface that held the raw product. He added that, ideally, separate boards should be used for raw and cooked foods, but a single one is safe if you clean it well with soap or detergent and hot water after each use.

Other experts who concur include the National Safety Council, Chicago; Bob Rust, an extension meats specialist at Iowa State University, and Bryan Killikelly, chief of the USDA Consumer and Marketing Services New York office.

Rust said home kitchess don't live up to the standards set by the Federal Meat Inspection Act of 1906 and the Wholesome Meat Act of 1967.

Among other things, the standards forbid placing nonedible products such as cookbooks, towels, grocery sacks or purses on surfaces where meat is prepared.

The law also requires that room temperature in areas where fresh meat is being handled rise no higher than a chilly 50 degrees Fahrenheit. If it does, the room involved must be shut down completely every four hours for a thorough cleaning.

KILLIKELLY SAID food spoilage often starts from an ostensibly minor thing, such as a stop at the hairdresser or self-service laundry en route home with groceries. Contamination can spread quickly in perishables left in the trunk or the back seat of a car. Frozen as well as fresh food is vulnerable.

Preventive measures are simple, easy and inexpensive. They include the following suggestions from the USDA, the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare HEW and the National Safety Council;

Don't buy torn, damaged or dirty products. Cans with bulging ends are especially dangerous because that condition indicates food spoilage which can include botulism, the rarest but deadliest type of food poisoning.

If you must make other stops after grocery shopping, carry an insulated picnic cooler in your car just large enough to hold the perishables. Styrofoam carriers are among the most efficient and the cheapest. Large air spaces around food in them can be filled with crumpled paper to increase insulation efficiency.

At home, store fresh meat and poultry at refrigerator temperature no more than a few days. Freeze it if extended storage is necessary. Wrap raw meat and poultry loosely for refrigerator storage but tightly in moisture-resistant material — such as aluminum foil or freezer paper — for freezing.

STORE CANNED products in a cool, dry place. Too warm an area can cause spoilage, even in unopened cans. When this happens, the can's ends will bulge. Food in them should be thrown away without tasting.

Cooked food can be refrigerated safely as soon as steam stops rising. If you want to speed cooling, set the container of hot food in sink of cold tap water and stir the food to cool it evenly. Then cover and refrigerate it.

Refrigerate promptly any unopened containers marked "perishable" or "keep under refrigeration."

Defrost food in the refrigerator or under running cold water, not on a counter at room temperature. Most harmful bacteria multiply rapidly at temperatures between 40 and 140 degrees Fahrenheit. Cook defrosted food promptly.

Always wash fresh-chilled poultry before cooking it. Cook it within a day or two after purchase, and all at one time. Never partly cook it and store for additional cooking later.

Consumer's Guide To New Outdoor Grill

With the advent of summer, backyard chefs are in bloom all over the United States. This hardy perennial comes up with the daffodils and lasts all summer long. Certain hardy versions in northern climes thrive right into December.

Many of this season's culinary experts are faced with the problem of replacing old, worn-out barbecue grills with shiny new models. Others may be ready to escalate their grapplings with chicken or steer to a new level of expertise and are ready to graduate to more sophisticated equipment.

In either case, and in most others, there is a barbecue grill for every purpose.

A barbecue institute advises the potential purchaser to follow these simple rules when purchasing new charcoal grilling equipment for the patio or backyard:

Assess the level of your own skills honestly before making that purchase. If you are a hot dog and hamburger man, you may not want a deluxe wagon grill with warming oven and electric rotisserie.

If your level of competence is not a factor, then consider the design elements that pertain to your yard or patio. Grills come in a wide variety of designs and styles, from chaste Scandinavian stylings, to contemporary "functional," to kettle grills that come in a number of decorator-coordinated colors and finishes.

There is a barbecue grill for every pocketbook. Basic picnic grills can be purchased for as little as about $3.00, while there are fancy wagon grills with accompanying accessories that can cost over $50. There is a wide number of choices at prices in between.

If "franks and burgers" are the limits of your desire when it comes to charcoal cookery, an 18-inch picnic or brazier grill is probably just what you ought to have. Eighteen inch picnic grills come in a number of styles. They range from short-legged models for the beach or table-top grilling, to folding models, to telescoping models that can be adjusted to any convenient height. These models also come in a wide variety of trims and colors, from basic black to super deluxe.

BRAZIER GRILLS offer the backyard chef a little more convenience and durability for a modest increase in price. They come in a variety of colors and can be obtained with wheels or without, folding or non-folding, with windscreens and utility shelves or without. Depending on the size of your family or entertaining activities, braziers come in 18-inch models, or the larger 24-inch models. Braziers have proved to be the most popular models for grilling steaks, chops, hamburgers, and hot dogs.

Take a 24-inch brazier grill and add a hood to which can be attached an electric motor with spit, and you are ready to tackle roasts and fowl with the added flexibility of just plain grilling. Hooded grills also come in a variety of colors, with wheels for mobility and utility shelves. An added bonus for this line of grills is a number of models that come with warming ovens for keeping buns, loaves of French bread, or baked beans piping-hot while the meat is cooking. These ovens are even available with temperature gauges and viewing windows, or without these added features.

The kings of the barbecue set are the wagon grills and the kettle grills. Wagon grills offer greater control of cooking temperatures and a wide variety of options. They are all mobile with wheels as standard equipment. Some models come with heat-tempered viewing windows for the cooking area and the warming ovens, utility shelves, convenient work shelves, storage cabinets, rotisserie motors, and adjustable spits and temperature gauges. Many of thes options are interchangeable for a variety of uses and prices. Smart, color-coordinated styling sets these apart from run-of-the-mill wagon grills. However, you don't have to be a barbecue groumet to use these finer grills.

GOURMET CHEFS generally agree that kettle grills offer a great degree of temperature control for fine cooking. Through draft controls and a temperature gauge, the experienced patio chef can achieve and maintain a degree of temperature that is the equal to those obtainable on the most modern kitchen ranges with their sophisticated temperature controls. Kettle grills come in a variety of colors and finishes, too . . . from heavy gauge drawn steel, to porcelain enameled steel, to cast aluminum.

Although these grills perform best when cooking roasts, chicken, turkey or skewered dinners, with the hinged kettle lid up, acting as a wind break, they can do justice to the humblest fare.

Many families utilize more than one grill for its charcoal cooking activities, with the more sophisticated wagon grills, kettles, and hooded grills for use around the home, and a portable model for beach, camping, and cottage uses.

What to do with that old grill? Fire bowls for the braziers and picnicl grills make admirable in-the-ground or hanging planters, according to some of the Institute's correspondents, while others have used the bottom halves of old kettle grills — repainted, of course — as birdbaths and planters.

Mushroom Treat

Mushrooms make a different and simple dish to prepare as an accompaniment for chicken, fish or meat. Serving them always impresses. Sauteed mushrooms are a meal in themselves when served on toast or with a green vegetable. Try a Mushroom Marinade, a sauteed dish with a bitey marinade and served hot.

MUSHROOM MARINADE

1 lb. fresh mushrooms or
2 cans (6 to 8 ounces each) sliced mushrooms, drained
4 tablespoons olive or salad oil
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon minced garlic
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano leaves

Rinse, pat dry and slice mushrooms and set aside. In a large skillet heat olive or salad oil. Add mushrooms along with lemon juice and minced garlic. Saute 4 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blend in chopped parsley, salt, pepper and oregano leaves. Serve hot. Makes 4 portions.

Medical Science Acknowledges Vitamin E

'Food Faddists' May Have A Point

by DELOS SMITH

UPI — It may be turning out that the myriads of eat-for-health zealots are right in at least one of their many claims for vitamin E as a preventer and curer of diseases.

By way of a back door, so to speak, medical science has acknowledged the possibility and encouraged the follow-through which could prove large daily doses of the vitamin do away with nocturnal leg cramps. Heretofore it had considered E more or less medicinally useless.

This small concession that vitamin E may be good for something is not going to satisfy those who consider it a panacea, but it is a beginning. Medical science's part of the quarrel has been mainly passive, limited to putting the ardent vitamin E boosters down condscendingly as "food faddists." The boosters on their side aggressively accuse medical science of blindness and venality.

They contend medical science suppresses all evidence of the health-preserving power of E and of "health foods" in general to protect the profits of a food industry which they say processes nutritional substances out of natural food while processing harmful ones into it.

Their faith holds that a proper daily intake of E will prevent heart attacks, strokes, diabetes, male sterility, menopausal disorders, mental retardation, nearsightedness, and most ills of nervous and muscular systems. They believe it can even reverse these diseases once they've started if they haven't gone too far.

To medical science all that is nonsense. E is an essential vitamin, true, it says; for that reason it has established a "minimum daily requirement." This is a very tiny amount, amply supplied by the usual American diet because E is contained in many foods, science argues.

Despite all scientific nay-saying, the demand for E in the form of purified pills continues to boom prodigiously in the United States. For a time it was centered largely in California where the E boosters are most numerous and most vocal, but now it is a best seller in "health food" stores across the nation. Wholesalers report they are barely able to keep up with the demand.

ONE BACK DOOR of medical science is the letters-to-the-editor column of medical journals. One of the more prestigious, the Journal of the American Medical Association, recently permitted its column to be used by three California physicians to endorse massive daily doses of vitamin E as medication for nocturnal leg cramps.

Under ordinary circumstances such results as Drs. Robert F. Cathcart III of San Mateo, Samuel Ayres Jr., and Richard Mihan of Los Angeles, reported would have merited a featured article. Nocturnal leg cramps are not uncommon and there is no surefire remedy.

But the far-out claims and charges of its propagandists have associated E with quackery in conservative medical minds. Cathcart, in fact, reminded such conservatives that "the tremendous public self experimentation" with the vitamin was worthy of scientific attention. Such attention might turn up facts, he said, as for instance with regard to leg cramps.

The three doctors have now prescribed massive daily doses of E for almost 200 patients so afflicted and these doses proved to be, in Cathcart's words, "almost universally effective."

The AMA-sanctioned, through back-door endorsements, are bound to embolden physicians everywhere to follow the example. At least it can do no harm since the body is believed to eliminate all vitamins which are supplied in excess of need. A scientific question remains. Did the three doctors get their results through the power of suggestion or did the massive vitamin E doses do the work?

SHOULD VERY large numbers of physicians put an end to nocturnal leg cramps in very large numbers of patients with massive E doses, little doubt would remain that E was responsible. Then medical science would face the task of explaining the how of it.

Medical science today doesn't claim to know all there is to know about E. Indeed, it is the most obscure of the recognized vitamins. It was discovered in 1923 and laboratory experiments to find out what it was and what it did in body chemistry followed at once.

When vitamin E was entirely removed from the diet of rats, there were harmful rebounds on hearts, arteries, and endocrine, muscular, nervous and reproductive systems that resembled many human diseases. These could be halted and reversed in rats merely by restoring E to the diet.

That seemed to give promise of miracles for people and during the 1930's scores of scientists in many countries were following these rat clues. Their first disappointment was their failure to document a single instance of vitamin E deficiency in humans. Evidently even the poorest diets supplied the human need.

RESEARCHERS THEN tried vitamin E supplements in people with established diseases resembling those that E deprivation produced in the laboratory animals. The supplements did nothing, which led to a conclusion which has been often reached in the biological sciences — rat and man are different.

In body chemistry E was found to be a powerful antioxidant. In the rat it was indispensable but in the human, according to the laboratory findings, other substances of the body's own making served the same purpose.

Scientific studies of E continue, though on a much smaller scale. It now is accepted as therapy for two rare human disorders, a type of anemia that now and then appears in premature infants and for malabsorption of dietary fats through the intestinal wall.

Vitamine E — or tocopherol, to give it its chemical name — is widespread in nature. Wheat germ is especially rich in it and medical scientists suggest this is what has made E so attractive to its boosters. It fits their basic premise that milling technology removes the germ components of grain, thereby removing essential nutrients from natural foods.

But vegetable oils are also rich in E and vegetable oils figure in health diets aimed at preventing artery — hardening leading to heart attacks and strokes, two of the many ills its promoters believe vitamin E will prevent.

Braised Celery

Celery is a blessed event, so to speak, for those who are counting their calories. Easten raw, braised with bouillon or in cooked mixtures, celery itself has only about 80 calories per pound. A "stalk" of celery is the whole plant with only the roots missing and a "rib" is one single piece. Brasied celery is good with any meat or fish dish.

BRAISED CELERY WEDGES

- 2 stalks celery
- 1 can (3 to 4 ounces) sliced mushrooms
- 4 small white onions, sliced into rings
- 1 chicken bouillon cube
- 1¼ cups boiling water
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- Dash ground white pepper
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch

Cut celery stalks crosswise about 6-inches from bottom. (Use leaves in preparing soups, stuffings, etc., or as a garnish.) Cut each stalk lengthwise into 4 wedges. In a large skillet arrange celery wedges. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Scatter mushrooms and onion rings over celery wedges. Dissolve bouillon cube in water. Add to skillet along with salt and white pepper. Bring to boiling point. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 15 minutes or until celery is crisp tender. Remove celery to serving dish; keep warm. Mix cornstarch with reserved mushroom liquid. Stir into broth in skillet. Cook until thickened and clear, stirring. Spoon over celery wedges and serve. Makes 8 portions, 38 calories per portion.

Homemakers That Charge

How often and how wisely do homemakers use credit? How much do they know about the different types of credit? How do they prefer to pay for their purchases?

To find the answers to these questions, Carole L. Hollenbeck, a University of Illinois graduate student in home economics, and Marilyn M. Dunsing, professor of family economics, conducted a pilot study of 50 homemakers living in Champaign.

Replies to questions concerning credit use indicated that more than half of the families (54 per cent) used 30-day charge accounts — primarily with department stores and gasoline companies. For those using charge accounts, the average number of accounts was 3.7, and the average amount spent per month was $23. Slightly less than half of the families (48 per cent) used revolving charge accounts. Usually held with department stores, revolving charge accounts per user averaged 1.5 in number and $18 in amount spent each month.

During the year and a half preceding the study, 46 per cent of the families had used the installment plan. The size of the installment payments the month before the interview averaged $46.

To gain insight into consumer's credit knowledge, the researchers asked the homemakers to respond "true," "false" or "undecided" to a series of statements about 30-day accounts, revolving accounts and installment buying. Their responses showed that the women knew considerably more about 30-day accounts than about the other two types of credit.

For example, at least 90 per cent of the homemakers knew that a store has a legal right to refuse any applicant for a 30-day account.

However, only 16 per cent recognized that the service charge for revolving charge accounts is generally 1½ per cent per month on the unpaid balance.

To determine the homemakers' attitudes toward payment methods, Mrs. Hollenbeck and Professor Dunsing asked the women to choose one or more of four methods of payment — cash, 30-day charge account, revolving charge account or installment plan — that they considered most appropriate for eight different types of merchandise.

All but one of the women considered that the only desirable method for buying food was cash payment. For liquor, 74 per cent thought cash the preferred method. The other 26 per cent believed that liquor should not be purchased.

In addition, findings showed that a majority of the women considered cash payment best for buying gasoline, indicated by 82 per cent; recreational equipment, 82 per cent; and clothing, 70 per cent. They believed the installment plan the most desirable method of buying automobiles, indicated by 98 per cent; home appliances, 68 per cent, and home furnishings, 64 per cent.
